Class Committee

JOHN W. HALLOWELL, Chairman.
I. WISTAR KENDALL.
COREY C. BRAYTON.

Class Secretary

HAROLD BENJAMIN CLARK.

To the Members of the Class of Harvard 1901:

Your Secretary's Third Class Report which follows is more voluminous than either the First or Second Report for the reason that much more detailed information is given in regard to the individual members of the Class. Undoubtedly there are errors and omissions, all of which I trust the members of the Class will call to my attention as soon as they notice them.

Although a large number of the Class responded promptly to the many recent requests from the Secretary, it is to be regretted that there is such a large number of "lost men" and "those not heard from". This condition of affairs is very unsatisfactory to the Secretary and must also be to many members of the Class. The Secretary asks that each member of the Class read the Report carefully and send to him all the information he may have regarding these "lost men" and "those not heard from". If this is done faithfully the next Report can be made more complete.

The Class employed the Harvard Alumni Association to prepare this Report and the Secretary wishes to state that the work of preparation was carried on with great care and diligence.

Sincerely yours,

HAROLD BENJAMIN CLARK, Secretary.

CHARLES WALDRON ADAMS

|---|---|
| Born | Provincetown, Mass., Sept. 10, 1879. |
| School | Cambridge Latin School. |
| Degrees | A.B. 1901; M.D. 1905. |
| Married | Faustina Burnham, Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 8, 1908. |
| Children | Eleanor Burnham Adams, May 14, 1910. |
| Business | Physician. |
| Address | 322 Broadway, Cambridge, Mass. |

After graduation I attended the Harvard Medical School, receiving the degree of M.D. in 1905. During my summer vacations, while in college and at the medical school, I worked in my father's drug stores, and also took several trips on coasting vessels along the Atlantic coast. My later vacations were spent in hospital work, especially out-patient service at the Massachusetts General Hospital. I also had an appointment as surgical assistant at the Free Hospital for Women, Brookline. I served five years in the Eighth Infantry, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, my last tour of duty, as hospital steward, coming at Manassas, Va. Upon leaving the medical school, I intended entering the Medical Corps, United States Navy, and took the greater part of the examinations at Washington, but received word of a rather good opening in Cambridge, so I came back, and started in that location. I have been in the general practice of medicine a little over five years. Member: Massachusetts Medical Society, Middlesex South District Society, Cambridge Medical Improvement Society, Newtowne Club, Mizpah Lodge, A. F. and A. M.

HUNTINGTON ADAMS

|---|---|
| Born | New York City, Nov. 3, 1879. |
| School | St. Mark's School; Phillips Exeter Academy. |
| Degrees | A.B. 1901; S.B., 1902. |
| Unmarried | |
| Business | Mining engineer. |
| Address | Apartado 127, Oaxaca, Mexico. |

The year following graduation I was employed as engineer with the Pennsylvania Coal Company, Scranton, Pa. Then I was with the American Trading Company, New York City. The year following I held various mining positions with the El Oro Mining and Railway Company, of El Oro, Mexico. The next year I was engaged in mine examination and exploration work in Mexico representing a New York syndicate. After that I was superintendent for the Rosario Taviches Syndicate, Limited, and the Consuelo Mines Company, Limited, in Taviche, Oaxaca, Mexico. In 1908 I was engaged in general mining engineering practice, in Oaxaca, Mexico. Since January, 1909, I have been general manager for the Compaña Minera de Natividad y Anexas, S. A., at Natividad Oaxaca, Mexico. Member: Harvard Club of New York, American Institute of Mining Engineers.

MORTIMER ADLER

|---|---|
| Born | Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 28, 1879. |
| School | Rochester High School; Phillips Andover Academy. |
| Degrees | A.B., 1901. |
| Married | Ida May Lichtenstein, New York City, March 14, 1907. |
| Children | Robert Mortimer Adler, Oct. 28, 1908; Ruth Adler, July 10, 1910. |
| Business | Manufacturer. |
| Address | (home) 95 Brunswick St., Rochester, N. Y.(business) Adler Place, Rochester, N. Y. |

After graduation I worked for a while in a tailor shop, in preparation for wholesale clothing manufacturing. From there I went into the different executive departments of the business,—manufacturing, buying and selling. In 1905 I was elected a director in the firm of L. Adler, Brothers and Company, and in 1907 I became vice-president, with general duties of supervision and special management of the sales department. I am also vice-president of the Stern Company, a tailoring-to-the trade concern of this city. My duties there are entirely advisory.

George Benjamin Franklin Aiken

George Benjamin Franklin Aiken was born May 11, 1878, at Ida Grove, Ia. His father was Benjamin Franklin Aiken, and his mother, Patience Williams. He prepared for college at the Ida Grove High School, and entered Dartmouth College in 1896. In 1898 he entered Harvard College, in the class of 1901, taking his sophomore, junior, and senior years with that class. In college he was fond of all forms of exercise, playing baseball and tennis, and in the winter boxing, which he enjoyed most; he also painted and played the guitar. He was a devout member of the Methodist Church and seldom missed the morning prayer services in Appleton Chapel. He planned to make teaching his life work, but as he himself said after leaving college, "first it is good for a man to try the world for a while and see how it goes." He died February 3, 1905, at Ida Grove, Ia.

GLOVER MORRILL ALLEN

|---|---|
| Born | Walpole, N. H., Feb. 8, 1879. |
| School | Newton High School. |
| Degrees | A.B., 1901; A.M., 1903; Ph.D., 1904. |
| Unmarried | |
| Business | Naturalist. |
| Address | (home) 16 Louisburg Square, Boston, Mass. |
| | (business) 234 Berkeley St., Boston, Mass. |

After graduation I took post-graduate studies in zoölogy, and in 1904 I received the degree of Ph.D. In the summer of 1904 I went on an expedition to the Bahamas in the interests of the University Museum, in company with T. Barbour, '06, and O. Bryant, '04. In 1906 I spent a summer on the Labrador coast. While there I studied its natural history. In 1907 I took the engineering courses at Squam Lake and studied forestry at the University. In 1909 I spent three months in British East Africa, collecting natural history specimens for the University Museum, and in 1910 I went to Grenada, British Indies, for the same purpose. Since 1907, I have worked part of the time on the collections in the Museum of Comparative Zoölogy. Since 1901 I have been secretary and librarian of the Boston Society of Natural History, secretary of the Nuttall Ornithological Club. Member: American Ornithologists' Union, Biological Society of Washington, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Fellow of the Harvard Travellers' Club. I have published various short papers on natural history subjects.

ALDEN GIFFORD ALLEY, JR.

|---|---|
| Born | Chelsea, Mass., Feb. 7, 1879. |
| School | Chelsea High School. |
| Degrees | A.B., 1901. |
| Unmarried | |
| Business | Teacher. |
| Address | (home) 31 Crescent Ave., Chelsea, Mass. |
| | (business) Milton Academy, Mass. |

Since graduation I have been teaching in private schools, for seven years at Manor School, Stamford, Conn., and for three years at Milton Academy, Milton, Mass. My activities have been largely confined to my profession. I am keenly interested in political affairs, although circumstances limit my active participation in them to casting my vote. Member: Harvard Union, Chelsea Young Men's Christian Association, Review Club of Chelsea.

JOHN STANLEY AMES

|---|---|
| Born | North Easton, Mass., Feb. 15, 1878. |
| School | Hopkinson's School. |
| Degrees | A.B., 1901; M.F., 1910. |
| Married | Anne McKinley Filley, Wellesley, Mass., April 17, 1909. |
| Children | John Stanley Ames, Jr., March 26, 1910. |
| Business | Temporarily in United States Forest Service. |
| Address | (home) North Easton, Mass. |
| | (business) 96 Ames Building, Boston, Mass. |

After graduation I went around the world with my classmate, Frederick R. Sears, 3d, now Jr. In the fall of 1902, I entered the Harvard Law School, but after a month I gave up the study of the law and entered the employ of the Oliver Ames and Sons Corporation, manufacturers of shovels and spades, at North Easton, Mass. After one year in the office of the works at North Easton, learning the business, I was transferred to the treasurer's office of the Ames Shovel and Tool Company, in the Ames Building, Boston. After a few months I left, in order to give my time to my own interests. About this time I became interested in forestry, and in the autumn of 1907 I gave to the Harvard Forestry School, a tract of about 1800 acres of well-wooded land in Petersham, Mass., which the school now uses as a field of instruction for its students. I entered the Harvard Forestry School in 1908, and was graduated in the spring of 1910. In April, 1910, I passed the United States civil service examination for the position of forest assistant in the government service, and am at present gathering data in New England for the publication of a bulletin on the management of white pine in the United States. I am a director of the First National Bank of Easton, a trustee of the North Easton Savings Bank, and from October, 1902, to May, 1906, when it was bought by the American Trust Company, a director of the Adams Trust Company, of Boston. Since 1903 I have been tree warden of the town of Easton, Mass.

William Appleton, Jr.

William Appleton, Jr., the son of William and Elizabeth Hammond Appleton, was born in Boston, October 23, 1879. His early education was received in Boston, where he prepared for college in Mr. J. P. Hopkinson's school. In the autumn of 1897 he entered Harvard in the freshman class of 1901, and after a four years' course, graduated with the degree of A.B. Being endowed with a bright, happy, lovable, and attractive personality, William Appleton made a host of friends and entered largely into the social life of the college. He was a member of the A.D., Hasty Pudding, Delta Phi, Institute of 1770, D. K. E., Polo, Fencing, and Freshman Banjo Clubs. Although greatly interested in athletics, a severe illness in his early youth prevented him from taking an active part in them. After graduation, he entered the banking house of Blake Brothers and Company,

State Street, Boston. Two years later he bought a seat in the Boston Stock Exchange and became a broker on his own account, which occupation he was engaged in at the time of his death. After a long and lingering illness he died in Boston, June 6, 1906.

Immediately after leaving college I went to St. Paul, Minn., to enter the Great Northern Railway, as at that time it was the policy of J. J. Hill to take several college men each year and put them through all departments of the road. Both Yale and Harvard had some prominent young fellows in training at that time. Unfortunately they all left after from several months' to a year's experience. I was put through all the departments, from general office work to acting as fireman on a switch engine, and I covered the entire system from from St. Paul to the Pacific coast, much of it on a self-propelled hand-car. The experience in handling big affairs was most valuable, and the two years I spent there gave me invaluable facility to tackle a large variety of details. I left in October, 1903. I had been residing in Kalispell, Mont. At once I became associated with the Plymouth Clothing House, of Minneapolis, as auditor. I worked up to buyer, and am now manager of the Plymouth Fur Company, an affiliated corporation of the Plymouth Clothing House. My work for several years took me east repeatedly, sometimes three times a month (over 1000 miles in each direction), but eventually it became too strenuous and my health broke, necessitating several trips abroad and the taking up of the advertising instead of the merchandising end of the business. Member: Minneapolis Club, Harvard Club of New York, Minnetonka Yacht Club. I live at Deephaven, Minn., in summer, and in Minneapolis, Minn., in the winter months. I am unmarried and therefore quite comfortable.

After graduation I stayed for two years in the Harvard Law School, and received the degree of LL.B. in June, 1903. I then entered the law office of Charles H. Tyler, Boston, where I remained for two years. Since then I have been practising independently at 60 State Street, Boston. For the first five years I was associated with Horace B. Stanton, '00, and Arthur N. Rice, '00. For the past year I have been a partner in the firm of Adler, Barker, Stanton and Wood. I have been a director and treasurer of the Buttrick Lumber Company since 1907, a director of the Boston Dairy Company, and a trustee of the Cambridge Building Trust since 1910. Both before and while in college I travelled to a considerable extent, but since commencing to practise law I have unfortunately not had time to continue this very pleasant recreation, and except for one short business trip to Mexico, in 1906, I have not been further than the cities of the North Atlantic seaboard.

For two years after graduation I worked in the office of N. S. Bartlett and Company, iron merchants. Late in 1903 I had typhoid fever, from which it took me a year to recover. Soon after this I took a trip to Europe, and, on my return, bought a membership in the Boston Stock Exchange. In 1905 I formed a partnership to carry on a banking and brokerage business with my brother, N. S. Bartlett, Jr., and we are still doing business under the firm name of Bartlett Brothers and Company. We belong to the Boston and New York Stock exchanges, sell letters of credit and bills of exchange on Messrs. Morgan, Grenfell and Company, London, and Messrs. Morgan, Harjes, and Company, Paris. Early in 1906 I bought a small (50 acre) farm between Natick and Sherborn, Mass., where I live all the year round, finding great interest in agriculture, raising Jersey cattle, Wyandotte poultry, and fox terrier dogs. I have taken, and hope to continue to take, short summer vacations in England or France. Member: Tennis and Racquet Club, Boston, Boston Chamber of Commerce.

After graduation I spent three years as rodman and transitman for the Pennsylvania Railroad in the maintenance of way department, at Pittsburg and Altoona, Pa. For the next two years I was engaged in reinforced concrete, design and construction work, as assistant engineer for the Bureau of Filtration, Pittsburg, Pa. Then I spent two years as instructor in the civil engineering department of Carnegie Technical School, Pittsburg, Pa. During that time I was doing special work for the Bureau of Water, Pittsburg, Pa. Then for three months I had a temporary position with the Board of Water Supply, High Falls, N. Y. I declined an appointment as assistant engineer on the Board of Water Supply. Then I spent one year as assistant engineer for the Boston Elevated Railway Company, on reinforced concrete design for the Cambridge subway. At the present time I am in charge of estimating and engineering recounting department, in the chief engineer's office of the Donora Steel Works.

After graduating from the Harvard Law School, I determined to specialize in insurance law, and made a study of insurance as a branch of business and of economics. Then I began to practise it as a legal specialty. My work has been chiefly as counsel for insurance corporations, and has included all those branches of professional activity which ordinarily fall to the lot of one in a legal specialty. I have travelled extensively in this country and in Canada, mostly in confidential legal work for clients.

GEORGE RUST BEDINGER

|---|---|
| Born | Kittaning, Pa., March 12, 1880. |
| School | St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H. |
| Degrees | A.B., 1901; A.M., 1904. |
| Married | Harriet Anderson McGill, Montclair, N. J., Dec. 29, 1908. |
| Business | Missionary. |
| Address | (home) Akita, Japan. |
| | (business) Care of Rt. Rev. John McKim, D.D., Tokyo, Japan. |

In July, 1901, I went to Japan as private secretary to the Rt. Rev. Dr. Partridge, bishop of Koyoto (American Church Mission). I travelled in various parts of Japan and laid the foundations of an intense interest in the Japanese people that has been the most important influence in my subsequent life. I visited China in company with Dr. Partridge, going from Shanghai six hundred miles up the Yang-tse River to Hankow. In August, 1902, I was appointed instructor of English in the Keio Gijuku University, Tokyo, the oldest university in Japan. I was elected a member of the Harvard Club of Japan. In September, 1903, I returned to Harvard to specialize in English composition and literature. I received my "A.M." at Commencement, 1904. I was among the founders and first secretary of the Japan Club of Harvard University, a precursor of the present Cosmopolitan Club. Under the auspices of this club, Viscount (then Baron) K. Kaneko, special Japanese envoy to America, made an address in May, in Sanders Theatre, explaining the causes that had forced Japan to go to war. I was chosen by the Japanese consul-general of New York, to present the Japanese side of the question at a large dinner given by the Quill Club of New York City. The Russian side was presented by an officer on the staff of Governor Odell of New York. I also spoke for Japan before the Reform Club, New York City, and before the Twentieth Century Club of Boston. I visited the St. Louis Fair (1904) and then went to Albany, N. Y. as English master in the Boys' Academy. I was elected a member of the University Club. I addressed the Albany Historical Society on the "Japanese Drama" and another learned society on mountain climbing in Japan. In May, 1905, I accepted an invitation from Baron D. Kickuchi to become English master at the College of the Nobles in Tokyo. I arrived at Yokohama in September, 1905. My opportunities while in Tokyo as the foreign English teacher for the college specially designed for the sons of the nobility were many. I really got to know the Japanese people and made friends among them. I became a member of the Asiatic Society of Japan. In my vacations I travelled extensively throughout Japan, visiting the Loo Choo Islands as the guest of Marquis Ten Sho, the former king of this archipelago lying between Japan and Formosa. In July, 1907, I became professor of English at the Fowith Government College in Kanazawa. My deep interest in things Japanese made me decide to devote my very best energies for the Japanese people, and realizing that I was too hampered as a government employee, I applied to the American Bishop of Tokyo, Dr. John McKim, as a missionary. In June, 1908, I was appointed by the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Board of the Episcopal Church in New York City as a lay missionary to work among Japanese students. I left Japan from Tsuruga and going to Vladivostock took the Trans-Siberian Express to Moscow. After visiting St. Petersburg, Berlin, and London, I sailed for New York on July 25, 1908. Articles of mine, dealing with Japanese matters were accepted by the Outlook, the Travel Magazine, and the Spirit of Missions.

A month after my marriage, I again started for Japan. Bishop McKim stationed me in Akita, a city of 45,000 people in northeastern Japan. I have studied the spoken and written languages of Japan, and have already passed one of the annual language tests required of all missionaries during the first three years of their residence in Japan.

Thomas Dickerson Bergen

Thomas Dickerson Bergen was born in Kenosa, Wis., June 29, 1877. His father was Joseph Z. Bergen and his mother, Fanny Dickerson. His earlier years were passed partly in Illinois and partly in Massachusetts. His education, up to the age of twelve and a half years, was entirely received at home. He was fitted for college at Browne and Nichols' School in Cambridge, and at the Cambridge Latin School, remaining about an equal time in each. He took the Harvard entrance examinations in 1896, but did not immediately enter college, as he went with his parents to Southern Italy in the autumn of 1896. During eight months' residence there he acquired a fair speaking knowledge of Italian. In the autumn of 1897 he entered Harvard University and graduated with the class of 1901. In the autumn of the same year he again went to Italy and remained four years, occupying himself during much of the time with the study of the Italian language and literature. In the course of a summer spent in Madrid he obtained a considerable knowledge of Spanish. In September, 1907, he took a position as instructor in French and Spanish in the Cascadilla School, Ithaca, N. Y. Near the close of the school year he was offered a fellowship in Cornell University for the study of the Italian language and literature, with the understanding that at the end of a year he should receive a doctor's degree and be given a position on the teaching staff of the university. On May 9, 1908, he was drowned while canoeing on Cayuga Lake. During and after his second sojourn in Italy, he wrote many notes and articles on Italian art, literature, manners, and customs, which were published in the Nation, the New York Evening Post, Poet Lore, and various other periodicals, and occasional notes for the Florentine Marzocco.

| Address | (home) 1256 West 5th St., Los Angeles, Calif. |
| | (business) 1005 Union Trust Building, Los Angeles, Calif. |

In the fall of 1899 I went to Colorado Springs, Colo., and lived there during that winter. Returning to Cambridge in the spring of 1900, I entered the employ of John P. Squires and Sons, East Cambridge. After about a year in the packing house, my health broke down, and I spent the next twelve months out of doors as much as possible. In June, 1902, I went to Aberdeen, Wash., and engaged in the logging and lumber business. In the fall of 1904 I moved to Seattle and entered the employ of the Pacific Fire Extinguisher Company, as department agent. I lived in Seattle until the fall of 1910, at which time I came south and opened the southwestern office for the above firm. I am manager of this branch. I have never had time to enter politics, and have held no positions as "trusty" or otherwise, outside of my business. With the exception of business trips to Mexico and Canada, I have visited no foreign countries. My health is fine, and I hope to get to the decennial. Member: University Club of Seattle, Harvard Club of Los Angeles, San Gabriel Valley Country Club. I play golf and tennis whenever I get a chance, and I have not grown fat.

| Business | Assistant curator. |
| Address | (home) Concord, Mass. |
| | (business) Museum of Comparative Zoölogy, Cambridge, Mass. |

Since graduation I have been continuously occupied with the study of zoölogy. During the winter of 1901-1902 I accompanied Professor Agassiz on his exploring expedition to the Maldive Islands in the Indian Ocean; coming home via Java, China, and Japan. In the spring of 1904 I received my A.M. The winter 1904-1905, I acted as Professor Agassiz's assistant during his expedition to the eastern tropical Pacific in the United States fisheries steamer "Albatross". On my return I was appointed assistant in the Museum of Comparative Zoölogy, a position I have held ever since. In June, 1906, I was given my Ph.D. My wife and I accompanied Mr. Agassiz on his expedition to the West Indies in 1906-1907. During the summer of 1907 I had charge of an expedition to the Gulf Stream on the United States fisheries schooner "Grampus". In addition to these journeys, there have been some for hunting trips to British Columbia, Newfoundland, New Brunswick, Quebec, and Nova Scotia. My published papers are all on purely scientific subjects. They treat of the cell, of medusae, of the geographic distribution of animals, and of oceanography. Member: Colonial Club, Cambridge, Somerset Club, Boston, Boston Natural History Society, American Association of Zoölogists, Naturalists, Nuttall Natural Ornithological Club, National Geographic Society, Naturalists Club, Fellow, Royal Geographical Society, London, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Harvard Travellers' Club.

| Business | Farmer. |
| Address | Auburndale, Mass. |

In July, 1901, Henry Poor and I went abroad for three months. We travelled in Holland, Belgium, Germany, and England. In Germany we tramped through the Schwartz Wald from Baden-Baden to Lake Constance. I have spent several winters in the south (for my health), having been at Nassau, British West Indies, the Florida east coast, New Orleans, Virginia Hot Springs, and Aiken. I am better now.

I am much interested in trees, and have planted some 30,000 during the last ten years. Two years ago I signed the simplified spelling card, and thoroughly believe in the reformation and improvement of spelling. I have been in the militia since 1896, and am now second lieutenant in Troop B, First Squadron Cavalry. Member: Somerset Club, Tennis and Racquet Club, Country Club, and the Boston Athletic Association.

GERALD BLAKE

| Business | Physician. |
| Address | (home) 1236 Beacon St., Brookline, Mass. |
| | (business) 212 Beacon St., Boston, Mass. |

The four years following graduation I spent at the Harvard Medical School. Then I served two years as surgical house officer in the Boston City Hospital. I spent the next six months abroad, returning in October, 1907, to practise medicine in Boston. During the last three years my career has been the usual one of a young physician in Boston. It consists of teaching at the medical school mornings, making visits to hospitals, doing research work, and attending those who consult me concerning their internal mechanism, what is known in medical circles as "internal medicine." Last fall I joined the ranks of the married men, and have lived happily ever after.

| Business | Director of the Vocation Bureau. |
| Address | (home) 125 Temple St., West Roxbury, Mass. |
| | (business) 6 Beacon St., Boston, Mass. |

Immediately after graduation I founded the Civic Service House in the North End of Boston. For ten years the house has been known for its civic work among immigrants, and its public efforts on behalf of the North End population. I became a member of the Massachusetts Bar in 1905. In 1908 the Vocation Bureau was founded at the Civic Service House, to give expert counsel as to the vocations and their demands. This work has become national in scope and interest. I am editor of the Civic Reader for the New Americans, and author of "The Vocational Guidance of Youth." I am to lecture on vocational guidance at the Harvard Summer School, 1911. Member or director or officer in: Boston Chamber of Commerce, Twentieth Century Club, Home and School Association, City Club, Boston Social Union, Boston 1915, Massachusetts Child Labor Committee, Playground Association of America, National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education.

| Unmarried | |
| Business | Stock broker. |
| Address | (home) 54 East Division St., Chicago, Ill. |
| | (business) The Rookery, Chicago, Ill. |

After graduation from the Harvard Law School, I went to work in November, 1903, for the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company, at Omaha, where I remained until the following September. I was then transferred to Chicago, and the following January was transferred to Burlington. I gave up the railroad business in May, 1905, at that time entering the services of Bond and Goodwin, bankers and brokers, Boston, and in July, 1905, I entered their Chicago office. Since that time I have lived continuously in Chicago. In September, 1906, I entered the service of J. F. Harris and Company, stock brokers, Chicago. In January, 1907, John F.

Harris formed the partnership of Harris, Winthrop and Company, with principal offices in New York. Since May, 1907, I have been a general partner of that firm, with headquarters in Chicago.

| Unmarried | |
| Business | Land operator. |
| Address | (home) 1287 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass. |
| | (business) 60 State St., Boston, Mass. |

On July, 15, 1901, I left Boston, and did not return until May 19, 1904. During this time I circled around the globe, spending some months in Japan, China, and the Philippines. Thence I journeyed across the China Sea to Singapore, and up along the Straits Settlements, browsing along the way. This browsing continued along the Indian Ocean, with a drop off at Ceylon, thence on through the Red Sea and the Suez Canal to Port Said, of which Kipling truly said,

> "Where there ain't no ten commandments
> And the best is but the worst."

I sailed from there across the Mediterranean to Naples, and then we crossed the Channel and buried ourselves in London, where the shades of Thackeray, Goldsmith, Johnson, Dickens, and the others had their innings, after all the tedious years spent studying their lives and works. I was repaid. On my return to Boston I entered my father's real estate business, and after mastering it started for myself under the name of the Hood Land Company, in March, 1906. I am still doing land operating under that title, and expect to for years to come, until that time comes when I may devote myself wholly to the public welfare. Member: Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange, City Club. I have refused several invitations to join other organizations, because the men at the helm are so fossilized I believe no good will come of them. I have today, December 29, 1910, received an invitation to become a member of the Anti-Imperialist League, and shall accept.

| | (business) Borland Building, cor. La Salle and Monroe streets, Chicago, Ill. |

In the fall of 1902 I started at work with the brokerage firm of John H. Wrenn and Company, Chicago, with whom I remained one year. The following year I worked in the real estate department of the Northern Trust Company of Chicago. In the fall of 1904 I entered the real estate business independently. Since that time I have been engaged in the handling and management of various buildings and properties, and have had charge of the construction of several large buildings in Chicago. At present I have charge also of the running, management, and handling of the various Borland properties. In 1906 I became a trustee of the Old Peoples' Home of the City of Chicago, and in 1908 I became secretary of the corporation. In the fall of 1906 I was made a member of the board of trustees of St. Luke's Hospital, and in 1908 I became secretary of the hospital. In 1907 I was made a director of the Chicago Savings Bank and Trust Company. I resigned from this directorship in 1910. During part of 1910 I served as director for the Chicago Railways Company. I recently became vice-president of the Ideal Electric Vehicles Company, Chicago, manufacturers of electric automobiles, with agencies in other cities. From graduation until June, 1905, I was assistant at the Dudley Observatory, Albany, N. Y. Then I went to Washington, D. C., in the employ of the United States Naval Observatory. After my marriage, in August, 1906, I went to Tutuila, Samoa, to take charge of the United States Naval Observatory. During my stay at Tutuila I was temporarily detached from duty to take part in the total solar eclipse of January 3, 1908, leaving Tutuila on the United States gunboat Annapolis for Tahiti, and eventually Flint Island, where the eclipse was observed. The trip to and from Tutuila, Samoa, gave me the opportunity of seeing Honolulu, the Fiji Islands, and Vancouver Islands. On my return to the United States, in May, 1908, I left the government service to take the position of secretary of the Dudley Observatory and the department of meridian astrometry of the Carnegie Institution, Washington. I was in charge during the temporary absence of the director, from August, 1908 to August, 1909. Although most of my time is taken up with the supervision of a large force of computers, I have had time to undertake some original research, the results of which have appeared in various astronomical publications.

| Unmarried | |
| Business | Physician. |
| Address | West Stockbridge, Mass. |

I joined the class of 1901 in the sophomore year. Four years in the Harvard Medical School, three years in the Massachusetts State Hospital, one year in the Boston City Hospital, pathological department, and two years in practice in West Stockbridge, Berkshire County, Mass., account for my time since graduation. I am not married and have no children, but I haven't missed them much, for I had pneumonia last spring, and have been on crutches with rheumatism ever since. Nevertheless, I continue to traverse Berkshire's breezy hills, bearing good cheer and calomel to the weary and distressed. If any '01 man comes this way, stop!

| Business | Minister. |
| Address | Jefferson, Md. |

The year after receiving my degree at Harvard I was vice-principal of the Chambersburg (Pa.) High School. In the summer and fall of 1902 I travelled and resided in Göttingen, Dresden, and London. During the winter and spring of 1903 I was instructor in German in the Mackenzie School, Dobbs-Ferry-on-Hudson. Then I studied law in my father's office at Chambersburg, and after admission to the bar I practised law there from 1903 to 1907. The year 1907-1908 I spent at the Union Theological Seminary, New York City. The next year I attended the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church in the United States, Lancaster, Pa. I was ordained and installed as pastor of the Jefferson, Md., Reform Church, June, 1909. I am also instructor in Bible and New Testament Greek at the Woman's College, Frederick, Md. I am engaged to marry Margaret Sturrock Cameron, of Irwin, Pa.

| Address | (home) 1135 Ohio St., Lawrence, Kan. |
| | (business) University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kan. |

After graduating from Harvard, I studied economics and sociology in Columbia University, where, in 1902, I received the degree A.M. The following year I held a University scholarship in the Graduate School of Harvard University. In June, 1903, I received the appointment of assistant professor of economics in the University of Kansas. In June, 1910, I was promoted to associate professor in the department of economics. In 1907 I made a general investigation of the manufacturing districts of Great Britain, Belgium, France, and Germany, with special reference to labor conditions, organizations of industry, and methods of transportation in those countries. A part of the year, 1909, I served as a member of the Census Advisory Board in Washington, which had in charge the drafting of the census schedules for the census of 1910. Besides various notes and book reviews for the economic journals, I have written the following articles: "The Philosophy of the Single Tax", "Theories of Protection", and "A History of the Erie Railroad". During the past year I have been a lecturer on banking before the Kansas City chapter of the American Institute of Banking. Member: American Economic Association, American Statistical Association.

| Address | (home) 87 Pleasant St., Arlington, Mass. |
| | (business) 89 State St., Boston, Mass. |

I was graduated from the Harvard Law School in 1904. Having been admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in 1903, I began to practise with two associates under the firm name of Elder, MacKusick and Brackett. The firm name is now Elder and Brackett, Mr. MacKusick having left and Mr. Ralph H. Hallett having joined the firm. I have been interested in politics and am a member of the Republican Town Committee of Arlington. I was elected secretary of the committee in the spring of 1908 and its chairman in the fall of the same year, which position I still hold. In November, 1907, I was chosen moderator of town meetings in Arlington, and have acted in that capacity continuously ever since. In September, 1909, I was appointed an assistant in the office of the district attorney for the northern district of Middlesex county, which position I continued to occupy until the spring of 1910, when I resigned to become a candidate for the House of Representatives from the 29th Middlesex District including Arlington and Lexington. Since resigning from the former position, however, I have occasionally done special legal work for the district attorney's office. In November, 1910, I was elected to the Massachusetts House of Representatives. In January, 1910, I was appointed attorney for the Arlington Coöperative Bank. During the fall of 1910 I took an active interest in the campaign of Henry Cabot Lodge for re-election to the United States Senate from Massachusetts. Member: Mt. Olive Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, Cambridge Royal Arch Chapter, Menotomy Royal Arch Chapter, Boston Council, Cambridge Commandery, Lafayette Lodge of Perfection, Princes of Jerusalem, Rose Croix, Massachusetts Consistory, and the Shrine, secretary of the Harvard chapter of the Delta Upsilon Association, and a member, Arlington Boat Club, Boston City Club, and the Republican Club of Massachusetts.

Ransom Davisson Brackett

Ransom Davisson Brackett was born November 3, 1874, at Marshall, Michigan. He prepared for college at the Boston Latin School, entering Harvard in the fall of 1897. He was tremendously interested in study, and at the same time took a keen interest in all undergraduate activities. Owing to ill-health he was unable to take any part in athletics, but nevertheless had unbounded enthusiasm for and confidence in his class and college teams. In the winter of his senior year he was taken ill and died at the Stillman Infirmary at Cambridge. His earnest ambition to take part in the affairs of his college is shown by the fact that two days before he died he insisted on voting by proxy at his class election.

| Business | Architect. |
| Address | (home) 115 Forest Ave., Cranford, N. J.(business) Crawford, N. J. |

After graduation I travelled and studied in Europe for six months. On my return I entered the office of McKim, Mead and White, architects, where, in company with a Mr. Lindeberg, now of the firm of Albro and Lindeberg, I made the alteration and addition to the Harvard Club of New York. I have in my possession, copies of all the drawings of the large hall which I made entire, under Mr. McKim's direction. When Mr. Lindeberg went in business for himself, I joined him as head designer, and helped him to develop the "shingle wave roof", in imitation of thatch, which has become one of the acquisitions of American suburban architecture. Later I went into business for myself, in partnership with a Mr. Hollingsworth, who had charge of Mr. McKim's alterations to the White House in Washington. Our firm of Hollingsworth and Bragdon is now engaged in suburban residential work. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Genealogical and Biographical Society of New York, Bridgeport Yacht Club, Cranford Golf Club.

| Business | Insurance. |
| Address | 59 John St., New York City. |

After graduation I was unemployed until July, 1902. At that time I went with the Aetna Indemnity Company, at Hartford, Conn. When their executive offices were moved to New York, I came with them. In June, 1904, I became manager of their fidelity department. In January, 1905, I was appointed second assistant secretary, and in May, 1909, first assistant secretary. Since Jan. 1, 1911 I have been manager of the fidelity department of the American branch of the Ocean Accident and Guarantee Corporation, Limited, of London, England. Member: Harvard Club of New York.

| Business | Lawyer. |
| Address | (home) 229 Prospect St., Manchester, N. H. |
| | (business) 795 Elm St., Manchester, N. H. |

After leaving college, I entered the Harvard Law School, and received the degree of LL.B. in 1904. I passed the bar examinations in Concord, N. H. in June of that year. The following September I entered the office of my father, Oliver E. Branch, at Manchester, N. H., forming the firm of Branch and Branch. Since that time I have been engaged in the comparatively uneventful practice of law. My father has for many years been counsel for the Boston and Maine Railroad in this vicinity and our practice has been very largely the defendant's side of accident cases. At present we are engaged in two important actions between the state of New Hampshire and the railroad, one dealing with the question of railroad taxation, and the other with regulation of freight rates. For recreation I have become a devotee of handball in the winter and of golf in the summer. I have also done a good deal of swimming and considerable sailing. I have not travelled abroad, but did take a trip to Seattle, in company with my two brothers, both Harvard men, in the summer of 1909. I have recently been appointed by the Supreme Court of the state as one of the board of three for the examination of law students for admission to the bar. Member: Calumet Club, Cygnet Boat Club, Intervale Country Club, American Canoe Association. I was the first secretary of the Harvard Club of New Hampshire, and am still a member. I am also secretary of the Economic Club of Manchester, and a director of the Young Men's Christian Association. In spite of the fact that I live in New Hampshire, I am a democrat in politics.

I joined the class of 1901 in the senior year. I have given practically all of my time since graduation to school work in this city. Besides my regular duties, I have been president of the Teachers' Association. This association, among other activities, provides the city with a lecture course which brings here some of the most distinguished men of the country. I spent the summer of 1908 in Europe, travelling with Mrs. Branson, and studying masterpieces in most of the European art galleries. The high school here closes each year late in June, making it impossible for me to attend Harvard Commencements and class reunions.

Since leaving college, I have been engaged in the brokerage and banking business, first with George S. Baldwin and Company, of Boston, then with Messrs. Dominick and Dominick, Strong, Sturges and Company, and Emanuel, Parker and Company, of New York. From the latter firm I came to the Boston office of Hornblower and Weeks, where I am now.

After graduation I decided to engage in the hotel business, and made arrangements to enter the Hotel Berkeley, corner Berkeley and Boylston streets, Boston. Here I spent a profitable year learning the details of hotel management, in the steward's department. The following year, I was with the Hotel Somerset, Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, in the office. After a year with that establishment, I returned to New Bedford, to assist my father with the Parker House. While retaining my membership in the First Corps of Cadets, Company A, I was elected ensign of Company G, Naval Reserves (the New Bedford company), and served two years in that office. I was then promoted to lieutenant junior grade in the same company, but resigned in July, 1906, to go south. The spirit of unrest still ruled, and in March, 1905, I decided to seek a berth as paymaster in the United States Navy, an appointment contingent upon passing searching mental and physical examinations. With that end in view, after having obtained permission from the government authorities, I spent eleven weeks in Washington, D. C., preparing for the examinations at the Army and Navy Preparatory School. I went up for the tests, but was not allowed to take the mental, as I failed on the physical examination, owing to a trephined skull, the result of an accident when I was ten years old; I didn't mind greatly, for while in Washington I met the young lady who is now my wife. I returned to New Bedford and engaged in the cotton brokerage business with P. C. Headley, with whom I remained a year, when the opportunity was offered me to come south. Accordingly in September, 1906, I came to Vicksburg, where I have been ever since with the exception of a journey to Corpus Christi, Tex., in April, 1907 (where I became a benedict), and summer trips to New Bedford and Boston. During the five seasons I have been in Vicksburg, I have risen to be one of the two chief cotton classers with W. C. Craig and Company, making shipments of high grade and long staple cotton to the New England mills, the Carolinas, and abroad to Russia, Germany, Italy, France, and England.

After leaving college I entered the Lawrence Scientific School to study landscape architecture, and stayed there for two years. In the summer of 1902 I went abroad, visiting Belgium, Holland, Germany, Italy, France, and Great Britain. In the spring of that year I also made a trip to Jamaica. In November, 1904, I made a trip to Cuba, and in December of that year started on a voyage around the world, which ended in July, 1905. On my travels I visited Italy, Greece, Egypt, India, Burma, the Straits Settlements, Java, the Philippines, China, Japan, and Honolulu. Upon my return I became a draughtsman in the office of Arthur A. Shurt-leff, a landscape architect at 28 Congress Street, Boston. After being with him for six months, and finding business somewhat dull. I went temporarily with my father, who was the head of the firm of A. M. Bullard and Company, insurance brokers. He was short-handed and needed some one for a few weeks. I have continued in the business ever since and am now connected with the firm of Cyrus Brewer and Company. After being married I went to live in Milton, Mass., and have been there ever since. I have written one article in House and Garden on a certain ruined temple in Java. I opened an office in Boston in 1901. I established the yacht yard (now known as the W. Starling Burgess Company, Limited), in 1904. I have designed in all two hundred and twenty-three yachts and commercial vessels, including small steamers, motor boats, trading and fishing schooners, racing yachts, cruisers, and racing launches; also five one design classes. I have built at Marblehead a number of wooden crafts, the largest being the 100-foot motor vessel "Pineland", and the seagoing motor yacht "Sepoy". Among the successful racing boats have been: "Outlook", winner of Quincy cup; "Little Haste", champion twenty-one-footer; "Pelegrina", forty-footer; "Orestes", champion twenty-two-rater; "Corinthian", champion of Pacific coast; "Cricket", champion of southern coast; "Gypsy", and sonder boats "Wolf" and "Beaver", selected for the International races with Germany and Spain. Steamers: Boston Floating Hospital steamer (twin screw, steel, 800 tons); "Islander", etc. Auxiliary fishing and trading schooners; "Elizabeth Silsbee", (largest and fastest of Gloucester fishing fleet); wrecking schooner "Gleaner", etc. In 1910 I became interested in aviation and built five aeroplanes. Aeroplane "A" in a short flight at Chebacco Pond, February 28, 1910, was the first flying machine to fly in New England. I experimented in the summer of 1910 at Plum Island station and encountered many difficulties and disappointments, but became completely fascinated with the work. Formed Burgess Company and Curtis (aeroplane builders), of which I am president, and Greely S. Curtis treasurer. One of the company's aeroplanes was flown in a successful demonstration flight by Glenn H. Curtiss at the Harvard-Boston meet, September, 1910. Immediately thereafter we received an order for seven aeroplanes from Grahame-White. Four of these machines have already been completed. On March 11 one of them made a flight of seventy-five miles in which she crossed

London at an altitude of three thousand feet. In December we were offered by Wilbur Wright license under the Wright patents. We are the sole licensees of the Wright Company in America. In January, 1910, I became the Wright Company's first civilian pupil, and was taught at Augusta, Ga. During my lessons I flew somewhat over 300 miles, at altitudes between two hundred and one thousand feet. Flying is the most wonderful sport in the world! On leaving college I became "under dog" in a bank to an uncle of mine, by adoption of my grandfather. Soon I discovered that before-mentioned uncle was "doing" me of my interest in said bank and of my estate, which, by my trusting him, he controlled entirely. Then commenced much litigation, which, after six years, I won. After that experience I embarked in the mining business which became part of my estate on the death of my father, while I was at college. Since then I have prospered and waxed fat. I have held no offices of profit, honor, or trust. As to foreign countries—I prefer Europe (the only one I have ever been to) where I try to spend at least a month each year. I have an aeroplane. To those who really live, it would seem simple to write about themselves for ten years: but to one who merely exists, it is an entirely different matter. However, after graduating, I entered the medical schoool with several of our class, and except for Blake's wit, Eastman's wag, and Dexter's thirst, our serious study went on for three years. Then, unfortunately, I got a few experimental ideas, and endeavored to find out how little food was necessary to avoid pulling the string every day. While on this quest—sad to relate—I picked up a ticket on the "Nut-wagon". To say I had a ride would be inaccurate: the fact is, that the horses almost ran away. In the fall of 1905, I had sufficiently recovered from my escapade to go to Germany and enter the University of Göttingen. Here I took a course with Herr Geheimrat Ebstein, who said morning after morning: "Die Zunge ist etwas grau belegt!" With me the color was quite different; so feeling the need of prophylactic measures, I returned to Boston the following spring. Later I entered the Massachusetts General Hospital and served as a surgical house pupil. At Bellevue Hospital in New York I studied pathology for a while, and then I tarried several months at Hot Springs, Va. Having now a good deal of education, I felt it time to put it to some use, so in February, 1909, I began the practice of medicine in Northampton, Mass. I shall vote for bimetalism again, and if the proportion of 16-1 in gender could only be reduced in certain communities, or more of us had the fixed ideas of Joe Smith and Brig Young, Northampton might be a proper place for a young man to live in. I thought and thought, but nothing could be done; so that after a year and a half of extreme disquietude, I escaped to Boston. In Boston, I set up my sign and sat in my office. Several months went by until at the beginning of the year I was made an assistant in clinical pathology at the Massachusetts General Hospital. In this position I spend a good deal of time examining germs, blood, etc. I keep a hen, two rabbits, and several guinea pigs, but have no wife or children.

On leaving college I entered the civil engineering service of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in Buffalo, N. Y. From there I was transferred to the Pittsburg District of the same Company. I then worked with several steel companies as steel designer. Finally I entered the employ of the Boston Elevated, and did both field and office work on the Forest Hills extension of the Elevated. At present I am employed as a designer in the construction of the Cambridge subway, and in the connection of the same to the Beacon Hill subway. Politically I am a Democrat. I have served two years as councilman from my district in Salem, being a member of the water board, grade crossings commission, street committee, etc. At present I am representative from the 17th Essex District in the General Court. I have been appointed a member of the public service committee. I spent the summer of 1901 in France studying. The years 1901-1905 I passed at the State University of Iowa as instructor and assistant professor of romance languages, indulging in the usual recreations incident to such a position, giving forth papers at the meetings of learned societies, writing some articles, joining a variety of organizations and marrying a student in my first class after a siege of two years. I was an instructor at Harvard in 1905-06, where I discovered that I could not run any more. I cavorted in Europe during the summer of 1906. Since then I have been in charge of the department of romance languages at Iowa, have joined more societies, read more papers, and at present am publishing a small text-book. I suppose that the most creditable papers I have written have been—"The Influence of Norman-Picard as Compared with Central French upon English Tested by Words in Oa and Aha", and a short study of the pathetic element.

Leaving Harvard in June, 1898, I was appointed commissary clerk to Captain C. E. Cabell, United States Volunteers, and went with him to Fort Meyer, Va., then to Chickamauga and Knoxville, Tenn. in the same capacity. I returned to my home at Norwood, Va., in January, 1899, remaining until April, when I was employed with the United States Geological Survey, and ran Levels in the mountains near Asheville, N. C. through the summer. In September, 1899, after competitive examination, I secured an appointment to West Point, but, after two weeks, failed on examination. I returned to Norwood, Va., and spent the winter there, preparing for a new examination for West Point, which I took at Baltimore, Md., in March, 1900, and passed successfully. The principal appointee, however, secured the appointment. From March, 1900 to May, 1901, I studied law in the office of my brother-in-law, A. Moore, Jr., at Berryville, Va. In May, I began the two months' summer law course at the University of Virginia, and in September, after examination, was licensed by the Court of Appeals, sitting at Staunton, Va., to practise. Came to Big Stone Gap as law clerk and stenographer for Hon. R. T. Irvine, in November, 1901, and shortly after began independent practice. I have been in the general practice up to this time, specializing to some extent on the examination of land titles in the coal fields of Eastern Kentucky.

After graduation I proceeded to McMaster University, where I was appointed fellow and instructor in languages; at the expiration of the scholastic year, I received the degree A.M. with honors in Latin. After a tour through England, and the continent, I spent a year in graduate work under Nicole and other professors of the Université de Genève, Suisse. At the end of the college year I visited the museums of Rome, Naples, Athens, etc. I spent a few weeks at the College of France, then, after a visit to Scotland, returned to Toronto to take up my duties as lecturer in Latin and French at McMaster University. Three years later I was appointed professor of Latin in the above institution. I am an enthusiastic member of the Toronto Harvard Club, in fact one of the seven or eight charter members. I have held various honorary positions in the club connected with our university; from time to time I have dabbled a little in literary work and especially contributed to the McMaster University Monthly. In 1909 I was commencement lecturer at McMaster. I have served on the board of associate examiners of the department of education of the Province of Ontario, and in 1911 was appointed one of the three examiners in classics for the above government department. My favorite amusements and diversions are easily summed up in the word "aquatics". Canoe trips in Northern Ontario forests, lakes, and rivers, and sailing both on Ontario and Lake Deschênes, Quebec, are my preferred summer sports. This very egotistical notice will now terminate and none too soon. I may add that I went to Harvard in my senior year. My son if he lives will enter as a freshman on or about 1925.

After leaving Cambridge, I spent two and a half years in the graduate school at Cornell University, studying electrical, mechanical, and hydraulic engineering. During this period I assisted in experiments to determine the specific heat of the flow of steam through orifices (turbine practice) etc. On leaving Ithaca I served a graduate apprenticeship in the shops of the Allis-Chalmers Company, Milwaukee. It was at this time that I had the honor of erecting the test-rig for their new electrical shops, it being the largest electrical testing apparatus of its kind in the world. Shortly afterwards I was transferred to the New York district of the Allis-Chalmers Company, where I served in the capacity of construction engineer for nearly three years. In the fall of 1908 I went abroad where I spent eight months in inspecting and investigating manufacturing and engineering works and achievements. On my return I entered the employ of the General Electric Company and was assigned to their New York office as commercial engineer on hydraulics, pneumatics, and gas engine practice. Five of us went together from the class of 1901 to the Rochester Theological Seminary to prepare for the Baptist ministry. I graduated there in 1904, but remained three years more in Rochester as assistant pastor of the Lake Avenue Baptist Church of that city. Then in the fall of 1907 I became pastor of the Baptist Church in Morgantown, West Virginia. The town is the seat of a large state university, and I enjoyed for two years the privileges of a college church and community checkered with many interesting experiences in the rough life of the mountains. In December, 1909, I accepted the pastorate of the Immanuel Baptist Church of Newton, Mass. And the following summer I completed my career to date with my marriage. I spent the summers of 1905 and 1910 travelling in Europe. I have done some literary and editorial work, and considerable public speaking, mainly on social themes. I belong to the Twentieth Century Club of Boston, and several religious and educational societies.

| Business | Lawyer and teacher. |
| Address | (home) 5340 Greenwood Ave., Chicago, Ill. |
| | (business) 1310 Stock Exchange Building, Chicago, Ill. |

Upon leaving college I became a member of the faculty of the University of Chicago as associate in English, giving courses in English composition, argumentation, and oral debates, and coaching the University debating teams. While I was at Harvard I formed the plan of ultimately becoming a lawyer and after two years in Chicago I therefore dropped half of my work of instruction to study law in the University law school. Thus I combined teaching and studying for a year. During this time I became a member of the Phi Delta Phi law fraternity. In the summer of 1904 I became secretary to President Harper and relinquished my teaching. In this position I continued until the death of President Harper in January, 1906. Following his death I served President (then Acting-President) Judson in the same capacity until July 1, 1906. Meanwhile I had remained a student in the Law School from which I was graduated in June, 1906. When I resigned as secretary to the president, it was to begin the practice of law with the firm of Tolman, Redfield, and Sexton, with which firm I have remained to this date. I was admitted to the bar of Illinois in December, 1906. I have retained a connection with the University of Chicago, giving instruction in argumentation and oral debates two afternoons a week during the winter and spring of each year. During the winter of 1910 I taught in the University Law School the portion of the course in equity dealing with equitable relief against waste, trespass, and nuisance. For one year beginning in the fall of 1903 I taught a class in English composition at Hull House, and for six years from October, 1904, I was the leader of the Hull House Shakspere Club, a club of young people organized for the reading and study of Shakspere's plays. In the autumn of 1909 I collaborated, with Samuel D. Hirschl, in the authorship of a treatise on evidence for a semi-popular encyclopedia of law entitled "American Law and Procedure" prepared under the editorial supervision of James Parker Hall, Dean of the University of Chicago Law School. Member: Illinois Bar Association, Chicago Bar Association, City Club, and Quadrangle Club.

| Business Address | Real estate broker.(home) Sherborn, Mass.(business) 50 Congress St., Boston, Mass. |

Leaving college in September, 1898, at the end of my freshman year I started with the Boston and Albany Railroad Company, as clerk in the superintendent's office, at Albany, N. Y. In the fall of 1900 I was transferred to a similar position in the superintendent's office in Boston remaining there for two more years. At that time I was offered and accepted the position as superintendent of a railroad in Porto Rico where I remained for six months. After returning to Boston I became connected with a brick concern for a time, and then went into the office of Robert J. Clark, doing a general real estate and insurance business, where I remained until quite recently, when I opened my own offices. I have held a number of town offices in Sherborn, Mass., but, being very busy both at home and in Boston, I have dropped them all. I have visited most of the countries of continental Europe, and have also travelled in England during the past five years.

A severe attack of typhoid fever, contracted on my return from Europe, forced me to abandon my college career in my junior year. After two months in the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital, I returned to California, and shortly thereafter took up special work at the University of California. Later I entered the piano house of Kohler and Chase, as salesman. On my first European trip I had travelled through England, France, Holland, Germany, Austria, and Switzerland, and in February, 1901, I went again to Germany. There I visited many of the small out of the way towns, little frequented by tourists, as well as all the principal cities; my longest stop was in Dresden, where I lived some six months. Leaving Germany, I toured through Austria and Italy, returning to America at the end of the same year. When I arrived in San Francisco I again entered the employ of Kohler and Chase as salesman. From that position I progressed to retail manager, then to manager of branch stores and agencies, afterward to general manager and after that to my present position of vice-president and managing director. My activities have been confined along business lines, and my writing to articles on commercial subjects. Member: University Club, Family Club of San Francisco, and the Claremont Country Club, of Claremont, Calif.

After receiving my A.M. in June, 1902, I made a three months' tour of Europe, visiting England, France, Switzerland, and Germany. In September, 1902, I began my duties as professor of English and French in the University of New Brunswick, a position to which I had been appointed in the preceding spring. After holding this position for three years I resigned and came back to Harvard, where I spent two years of additional graduate study and obtained my Ph.D. in English, in June, 1907. A portion of my thesis, under the title of "The Gest of Robin Hood", was published in the University of Toronto Studies in 1909. In July, 1907, I was appointed lecturer in English in University College, Toronto, a position which I still occupy. In 1907, 1909, and 1910, I was instructor in English, for the summer session, in the University of Indiana.

William Graham Clerk

William Graham Clerk was born August 28, 1878. His father was William Farquaharson Clerk and his mother, Anne Gertrude Clerk. He prepared for college at the Roxbury Latin School and entered college in the fall of 1901. In college he was identified principally with the Chess Club and the track team. In 1897 he won the quarter-mile in the 'Varsity games and was second in the 220 in the freshman games. In 1899 he was third in the quarter in the 'Varsity games, second in the quarter and 220 in the class games, and in the fall games . In 1900 he won both the 220 and the quarter in the class games and won the 220 and was second in the 440 in the 'Varsity games. In the same year he was second in the quarter and third in the 220 in the Harvard-Yale dual track games and he was fourth in the quarter in the Intercollegiate Athletic Association games. In the fall games of 1900 he was second in the 100 yard dash and first in the 220. He ran on his class relay team in 1899, 1900, and 1901, and on the 'Varsity relay teams which defeated the University of Pennsylvania in 1900 and in 1901. He was a member of the track team which won the championship at the Intercollegiate Athletic Association games in 1901, winning third place in the 440. He was a substitute on the class hockey team in 1900 and 1901. He was a member of the Kappa Gamma Chi, the Whist Club, the Roxbury Latin School Club, and was secretary of the Chess Club. He played on the chess team which defeated Yale in 1900 and 1901. He died April 10, 1905.

| Business | Consulting engineer. |
| Address | (home) Burton Halls, Cambridge, Mass. |
| | (business) 35 Congress St., Boston, Mass. |

From 1901 to 1907 I was at the graduate school, in the departments of mathematics and physics. From 1901 to 1909, I devoted much of my time to tutoring in mathematics, engineering, physics, and astronomy. I perfected my inventions—a pure reaction turbine, and a turbo air compressor. I perfected also my dynamic heating, ventilating, and cooling systems. From 1909 to 1911 I took a part in the promotion of the Rhode Island Coal Company, until Mr. H. M. Whitney took charge. I was secretary and treasurer of the Massachusetts Coal and Power Company until Gay and Sturgis took charge. During these years, I invented an internal combustion engine, an adjustable extensible wind shield for automobiles, and a new type of automobile goggles. I have been doing considerable commercial research work, which later will result in other inventions.

Edward Erwin Coolidge

Edward Erwin Coolidge was the youngest son of William Leander and Sarah I. (Washburn) Coolidge. He was born the 11th of April, 1877, and died at midnight of June 4, 1906. He was fitted for Harvard at the Natick High School but did not enter until a year after his preparation was complete. He spent the first months of this year at a business college in Boston, the last ones, just previous to his entrance, at the Newton High School. He finished the course required for his bachelor's degree in three years, and spent his fourth year in work in the Law School. He received his A.B. in 1901, and his degree from the Law School in 1903. His four brothers were all graduates of Harvard, and he thus made a fifth; perhaps the largest number of boys from one immediate family that (up to that time) had ever been graduated. After leaving college he entered the law department of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, and remained there until about the first of January, 1905, when, just as he was about to enter his brother's office and thus into general practice, an apparently slight lung trouble developed and he immediately went to Colorado with every reason to expect that life in the West would cause his total recovery. He apparently gained both in Colorado and Arizona, where he spent part of the time, and in the winter of 1906 seemed to be on the rapid road to good health. He suddenly became much worse in the late spring, and by the advice of his physicians had just arrived in Altudena, Southern California, when a sudden severe hemorrhage caused his death. Both at school and while in college he was much interested in athletics, playing baseball and football at school, and upon his freshman baseball nine, upon the second team, and also upon the University nine for four years at Harvard. He was one of the surest fielders on the team, and because of his accuracy in throwing, was chosen to relay all long hits to the outfield, to third base, or to the home plate. He enjoyed the proud distinction of having been upon a victorious Harvard nine for four successive years. It is doubtful if any other Harvard men have ever been able to say that they had beaten Yale in every series in which they had played. He was not a good hitter, but in a "pinch" seemed to be able to make a hit when most needed. He was equally reliable while on the University team, and Dr. Nichols and Captain Reid kept him on the nine during the early part of at least two seasons, in spite of his low batting average, because they had learned from experience that he would make good when the important game came—and he always did. Aside from his ability as a baseball player, he was a good skater, and played forward for three years on his class hockey team. He was captain of the five in his junior and senior years, and in the latter year won the class championship. Preparing for the law, it was natural that he should engage in debating. He was a member of the Freshman Debating Club, of which he was secretary and, later, president. He was also a member of the Sophomore Debating Club, the Junior Wranglers, and the Senior Senate. He was very quiet and studious, but not a "dig." He was able to pass his examinations with more than average credit, receiving a grade of A or B in over half his subjects, and was never during his entire course under college censure. His father did not believe in furnishing his boys in college with more money than necessary. For this reason Eddie went through college on a very moderate annual expenditure, and always lived in the Yard*. Here the latch string was always out, and here many fellows dropped in during the day, attracted by the good fellowship (of these friends) and by the air of hospitality which pervaded the place and made one sure of a cordial welcome. He cared little, however, about formal society or club life, and his election to the Hasty Pudding Club, which was the one club or society to which he belonged, came about as a natural result of his popularity. His desire to accomplish things by himself rather than through any possible assistance of others, is best illustrated by the following fact. He played on his freshman nine and then tried for the University team. Dr. Nichols was the coach, with whom of course his brother was well acquainted, having played with him on the nine for two years when they were both at Cambridge. His brother remembers saying to Eddie one day that he would speak to Dr. Nichols about him, to which Eddie replied that he would prefer that he should say nothing to Dr. Nichols, adding that if he could not make the team without help, he would prefer not to make it at all. It was consequently some considerable time after this before Dr. Nichols learned that the Coolidge on the nine was the brother of W. H. Coolidge, his old team-mate. He played on the second nine that (his sophomore) year, but won a place on the first nine in his senior year. He never took an active part in any religious work, but he had always been accustomed to attend church, and was librarian and corresponding secretary of the Cambridge Young Men's Christian Association. After his death the amount received from insurance on his life was used to establish a fund, from the income of which four scholarships known as the "Edward Erwin Coolidge Scholarships" are to be given annually on the conditions following: "In accordance with the desire of the givers, these scholarships will be administered as loans. They will become due five years after the cessation of the incumbent's connection with Harvard University. Subject to the specified preferences in the assignment of these scholarships, they are intended to confer an academic distinction like that attaching to other scholarships. It is the desire of the founder that in estimating the worth of a candidate for one of these scholarships, weight shall be given not only to his mental and moral qualities, but also to his bodily health and vigor, especially as shown by proficiency in outdoor sports. In the assignment of these scholarships, preference will be given to the descendents of John Coolidge, who settled in Watertown, Mass., about 1630, and to residents of Natick, Mass." His death has taken from our midst one of our quietest, most unassuming, and yet most lovable fellows. He was earnest, clean-minded, and clean-mouthed, and it would be impossible to find in the entire class anyone who can recall a single act of his which was not clean, honorable, fair, and straightforward.

After I graduated I decided to take a year for outdoor life and travel. The first three months I took a real vacation and then did a considerable amount of work in the interest of good government in Boston. Early in December, 1901, I went abroad with my father, mother, and sister, returning in April, 1902. We had a most successful and interesting trip spending six weeks in Egypt, two weeks in Greece, and returning to Boston via Naples, Rome, Florence, Paris, and London. The following summer (1902) I continued my vacation with great pleasure and benefit. The next three years I spent at the Harvard Law School. They were full of joy and interest. The spirit of work among the students, the keen intellectual enjoyment from close association with such men as Professor Williston and the late Dean Ames and others, the new and lasting friendships based on common interest and the feeling that one was started on one's real life work made study seem like play and made outside pleasures doubly enjoyable when they came. I was a member of the Kent Law Club and was an editor of the Harvard Law Review for one year.

I was admitted to the bar before I graduated from the law school and soon after graduating (in 1905), I began practice in Boston in the office of Moody, Burdett, Wardwell and Snow, later Burdett and Wardwell. My work in that office during the next five years was extremely congenial and pleasant. Much of my time was occupied by matters pertaining to gas and electric lighting, the office being counsel for the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, of Boston. I compiled an index of the twenty-four reports of the Massachusetts Gas and Electric Light Commissioners which I have had copyrighted. Among other things, I got interested in stopping a movement for municipal ownership of gas and electric lighting plants in Boston, and have written several articles for newspapers and magazines on the subject. I continued in the office of Burdett and Wardwell for almost five years, leaving last October with much regret.

In 1906, having done some work for the Good Government Association of Boston, I was made a member of their committee on publication of records of candidates, and continued on that committee until, in 1907, I was elected a member of the Republican Ward Committee of ward eleven in Boston. In 1908 and again in 1909 I was elected to the Common Council, lower branch of the city government in Boston. In 1910 I was elected to the House of Representatives in Massachusetts and was put on the Committee on Ways and Means. The result was that from January to June, 1910, I gave all my time to the work of the Legislature. This unfortunately handicapped my work in the office so that this year it became necessary for me either to give up the Legislature or to give up my position in the office. I decided on the latter course and therefore left Burdett and Wardwell early in October, opening an office in connection with Truman R. Hawley of the class of 1900 and Charles F. Dutch of the class of 1901, both of whom were classmates in the law school. Luckily after making this change I was re-elected to the House of Representatives in spite of a Democratic governor having been elected and the number of Republican representatives of Boston having been cut down from eighteen to eight.

I am secretary of the Republican Club of Massachusetts, which has some two thousand members. Members: Brookline Country Club, Norfolk Hunt Club, New Riding Club, and Exchange Club.

From 1905, New York City salesman for Redmond and Company, 33 Pine Street, New York City. I consider the raising of a family and the conduct of business with strict adherence to the "Golden Rule" the best evidence of progress. 'Tis easy to state, but hard to do. A sincere acceptance of this doctrine and a conscientious endeavor to live up to it are the only features of interest or importance in my career since leaving college.

An account of my life since graduation would prove anything but interesting to the members of the class of 1901. I came to California in August, 1902, entering into the lumber business with the firm of C. A. Hooper and Company, in September of that year, in which concern I now hold position as secretary. I am also secretary of the L. W. Blinn Lumber Company, the Southern California Lumber Company, of Los Angeles, Russ Lumber and Mill Company, of San Diego, Excelsior Investment Company, of Eureka, Calif., and Redwood Manufacturing Company, of San Francisco. In April, 1909, I was elected to the City Council of Alameda, a municipal governing board of that city, and have since then been interested more or less in California politics. I was elected to the State Legislature in November, 1910. I have taken a more or less active part in trying to secure the exposition for San Francisco in 1915, and try to give a good deal of my leisure time to matters of public interest. I make a special effort to attend the banquets of the Harvard Club of San Francisco, which I joined very shortly after arriving in California. After leaving college I returned to my home in Philadelphia, where I spent some time in newspaper work. I had done the work for my master's degree in my senior year; so it was not necessary for me to spend the year 1901-1902 in Cambridge. From September, 1902, to June, 1905, I was in the graduate school. While working for my doctor's degree I was assistant in economics and Austin Teaching Fellow. After receiving that degree I came to the University of Washington as assistant professor of economics, the office that I now hold. Since then I have travelled in many states of the union, have seen something of Alaska, and have taken several trips to different places in Canada. I have published a few articles, but no books.

I studied at the Harvard Law School during the year following graduation and then entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, from which I graduated in 1905. I spent the following summer in Europe after which I entered the employ of Manning, Maxwell and Moore, with whom I remained five years, becoming mechanical engineer of their four engineering supply factories. I joined the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in 1906, and in February, 1909, read before it a leading article on "Safety Valve Capacity", which was reprinted in the engineering magazines in this country and England. I have spoken on the same subject before the United States Board of Supervising Inspectors at two of their annual meetings. In March, 1910, I left the above company to enter the development department of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Powder Company, Wilmington, Delaware. Recently I have been put in charge of the mechanical division of its experiment station.

I left college in December, 1898 and went to California for my health. I returned in 1900. I went into business in Kansas City, Mo., the same year, but one year later the concern went up in smoke, leaving me very hot, but not much else. Then I accepted a position as organist of the Christian Church in St. Louis, Mo. I stayed in that city for seven or eight months looking after some legal matters connected with my mother's estate. In May, 1902, I returned to my old home at Hartwell. I have engaged in organ, choir work and teaching ever since. I have been organist and choir-master of the Wyoming Presbyterian Church since September 1, 1908. I have had twenty-four compositions for the piano published to date, the most popular of which are, "Lullaby," "Spring Dance," and a volume of pieces under the general title of "The Heart of Nature," published under the nom-de-plume of "Kirk Hogarth". W. H. Willis and Company, Cincinnati and Chicago are my publishers.

I spend every other summer in Boston. Member: Harvard Club of Cincinnati, and the Musicians' Club of Cincinnati.

Benjamin Whitney Dean

Benjamin Whitney Dean was born February 27, 1877, at Worcester, Mass. He was the son of Martha Potter and Benjamin Whitney Dean. He prepared for college in the public school of Worcester and graduated from the Worcester English High School in 1895. On account of ill health he did not enter Harvard until the fall of 1897. He intended to make the study of chemistry his life work if his health would permit; otherwise he planned to teach. He was especially interested in history, French, and the study of mathematics. Throughout his college course he was handicapped by an organic disease of the heart and compelled to forego all forms of exercise. He was modest in demeanor and had a quiet dignity which endeared him to all who knew him. He died in March of his junior year. One who sat beside him in many courses for three years missed the friendly smile of greeting which was ever his ready welcome to all who knew him.

After receiving my A.B. in 1901 I entered the Harvard Medical School, where, after four years of work, I received the degree of M.D. I then served as house pupil on the East Medical Service at the Massachusetts General Hospital. During the period between June, 1906, and June, 1907, I studied in Göttingen, Dresden, and Vienna. In the latter place I served as "Voluntär" assistant, on Professor von Noordin's clinic, and interested myself with the study of diabetes. During my year abroad I found time for a good deal of travel, and a little investigation into the manners and customs of the dwellers in "furrin parts". On my return to this country in June, 1907, I set up in the practice of medicine in Boston, held the positions of assistant in clinical medicine in the Harvard Medical School, and of assistant visiting physician to the Long Island Hospital. In December, 1908, I came to Cleveland, O., becoming assistant medical resident to the Lakeside Hospital in Cleveland, O. I remained a year in this hospital. Since leaving that institution I have been engaged in the active practice of medicine in Cleveland. I hold the position of demonstrator of medicine in the Western Reserve Medical College, and have a good deal of teaching to do. I am also assistant physician to the medical dispensary of Lakeside Hospital. I do a fair amount of research work, and at present am interesting myself with certain phases of the syphilis problem. I have written several editorials for the Cleveland Medical Journal, of which I am a collaborator. So far I have published one article, written with Dr. A. W. M. Ellis, of Toronto, Canada, entitled "A Study of So-Called Spontaneous Gangrene". I am very busy, interested in my work, and on the whole, content with what the ten years since graduation have brought me.

| Address | (home) Englewood, N. J.(business) 47 William St., New York City. |

When I left college I lived at home with my father, Cornelius DuBois, in New York City. I started work, September 1, 1901 as mail clerk with the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company. I contracted typhoid in December, 1901, and was therefore out of work until April 1, 1902, taking a short trip to Europe to recuperate. April 1, 1902, I started again as clerk in the office of Frank and DuBois, started by my father and his original partner in 1873. I found the work as an insurance broker very interesting and full of variety and opportunity for constant study and advancement. I joined Squadron A, a militia cavalry troop in New York and in the spring of 1903 went with that organization to St. Louis, where Eugene Pettus, H. McK. Jones, and C. W. Moore, all 1901, and Mallinckrodt, 1900, saw to it that I had one of the most enjoyable trips in my life. In January, 1903, I met my wife; we were married in November of the same year and moved to Englewood, N. J., a suburb of New York, where we have made many good friends. We had a small income but good prospects, and have lived simply but very happily. I became interested in reform politics. I was elected commissioner of appeals, to pass on tax assessments in 1904. I served as chairman of the Board of Health during 1908 and 1909. I was on the executive committee of the Republican County Committee of Bergen County, N. J., the same years, but resigned because I could not stomach the straight-party ticket I was expected to work for in 1909. July 1, 1909, I was taken into the firm of Frank and DuBois, and finances have been easier since then. We have decided to build in Englewood and make that town our permanent home. In 1906, I was one of seven men who started the City Club in Englewood, to work for civic betterment. My family are the most satisfactory crew imaginable. My two husky boys ought to help Harvard wallop Yale with the classes of 1925 and 1927. I hope my daughter eventually marries the son of one of my classmates. You can report me to the class as its most contented and happiest member.

William Mayo Dudley

William Mayo Dudley was born in New York City, June 30, 1877, the son of Anne Fellows and Henry Dudley, and prepared for college at Andover. After two years at Harvard, during which he became in regular course a member of the Polo Club, the D. K. E., and the Institute of 1770, he resigned from his class and shortly afterward married Miss Margaret Nicoll. For several years he studied the banking and brokerage business in Wall Street, on January 1, 1903, forming, with his elder brother, the stock exchange house of Dudley Brothers. On November 17, 1904, after a brief illness, he died of typhoid fever. While the shortness of his career at college did not allow sufficient time for a large number of his classmates to become intimate with him, those of us who had that privilege appreciated what a loss all suffered in the early death of a man astute in business, and second to none in its conception and execution, always cheerful and ready to help others by word, deed, and example, singularly pure-minded, and a lover of truth at whatever cost.

In reply to your request for information with regard to myself since graduation from college, I would state that for two years after graduation I was connected with the New England office of the David Williams Company, publishers of the Iron Age, and that since 1904 I have been in the insurance brokerage business at 27 Kilby Street, Boston, connected with the office of Thompson and Reed, insurance brokers. I have held no offices of profit, honor or trust, do not belong to any learned societies, have visited no foreign countries, and have written no books or articles.

The fall after graduation I entered the Harvard Medical School where I first learned what it meant to work all day and "grind" about all night. After a year of that I spent a summer abroad, the greater part of the time in Germany with Burnett, Talbot, '00, and Storrs, '96, all classmates at the medical school. Two years later, with two Indians I went down the Missanabie and Moose rivers to Hudson's Bay, seven hundred miles or more altogether, in a birch canoe. Following my graduation from the medical school in 1905 I was appointed medical house officer at the Massachusetts General Hospital, where I served a year and a half. Immediately after that I went abroad, by the way of the Azores, Madeira, and Algiers to Naples. I spent a month in Italy and then went to Vienna where I stayed nearly a year, industriously working in the laboratories and hospitals, with an occasional excursion to the eastern Alps or to little-known parts of Austria and Hungary. Leaving Vienna I travelled for a few weeks in Germany and then spent a month in Paris and a fortnight in London. During the summer of 1907 I practised medicine at Isle au Haut, Me., and in the fall opened an office in Boston, where I have been practising ever since, confining myself to internal medicine. As for offices, I have held none of "profit" from the financial point of view. I am a trustee of Berwick Academy, South Berwick, Me., and have held various offices in clubs and societies. I am assistant visiting physician to out-patients at the Massachusetts General Hospital and secretary of the out-patient staff, assistant visiting physician to Long Island Hospital and consulting physician to the Massachusetts Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary. I have written no books, and as the titles of the medical articles which I have published would hardly prove of absorbing interest to the class in general and might paralyze the type-setter with horror, I will not mention them. Member: University Club, Harvard Travellers' Club, Union Boat Club, Aesculapian Club, Junior Medical Review Club, Surgical Review Club, American Medical Association, Massachusetts Medical Society, Boston Society of Medical Sciences and the Boston Medical Library.

Since November, 1901, I have been engaged in construction, maintenance of way, and bridge construction at various points on the Illinois Central Railroad System; doing most of my work in Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana. On account of my work being in undeveloped country I have been unable to keep in touch with Harvard men through alumni clubs, as I have been able to attend but two meetings since leaving college. (at Chicago in 1902 and St. Louis in 1904). For this reason I have to depend largely upon the Bulletin for news of the outside world. At present I am handling concrete bridge construction in Mississippi.

I have been making illustrations most of the time. I have busted several small magazines by my bad illustrations, viz. Gunter's, the Circle, Putnam's, and many others long forgotten. Now I work for the Saturday Evening Post which makes very bad cuts from my very best drawings, but they can't bust. Everybody's, McClures, Collier's, etc., can not live without me. But I shine as an old maid artist. I do this stunt for Harper's Bazar and the Delineator. I began as a fashion artist. I held down a job for a month at Butterick's and was fired. I was told I was not good enough for a fashion plate man but would have to content myself with plain illustration. On the Lampoon I was not allowed many halftone pictures. Now I make them all the time. It's Heaven. I should advise all my class to become illustrators. Its the only way to get money without work. I have escaped bigamy, matrimony, and kindred ills. I must add that models are quite as stupid as any other tribe of women and much less dangerous. I hereby refuse to answer any more of the usual questions put to me generally about my over-worked employees. I'm a member of the Society of Illustrators and "The National Academy of Fakirs", an institution which holds an annual burlesque exhibition on the Academy Exhibition. I have held no offices, but have been offered a seat in the jury several times.

Returning east I went to work for the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, in North and South Dakota and in Minnesota. In 1903 I returned to Boston and worked three years for the Charles River Dam Commission. In the spring of 1906, I was sent to San Francisco for the Boston Society of Architects on relief work. I was also assistant city engineer, at Chico, Calif. Later I returned to Boston again and worked for the Boston Sewer Department. Since 1907, I have been employed by consulting engineers at Norwalk, Conn., Louisville, Ky., Niagara Falls, Ont., and Gloversville, N. Y. My work has been mostly on concrete construction. This spring I shall probably open an office for general engineering contracting. Member: Boston Society of Engineers, and Benevolent Protective Order of Elks.

I left college before graduation and went to work. I have been working and have been worked ever since. First I was with the Lothrop Publishing Company in the contract manufacturing department, then in the advertising department of the Success Magazine, New York. Then I did some more advertising—this time with the Hanlenbeek Advertising Agency of New York. About this time I thought I had better become a publisher, so I started in Boston as John S. Brooks and Company, (just a name which didn't show then in the Boston directory, and which I adopted for a business style) and gave to the yearning public "Stillman Gott" written by a Harvard man, Edwin D. Sibley—printed by a Harvard man at Herbert H. White's University Press, bound at Norman White's Boston Book Bindery. I never took economics in college so I didn't realize that with coal trying to get to $20 a ton people were not likely to be real keen to buy books—some did buy but not enough and I thought a travelling job for a school book house would be fine. The Morse Company of New York didn't then know how little I knew about schools, school books, or the books themselves; they began to discover all these things, but their courage was better than their judgment, and about the time I began to figure out that I'd like to live seven days in the week in a town called Boston and not hit all the high places and a lot of little low places all over New England, the Morse Company decided they had rather have the money than the firm, and so sold out their business. Back in Boston I lined the first job I saw and bumped into my present place. I was greener than grass as to credits but stuck it out, and—well, I guess this isn't an advertising sheet, so I won't say any more about the present position except to say it looked good enough to buy into the business.

Since leaving college, my work has been in connection with family interests, closely connected with mining and metallurgy. The first two years were devoted to further study; one year at Harvard, and one at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. During 1903 and 1904, I spent most of my time at numerous prospects and small mines scattered over the southern Appalachian states. In this work I appreciated and profited by association with our classmate, H. P. Henderson. In the winter of 1904 and 1905, I went to the Eustis Mine, just south of Sherbrooke, Province of Quebec, about which most of my work was centred for the next three and one-half years. Toward the end of this time, the superintendent went home to Scotland for a short vacation, and left me in temporary charge. Shortly after his return, he was killed in the mine, and the full care of the local management devolved upon me. I imagine I fully appreciated the responsibilities, but in any event, I enjoyed the work, and have no doubt that I profited by it. In 1908, my attention was directed to a smelting plant at Norfolk, Va., and I was relieved of my duties as superintendent at the mine, but have since been in close touch with the property. At Norfolk the work was largely in the line of operating and enlarging a rapidly growing plant, and presented problems entirely different from any I had met at the mine. Needless to say, this was more than interesting for me, but perhaps not for the enterprise. Associated with this engineering work, there has been the opportunity to make many visits to various parts of the country. I have travelled over the eastern section so constantly, that my friends think of me as never at home. In these little trips I have appreciated highly the privilege of visiting informally friends in various cities. If these friends could realize the pleasure that they have given me, I have no doubt they would be largely repaid for their pains. Among the longer trips, I recall with particular pleasure those with the American Institute of Mining Engineers to Mexico, the Great Lakes and the Isthmus of Panama. I am glad to say that I am as fond of out-of-door life as ever. My recreation has been in yachting and tennis in the summer, and horseback riding and skating in the winter. I have made trips along the coast of Maine, in large and small boats, almost every summer until the last, when I joined George Dabney and George Nichols, bought the sonder boat "Beaver", and entered her in the trial races to select three boats to go to Germany. We were successful in the races, and were awarded the Chonter Cup, which while gratifying in itself, unfortunately means that I shall have to miss the Class Reunion. Member: Harvard Union, Tennis and Racquet Club, Technology Club, City Club, Exchange Club, and Beverly Yacht Club, Boston Athletic Association, American Institute of Mining Engineers, Canadian Mining Institute, National Geographic Society, American Electrochemical Society, Massachusetts Fish and Game Protective Society, Boston Chamber of Commerce, and the American Forestry Association.

The first two years after leaving college, I continued my studies in engineering, registering in the Harvard Graduate School for both years, and also as a special at Massachusetts Institute of Technology during the second year. In the fall of 1903, I entered my father's office, with which I have been connected ever since. The work of this office is chiefly the management of properties owned partly, or wholly by the family. The properties comprise mines, reduction works and water powers. In 1903 I formed a partnership with Henry S. Thompson, Harvard, '99, under the name of Eustis and Thompson, for the purpose of investigating in, managing and exploiting water powers. After marrying in the fall of 1908, I took my bride on the longest journey I have made, which carried us around the world, and enabled us to visit Japan, China, the Philippines, Strait Settlements, India and Ceylon, and gave us a few weeks to rest in Europe before I returned to work after nine months' vacation. I have also visited Canada, Mexico, England, France, Switzerland, Italy, and Germany. Member: American Institute of Mining Engineers, Harvard Union, Harvard Club of New York, Tennis and Racquet Club of Boston, Exchange Club of Boston, City Club of Boston (Central St.), Brookline Country Club, Hoosic Whisic Club, and Beverly Yacht Club.

Evans and Company in the capacity of city salesman, and then of tea and coffee buyer, until the present time. 1906, married Miss Elmira Lee of St. Louis and visited Cuba on my wedding trip. 1909, took a trip to California and spent the best part of four months on Catalina Island which my wife and I explored thoroughly. I have kept up my interest in rowing with the Century and Mound City boat clubs, of St. Louis, having been able to improve local rowing conditions considerably from my knowledge and experience in that sport gained at Harvard. I have been a member of several crews holding local championships and have twice taken part in the National Regatta as a member of the St. Louis crews. I was fortunate enough to secure the services of James Wray, present rowing coach of Harvard University for the Mound City Rowing Club of St. Louis during the summers of 1909 and 1910. I passed through Boston and visited Cambridge in the summer of 1903. I have been unable to return since then but look forward to another opportunity, which I trust will come in the near future.

Nelson Fairchild

Nelson Fairchild was the son of Charles Fairchild, of Boston and New York, and was born September 22, 1879. He prepared for college at Noble and Greenough's school in Boston, and received the degree of A.B. at Harvard in 1901. He was a member of the A. D., D. K. E., Hasty Pudding, Institute of 1770, Phi Delta Psi, Signet, and Fencing clubs. While he took no serious part in athletics, he was one of the most widely known men in the class, and what was perhaps most conspicuous in his life at Cambridge was his capacity for making and keeping friends. After leaving college he travelled in Europe, going east as far as Constantinople. On his return he entered his father's office, that of Charles Fairchild and Company, bankers and brokers, of New York City, where he worked for five years. During this time he still kept up his keen interest in Harvard matters, and was a member of the Committee on Admissions of the Harvard Club. Here again, as in college, his frank and sociable personality helped to make life pleasanter for his club-mates, especially for the recent graduates who came to New York City to take up their work. In the summer of 1906 he received an appointment to go to Mukden, Manchuria, as vice consul-general, on the first mission sent by the United States to that place. From his college days he had always been deeply interested in the Far Eastern question, and he seized with enthusiasm this chance to be in Manchuria at the critical period following the Russo-Japanese war. His journey to China through Russia and over the Trans-Siberian railroad, and the few months of his work in Manchuria, are told with the most vivid color and humor in his letters home, which were privately printed. On the 16th of December, 1906, he died at Mukden by the accidental discharge of a pistol, cutting short a career of greatest promise. He was buried in the little foreign graveyard at Newchwang, not far from Port Arthur. To his most intimate friends his personality is inseparably linked with their dearest memories of college, and all who knew him will remember him as the most delightful companion, the truest friend. In his death the class lost one of its best members.

"When we are dead, seek for our resting-place,
Not in the earth, but in the hearts of men."

Upon leaving college, I entered the leather business of my father, August Falker, Syracuse, N. Y., where I remained until May 1, 1910. At that time, having actively conducted the business after the death of my father, I sold it to a stock company. In 1908, I organized another company, known as the Falker Art Leather Company, for the purpose of manufacturing automobile upholstery leather. This corporation is still in existence, and I devote part of my time to its management. I have also opened an office for the purpose of buying and selling real estate, mortgages, high grade investments, etc., and to this part of my interests, I give most of my attention. I have been rather active in politics. I belong to the Republican party, but have held no office, having contented myself with a connection in the direction of party affairs. I have not visited any foreign countries nor written any articles for publication except occasionally for the local press.

I went to the Harvard Law School in my senior year and graduated from the law school in 1903. I engaged in the legal profession from August, 1903, to September, 1904, in the city of New York. Then I drifted into other occupations and came to Cleveland, in December, 1904. I have since been connected with the Joseph and Feiss Company, the oldest concern in the country in the manufacture of men's and young men's clothing. In 1908 I became partner and general manager of their factory. I have for the past five years devoted all my time to the organizing and developing both mechanically and socially this large and interesting industry.

Atilio Lawrence De Ferrari

Atilio Lawrence De Ferrari was born in Boston, Mass., on January 6, 1873. He was the son of Giovanni Battista and Caterina De Ferrai. He graduated from the Eliot Grammar School and then took a business course at Comer's Commercial College. He then engaged in business with his father for several years. Although successful in business, he wished to make the study of law his profession, and entered Fordham College, N. Y., with this end in view. While there he played baseball and football, was captain of his freshman baseball team, and vice-president of the College Athletic Association. In 1897 he tutored and entered Harvard College in 1898. Within a few months he was ill with typhoid fever and compelled to give up his studies and travel. He never returned to college. He died on May 30, 1902.

Upon leaving college in 1899, I entered the employ of the Old Colony Street Railway Company, as private secretary to one of the division managers. This position I held two years. During this time I took the examinations for observer in the United States Weather Bureau, and received my appointment in June, 1901. My first assignment was to Columbus, O., where I remained thirteen months. While at that station I was sent to Parkersburg, W. Va., for one month's temporary duty. My recollections of the latter town are distinct and unpleasant. It may not have been the last place made but it was in the last lot of places anyway. As the climate of Ohio did not seem to agree with my constitution I persuaded the "powers higher up" to transfer me to New Haven, Conn. Although this town is the very heart of the enemy's country yet I do not wish to be considered a traitor in declaring it a very nice place to reside. I became acquainted with several sons of Eli and to my surprise I found them at close quarters almost human. Of course they have not that superior manly beauty of the sons of John (meaning John Harvard, not John the Orangeman) yet one could easily see that they were inhabitants of the same planet. Unfortunately I only remained in New Haven till March, 1903, when to my disgust and regret I was transferred to Philadelphia, Pa. Both disgust and regret increased with every day's stay in the latter burg. The only good thing in the city is the colonial express for Boston. In Philadelphia I dragged out a colorless and an unhappy existence till September, 1904, when to my delight I was ordered back to New England, and this time nearer the centre of civilization. (Of course by that I mean Boston, which is the "hub of the universe" the "Athens of America", the "Centre of Culture", and last but not least, the home of the humble baked bean and the sacred codfish). I was sent to Providence, R. I., and have remained here ever since and hope to continue my residence here. By a happy combination of circumstances I have lived in the classic halls of Brown University ever since my arrival in Providence. The location and environment are eminently satisfactory. At times I have written articles about "weather" for the newspapers and have lectured a few times before different societies on the same subject, but in general my life is not very prominent. Member: Harvard Club of Rhode Island and Sons of the American Revolution.

I spent seven years after graduation in New York City with the Lewando Company. I joined the Harvard Club of New York. I secured the solo baritone position in All Angels' Church, West End Avenue and 81st Street, which position I held until my return to Boston, three years ago. I am now office manager for Lewando's, cleansers and dyers, at 286 Boylston Street, Boston. Since coming here my only club activities have been at the Corinthian Yacht Club, Marblehead, where I have joined the piazza brigade. I am not married nor does there seem to be any chance of it right away.

After graduation I spent a year at research in chemistry in the Harvard Graduate School. Then seven years as a cotton broker in Boston followed. During this period I married and settled in Cambridge. While living in Cambridge the sights and smells of the chemical laboratory became too great a temptation to be resisted, so I threw up my job in Boston, and since then have enjoyed myself doing research and teaching chemistry, "far from the madding crowd". I have held no positions of honor or trust during this period. I have been a police officer of the town of Weston. My political leaning is toward the Republican party, and I believe in a protective tariff for New England industries.

The two years following graduation I spent in Washington, D. C., in graduate study at the Catholic University of America. At the end of this period I returned to Harvard for one year in the graduate school, and in 1904, received the degree of A.M., for work done mainly in the history of the fine arts.

I then went abroad for two years, during which period my time was devoted principally to further study of art and archaeology, and to travel. These interests took me to Italy, Sicily, Greece, Constantinople, France and England. Since my return, in the autumn of 1906, I have been assistant and instructor in the department of fine arts at Harvard. I taught in the summer school of 1907, and at its close went to Europe for the remainder of the vacation. In the summer of 1908 I revisited France and England with Mrs. Fitzpatrick.

Hiram Nye Fobes

Hiram Nye Fobes was born August 8, 1876, the son of Hiram Fobes and Celia Elizabeth Brayton, of Oakham, Mass. His family is one of the oldest among the settlers of Massachusetts. He entered Harvard College in the fall of 1897 and graduated in 1901 as Bachelor of Arts, "cum laude." He was a candidate for his class crew in freshman year, and for his class football team in sophomore year. He also took some part in track athletics. He was in 1900 one of the fifty strongest men in the University. He was a member of the Freshman Debating Club and of the Pi Eta Society. After graduation he spent one year studying in the Harvard Medical School. In the fall of 1902 he entered the medical school of Johns Hopkins University but on account of ill health was obliged to give up his studies there in a few months. He died at his father's home in Worcester, Mass., on March 8, 1905, never having been able on account of ill-health to resume his work.

From 1899 to 1901 I taught at St. Austin's School, West New Brighton, N. Y., and the next year at Trinity Hall, Washington, Pa. From 1902 to 1904 I was a draughtsman with Burdett-Rowntree Manufacturing Company, Chicago and New York. The two years following I was occupied as a farmer at Easthampton, Mass. Since then I have been a draughtsman with the A. B. See Electric Elevator Company. The following is a partial list of the different kinds of work I have done at odd times since leaving college, for longer or shorter periods: drug clerk, printer, plumber, glazier, farm hand, waiter, book agent, draughtsman, surveyor, teacher in a country school, and a wood chopper.

Like a good many others in the class, I entered the Law School in our senior year, and received my LL.B. in 1903. I spent the summer of 1903 in Maryland, and came to Seattle in October, 1903, where I have since remained, except for my trip east for our Sexennial. I was admitted to the bar of the State and Federal Courts in January, 1904, and on September 1, 1908, I formed a partnership with J. H. Ballinger, under the name of Force and Ballinger. The only public office I have held is notary public. I have taken part in politics, and have twice been inspector in charge of the voting in my precinct, as well as delegate to Republican city and county conventions. I have been a vestryman and clerk of the vestry of St. Mark's Church since Easter, 1909. Member: University Club, College Club, Harvard Club of Seattle, Athletic Club, Tennis Club, and O. B. C. My only journeys to foreign lands have been short business trips across the line to Victoria and Vancouver, B. C.

Having been compelled financially, because of my father's mental collapse, to leave college at the end of my junior year, I became a typewriter in the claim department of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company. After a few months I was sent out from the main office as investigator. From experience thus obtained came my promotion to assistant claim agent of the East New York division. I next accepted a position as collector in the East Houston Street (Manhattan) office of the real estate firm of McVickar and Company, which I later resigned to become salesman for the real estate firm of C. E. Harrell, Fifth Avenue and Twentieth Street, New York City. Becoming interested in the advertising business through a friend, an artist on the staff of the Dry Goods Economist, I studied advertisement construction under Elmer Helmes, formerly advertising manager of the New York store of John Wanamaker, and then became assistant to Mr. Meister, advertising manager for the Siegel-Cooper Company, of New York. A short time afterwards, hearing of the large commissions paid to advertising solicitors, I obtained that position on the staff of the American Queen, a woman's monthly magazine published at Union Square, New York. They must have suddenly stopped paying those large commissions. I don't believe everything I hear now. While on a visit to my home, I met the general manager of the Erie City Iron Works, and he offered me a position in an eastern branch of the sales department, which I accepted. Soon after I returned to Erie to obtain practical experience in the machine shop, boiler shop, and draughting office of the firm, in order to learn the details of the manufacture of steam engines and boilers. After over two years of this shop work I decided to have a business of my own, and started the manufacture of mother-of-pearl novelties, with F. E. Thompson, as Forman and Thompson, later buying out my partner and continuing the business as R. F. Forman and Company. I received an offer from the Phoenix Pearl Works to buy me out, and accordingly, as the business depression then growing made sales fall off sold out to them and went to a large cattle ranch on the Sweetwater river, in the southern central part of Wyoming. For the past year I have sold bonds and stocks as the local correspondent for the New York banking firm of Spencer, Trask and Company. Member: Erie Club, Kahkwa Club, Erie Motor Club, Erie Golf Club, Erie Yacht Club, Erie Board of Trade. I have been in Canada on yacht cruises and "auto" trips, but have travelled little, and have seen no other foreign country. I have never written for publication.

After leaving college I accepted a position as assayer and surveyor in a mine at Nova Scotia, Canada. In 1905 I was associated with a graphite mining company, in the capacity of superintendent at their mines in Sonora, Mexico. For the last three years I have been general superintendent of the Tiger Gold Company's mines in Yavapai County, Ariz. Member: Aleman Club, Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico; Harvard Club of Arizona; Yavapai Club, Prescott, Ariz., Ross Club, Williamsport, Pa.

| Business | Manufacturer. |
| Address | (home) 209 East Chestnut St., Chicago, Ill. (business) 150 Michigan Boulevard, Chicago, Ill. |

On leave of absence from college in the winter of 1900-1901, I accompanied my father to Mexico. Since my father's death, in August, 1904, I have gone annually to Mexico to look after the interests of his estate. As trustee of his estate, I am now director of Almacenes Generales de Deposito de Mexico y Veracruz, S. A., a Mexican enterprise with headquarters in Mexico City. In June, 1901, I returned to Cambridge for my degree. In July I accepted a position as chemist of the South Chicago Furnace Company, at Irondale, Ill., where I remained one year. In the fall of 1902 I became a blast furnace "cub" at the south works of the Illinois Steel Company, at South Chicago, Ill. I remained there about eight months. In the following spring my furnace exploded, and during the rebuilding I was laid off. Shortly afterwards I became employed in the operating department of North Shore Consolidated Gas Company, at Waukegan, Ill., where I remained for about a year, trying to master every department in the manufacture of illuminating gas. In the spring of 1904 I left my position at the works, in order to take up special franchise work in the interests of the company. In the summer of 1904 I was elected vice-president of the North Shore Consolidated Gas Company. In August, 1904, my father died, and I then took charge of his office as executor and trustee of his estate, and as such, I became president of the United States Silica Company, and the Chicago, Waukegan, and North Shore Railroad Company. On January 27, 1908, my wife died, and since that my daughter and I have been living at 209 East Chestnut Street, Chicago, Ill. in the winter, and at Onwentsia Club, Lake Forest, Ill. during the summer. I am now director of Monroe National Bank, of Chicago; North Shore Consolidated Gas Company, Waukegan, Ill.; Palestine Light, Heat and Power Company, Palestine, Texas; National Business League of America. Member: Onwentsia Club, Lake Forest, Ill.; University Club, Chicago; Mayflower Decendants, Colonial Wars, and Holland Society.

I taught for two years at Bates College, and then spent a year in graduate study at Harvard, the following year teaching at Bowdoin College. That year they were good enough to elect me to a professorship. I gave some courses in English literature, argumentation and debating. Meantime I was one of the founders of Long Lake Lodge, a summer school for boys. Another summer I spent in Europe, another as registrar of Bowdoin College, another writing a book on "Argumentation and Debating", which Houghton, Mifflin Company published, another as lecturer on the principles of education at Harvard, another as lecturer on educational administration at Columbia. I have written a few articles for Science, The Nation, Educational Review, School Review, etc. A book of mine on the "Administration of the College Curriculum", and another on the "Essentials of Exposition and Argument" are now being published by Houghton, Mifflin Company. I have edited texts for this house and for other publishers. Last year I had a fellowship in education at Columbia University, gave lectures in administration, and took a Ph.D. degree. Then for about six months, I went all over the United States for the purpose of visiting about one hundred universities and colleges. At the end of my travels, I came to Portland, Ore., to help establish a college—and here I am. These are a few cold facts in the life of a school teacher, but it would take a volume to tell all the fun. And there is more coming! I plan to be with you at the Decennial.

From 1901 to 1904 I was in the wholesale and retail fur trade in New York and Boston. Then I entered the Boston Normal School, receiving a certificate in 1905. In the fall of 1906 I entered the service of the Boston public schools. In May, 1907, I was appointed to the High School of Commerce as a special assistant. I was made an instructor in September, 1910. I have taught English, German, bookkeeping, typewriting, and phonography. I have taught also in the East Boston and South Boston evening high schools since 1906.

I left college in June, 1900, with enough courses to my credit to entitle me to an A.B. degree so I entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons (Columbia) in the fall of 1900. There I found a very fair sprinkling of Harvard men among the fellows. I spent the summer of 1901 in the Adirondacks, in the field service of the division of forestry, United States Department of Agriculture. The summer of 1902 I passed as purser on the steamer North Star, running between New York and Portland, Me. In the fall of 1902 I received an appointment to the pathological department of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, with residence on Blackwell's Island, serving under the title of Pathologist on the Alms House Staff. In June, 1904, I received the degree of M.D. and came south to begin practice in Jacksonville, Fla., as assistant to Dr. Sollace Mitchell, '83. I received appointment in 1904 as local surgeon for the Florida East Coast Railway, at Jacksonville, which position I resigned in 1910. I have served continuously since 1905 on the staff of St. Luke's Hospital, Jacksonville, and have been lecturer in the training school since 1907. I was appointed obstetrician to the hospital for the year 1908-1909, and at the time of reorganization of the staff, in 1909, I was appointed physician to the hospital for three years. In 1909 I helped organize the Harvard Club of Florida, and was elected its president. At the annual meeting, in November, 1910, I was reëlected to the presidency. I have written papers on various medical subjects which were read before the County Medical Society. Member: American Medical Association, Jacksonville Board of Trade, and various local organizations.

I was in Harvard Law School during college years 1900-1903; during the years 1901-1902 and 1902-1903 I was editor of the Harvard Law Review; I was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in August, 1902; during the years 1902-1903 I was an assistant in English at Harvard College, having partial charge, under Dean Briggs, of English 22. I taught the subject of bankruptcy in the Law School of the University of Chicago during the summer quarter of 1903. I entered the office of Richardson, Herrick and Neave, 84 State Street, Boston, Mass., in February, 1904, and during that year, and for six years, I lectured at Boston University Law School on conflict of laws; during the years 1905-1908 I also lectured at that school, on corporations. In November, 1905, I entered the office of Saltonstall, Dodge and Carter, at 60 State Street, Boston. The years from 1907-1910 I lectured on criminal law at Harvard Law School. During the spring quarter of 1908, I lectured on conflict of laws and criminal law at the University of Chicago Law School. In October, 1909, I became a member of the firm of Saltonstall, Dodge and Carter. In May, 1910, that firm was dissolved, and I removed to New York City, where I am now practising law, as eastern attorney of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Company. Member: Bar Association of the City of Boston, Massachusetts State Bar Association and member of its committee on legal education; Exchange Club of Boston, Harvard Club of Boston, Harvard Club of New York, Railroad Club of New York, Association of the Bar of the City of New York. I joined the class of 1901 in the sophomore year. After graduating from Harvard College, I spent three years in the Rochester Theological Seminary, Rochester, N. Y. In January, 1905, at Rumford Falls, Me., I was ordained, and after a pastorate of over two years there, I went to the First Baptist Church of Skowhegan, Me., as pastor. At present I am minister of the First Baptist Church at Manchester-by-the-sea, Mass. I have been president of the Young People's Convention in the state of Maine. I have written articles for Zion's Advocate, published in Portland, Me.; I have also been a regular contributor to the Wellspring, published by the Congregational House. The fall after graduating from Harvard I attended the Pan-American Exposition, in Buffalo, and was there the day President McKinley was shot, (and saw him removed from the grounds). I attended the World's Sixth Sunday School Convention, held in Washington in 1910.

The first year after graduation I taught in a school for boys at Newport, R. I. Then I entered the law school at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., from which I graduated in two years, having in that time completed the three year course—through the aid of a clever tutor and infernal drudgery. For the next year I was a clerk in the law office of Hayes, Williams and Baker, 70 State Street, Boston. I then went to Wisconsin, and practised "under my own name" for four years. I returned to Boston two years ago and have an office in the Exchange Building. Of foreign countries I have visited since graduation only Canada and the "middle west", to me the most beautiful and inspiring part of the latter is the Dearborn Street Station, Chicago, where you can board a train whose engine is pointed eastward. I don't know why more is not made of that old station; I do not recall meeting one person in the west who appreciated it. While in the middle west, however, I ran into a good deal that was "new and strange", tried cases for Oneida Indians, eke those of the Menominee and the Chippewa tribes, beheld lumberjacks at their work and other peoples, and met half breeds of more than one nationality, to say nothing of more than one tint. And, from this conglomerate mass, I got a good deal of detail and suggestion, to me so interesting that I have been writing short stories from it for the past four years. These stories have been, and are being, published in twenty-five different magazines, from the American Magazine down. Of the sixty stories I have managed to get past editors, I am going to collect what strikes me as being least trying to the public, and bring them out in book form—when I can find the right publishing house for my purposes. I am just completing a 300 page novel on Spain and Portugal, which novel will undoubtedly be brought out by the same house which fathers the short stories aforesaid, and those to come. Getting back after five years, I see very little change in 1901. Some of the fellows who had no hair on their faces when I left, now have beards, and some who had a lot of hair on their heads, now have—over-developed foreheads; and some of us take up more space in trolley cars, than we used to need. But the men are the same, and one of my most vivid and continuous pleasures in getting back is that 1901 are here! Member: National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C., Union Boat Club, Harvard Club of Boston.

After graduation I entered business with my father, of the firm of T. H. Gray and Company, manufacturers of wool fibre. In 1907 I became interested in the Associated Charities of Boston, and in 1909 became one of the vice-presidents of the South Boston Conference. In 1908 I travelled for pleasure through the southwest, touching Mexico, and went as far west as California. In 1911 I became secretary of the newly formed Walpole Board of Trade. In 1907 I joined the newly organized Troop B, M. V. M. Cavalry, remaining until April, 1909, when I received an honorary discharge. Member: Harvard Club of Boston.

After graduation I took charge of my father's estate. I also travelled in Ireland, England, France, and Cuba. In 1904 I entered the employ of a brokerage firm, but being married in 1905, I determined to go to work. The firm subsequently failed. In the fall of 1905 I bought an interest in the Macdonald and Kiley Company, manufacturers of men's shoes, of which company I am treasurer. My brother T. H. Graydon, Harvard, '03, is associated with me. My published writings are confined to advertising pages, which pages I trust are of great interest to wearers of shoes. Member: Queen City Club, Cincinnati Country Club, Cincinnati Golf Club, Harvard Club of Cincinnati, Harvard Club of New York, Chagrin Valley Hunt Club.

After graduation I remained a year in the graduate school, taking courses in economics, international law and Spanish, with a view to entering the foreign service of the government. During that year I acted as editor of the Harvard Bulletin. In July, 1902, I secured employment as clerk in the American Legation at Petropolis, Brazil, and after serving there six months was transferred to the consulate general at Rio de Janeiro as deputy consul general. At the outbreak of the Russo-Japanese war, in 1904, I was transferred to Japan, where I served as vice consul at Nagasaki, and later at Kobe. At the close of the war I was sent to Vladivostok, Siberia, as commercial agent of the United States, arriving there just in time for the riots which followed the constitutional changes in Russia. A considerable part of the town was burned by the mutinous troops acting with the mob, and the hotel where I was staying was also destroyed with most of my baggage. I was appointed consul in 1906, and transferred in the summer of 1907 to Dalny, the port of the Japanese leased territory in Manchuria, and the terminus of their South Manchurian Railway. In February, 1909, I was moved to Harbin in North Manchuria, the headquarters of the Chinese Eastern Railway, and the centre of Russian influence in this region. I shall probably remain here for some time, and I hope that any 1901 men travelling by the Trans-Siberian railway will let me know in advance, as Harbin is one of the most important stations on the route, where passengers often have to wait several hours, during which time I could show them a good deal. I have written nothing for publication except consular trade reports, which have not been of a nature to interest the general public. Member: American Society of International Law, American Academy of Political and Social Science, Harvard Union, Harvard Club of New York.

I graduated from the Harvard Law School in June, 1905. In February, 1906, I became law clerk and assistant to Hon. W. Cameron Forbes, secretary of commerce and police, Philippines Government. On November 15, 1907, I became secretary of the Board of Rate Regulation, and on May 1, 1909, assistant to the director of public works. On February 3, 1910, I became assistant director of public works, and on July 1, 1910, director of public works. I have general charge of the construction and maintenance of public works in the Philippine Islands (except in city limits of Manila), including road and bridge construction, irrigation, buildings, artesian wells, and water supply systems, on which the Philippines Government spends annually between four and five million dollars, United States currency.

My life since leaving college has been more or less uneventful. I graduated from the Boston University Law School with the class of 1903. The faculty was good enough to give me honorable mention, and the fellows elected me class president. Since 1903 I have had a law office at 84 State Street, Boston, and to aid in the art of making a living, I have a farm in Peabody, Mass., on which there is a pig ranch. At the present time I have 2600 head of big hogs and little hogs. When I have money to pay my hotel bills, I live at the Parker House, Boston; the balance of the time I keep "bach" in a bungalow on my farm.

Immediately after graduation I accepted a position in the engineering department of the Chicago, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, with offices at Burlington, Ia. In January, 1902, after recovering from a severe illness, I came east. The following May, I became connected with the Bethlehem Steel Company, specializing in nickel steel. I travelled for this company until August, 1903, when I severed my connection to go into the real estate business in Toledo, O. I have been in this business ever since, and am at present vice-president of the Irving B. Hiett Company, which operates the largest real estate office in the city, develops a great deal of new property, and also does an extensive business in building, loans and insurance. I am also vice-president of the James Melvin Company, retailers of men's and boys' clothing, the oldest, and one of the largest, clothing houses in Toledo. He went to Borneo in July, 1909, to accept a position as superintendent with the Malaysian Rubber Company. He had previously had two years' experience in Mexico, and three years' in New York in the handling and preparation of crude rubber. At that time he gave an interesting account of the voyage across the Pacific, in which he met Harvard men on the steamer, among whom were some Japanese. Two days out from Honolulu they heard by wireless of Harvard's victories at New London. The Japanese on board sent a wireless message to Yokohama, to get up a Harvard dinner on the arrival of the party in Japan. He is now engaged in growing rubber and manufacturing it in a mill which he established. The company does also a general business. Roger S. Hardy may always be reached through Alpheus H. In September, 1901, I was appointed teacher of Latin and Greek in the Colored High School, Baltimore. Besides the Latin work, I had classes in economics, ethics, and psychology. Confined in the following year more closely to language work, I took up the study of colloquial German at the local Berlitz School, and a teacher's course in Latin at Johns Hopkins University. In the summer of 1903 I matriculated at the Columbia Summer School for the degree of master of arts. Courses in Latin and German formed the chief part of my work during this and the summer of 1904. After an intermission of three summers, I resumed the work for the master's degree, the emphasis now being put upon the study of education. All the requirements for the degree were completed by the close of August, 1909, with the exception of the master's essay. The essay, "The Educational Facilities for Negroes in the South", was submitted during the summer of 1910, and in October of the same year, I received the degree of master of arts. I was made head of the department of foreign languages in the Colored High School in 1906, acting vice-principal in February, 1909; and in November, 1909, I was made principal. This school has a corps of twenty-eight teachers, and between five hundred and six hundred pupils. I am actively engaged in a number of charitable and scientific organizations. In Education for November, 1910, I had an article on " Vocational Education".

Here is my dramatic story: Three years of dyspepsia due to too many "nine o'clocks" plus Memorial Hall eggs. During these three years I visited England, France, and Canada, and the offices of many M.D.'s of many minds. I spent a year in a gilded cage in a wall paper house (as cashier). I got my cash balanced correctly three times, and consequently drew my whole ten dollars three times in that one year alone. My preparation for this triumph was a four-years' condition in some kind of geometry, and a flunk in plain and fancy trig. Then came Europe, then Cupid, then the advertising business—with but little of the business part, then a year of alleged management of three retail drug stores. By this time dyspepsia had conquered the doctors and left me. So I found my level in job, reporting for the F. W. Dodge Company of Boston, New York, and elsewhere. Since then (the fall of 1905), I have managed the Chicago city news department for the above company, and now represent them in Wisconsin and Minnesota. My writings to date consist only of a few special articles for the Boston Transcript, and a few songs, and piano and orchestral pieces. Of the music, none that I am not ashamed of has been published, so I'll omit titles. But then, none has been rejected more than six times!

After a year in the Harvard Graduate School, I spent the summer of 1902 in England and on the continent. I then returned to Cambridge as instructor in mining for one year. In 1903 I went west, and after spending some time in various mining camps settled in Tonopah, Nev., where I took a job as miner underground, and worked through various kinds of underground jobs, assaying, surveying, railroad location and construction, etc., to the position of engineer of the Tonopah Mining Company. In 1904 I went to South Carolina as superintendent of some small gold mines, and later spent several months in exploration for gold properties through the south. In 1905 I went to Canada as assistant superintendent of a copper mine, and a year later returned to Tonopah, Nev., as mining engineer and geologist for the Tonopah Mining Company, Tonopah Belmont Development Company, and Jim Butler Tonopah Mining Company. After several months I was appointed superintendent of the last two mines. In 1908 I went to Goldfield, Nev., and early in 1909 I was appointed general superintendent of the Goldfield Consolidated Mines Company. Recently I have been doing consulting work in the east. At various times I have conducted mine examinations in the western and southern states and Canada. Member: American Institute of Mining Engineers, New York Harvard Club.

| Business | Mining engineer. |
| Address | Apartado 49, Guanajuato, Mexico. |

After graduation I obtained a position as superintendent in charge of some development work at a copper mine in the State of Chihuahua, Mexico. I remained there a year, going from there to Guanajuato, Mexico, with the Cube Mining and Milling Company, operated by the same company. Here I remained until the summer of 1905, occupying various positions from engineer up to superintendent. During this period I made a trip to Boston in the winter of 1903-1904 and brought back a wife. In 1905 I took a position as engineer with the Montezuma Copper Company, at Nacozari, Mexico. I remained there only a few weeks, and thence I went to Costa Rica, taking my family with me. The property in Costa Rica turned out to be a complete bubble, and in a few months I was again back in the United States. I was next sent to Stent, Calif., to take charge of a gold mine and erect a stamp mill. Here, in a small miners' hotel, I found for my neighbor across the hall our good friend Listner, who was building a railroad from Jamestown to the Yosemite Valley. The next few years were spent principally in making examinations through the western states, in Nicaragua, and Costa Rica. At the beginning of 1910 I returned to Guanajuato, to the same property I left in 1905. At present I am general superintendent of the Cube Mining and Milling Company. The property is increasing steadily in importance among the producers of the Guanajuato district. At present it produces two hundred tons of ore per day, which we intend to increase in a few months to two hundred and fifty tons. The present indication is that I shall remain here some time. Member: American Institute of Mining Engineers.

| Address | 44 Buckingham St., Springfield, Mass. |

In the fall of 1901 I entered the junior class of the General Theological Seminary, Chelsea Square, New York City, and completed my theological course in three years, graduating in May, 1904. I was ordained deacon May 27, 1904, in All Saints Church, Worcester. Then I moved to Springfield and took up work here as curate in St. Peter's Church, and as minister-in-charge of St. Andrew's Mission, Ludlow. On June 18, 1905, I was ordained priest. On November 30, 1905, St. Andrew's, Ludlow, which had been building a place of worship, occupied its church for the first time. In January, 1908, I severed my connection with St. Peter's, and took charge of a new mission in Springfield, which later became All Saints, named after the old church in the English Springfield. In the summer of 1908 I visited England. I was a delegate to the Pan-Anglican Congress in London, and preached in the Springfield church, bringing home a stone from the old church. Then we began building our All Saints here, and opened it for worship on January 23, 1909. The church is designed after the English church. The founder of our city was warden of this old church. I severed my connection with St. Andrew's, Ludlow, in November, 1909. In April, 1910, the bishop of the diocese appointed me his chaplain.

William Hill

William Hill was born December 14, 1878. He was the son of Margaret and David J. Hill of Cambridge, Mass. He prepared for college at the Cambridge Latin School. He entered Harvard College in the fall of 1897, and received the degree of A.B. in 1901, although he had completed all the courses necessary in February in 1900. He selected his courses with the idea of fitting himself for the career of a teacher, and his undergraduate life was essentially that of a student. After graduation he taught in the government school in the Philippine Islands for one year. At the end of this time ill-health forced him to return to his home. He took up reporting and became attached to the staff of the Boston Record. After gaining considerable valuable experience in this way, he resigned to accept a position in the Naturalization Bureau, which position he held until his death. He was killed in a railway accident on January 4, 1909, at South Manchester, Conn.

The fall after graduation I took up work in the Manual Training High School, Kansas City, Mo., where I have been ever since. Some of the articles I have had published are: twelve articles on "Lessons in Geography for the Grades." "Psychology of Most Worth to Teachers." "Field Work in Physical Geography." "Ethics of the High School Teacher." "The Relation of Physical Geography in the High School to the Geography of the Grades." I have many other articles in preparation. My vacations are now devoted to developing a five-acre fruit, garden, chicken, turkey, guinea, duck, goose, pigeon, and rabbit farm, one mile east of Snope Park, the great thirteen hundred acre public park of Kansas City. My wife and little daughter are enthusiastic and valuable assistants in school, home, and farm work.

After graduation I entered the shops of the United Shoe Machinery Company, to acquire more practical, mechanical knowledge. Then I took up the design of automatic machinery for the same company, and after that accepted a position as designing engineer for the Kidder Press Company, Dover, N. H., remaining with them until 1906, when I became chief draughtsman for George P. Clark Company, Windsor Locks, Conn. The following year I returned to my former position with the Kidder Press Company, where I am at the present time. I haven't performed any wonders of particular note. Most of my spare time is spent with my family. I have two boys, who, if they keep on growing at the rate they have started, will, in a few years, be able to give some Yale man a good rub. Perhaps we can win a football game from Yale then, if we are not successful before that time.

Since graduation I have taken three summer courses at Harvard: botany, Virgil, history of education; also one-half course in German conversation and writing, under Professor Bierwirth. In the spring of 1907 I passed the examination in mathematics for a Boston high school teacher's certificate. In the summers of 1909 and 1910 I taught the six weeks' term in the Boston Summer High School, in the Roxbury High School building. I have been considered for an assistant's position in two of the Boston high schools, but preferred to remain in my own home school, where the classes were mixed, and where I was assured of college-fitting work, in which I have been engaged since graduation. The following subjects constitute my weekly routine of class work: first year Greek, review algebra, plane and solid geometry, second year German, advanced Latin. My fellow classmates may be interested to know that in all but Greek, I have each year from two to twelve taking the Harvard and Radcliffe examinations. In this way I am trying to serve my Alma Mater to the best of my ability.

| Children | Harris Winchester Howe, Jan. 1, 1909. |
| Business | Clergyman. |
| Address | 39 Franklin St., So. Framingham, Mass. |

I joined the class of 1901 in the sophomore year. My first year after graduation from college was spent as a student at the Rochester Theological Seminary, Rochester, N. Y. The summer of 1902 was spent as summer supply for the Baptist Church of Danbury, N. H. In the fall I entered the divinity school of the University of Chicago, where I remained for two years, receiving the degree of B.D. in June, 1904. During the summer of 1903 I was the supply at the Baptist Church of Meredith, N. H. In September, 1904, I became pastor of the Baptist Church of North Billerica, Mass., where I remained until May, 1909. This is a small industrial town, where I had opportunity to study economic and social questions at first hand. For nearly two years I have been pastor of the Baptist Church of South Framingham, Mass., a growing centre with great possibilities of industrial development. The summer of 1909 was spent abroad, visiting Ireland, Scotland, England, France, Belgium, and Holland. A field of great opportunity is before me here, and I am very happy in the busy, helpful life of a Christian minister.

| Children | Susan Appleton Howe, Oct. 23, 1905. |
| Business | Teacher. |
| Address | Middlesex School, Concord, Mass. |

During the summer after graduation I served as naturalist at Camp Pasquaney, Bridgewater, N. H. In the autumn I accepted a position to teach science at the Middlesex School, though not as a resident master, as I was lecturing and teaching at various schools as well. In February, 1902, I went to Florida with Mr. LeRoy King, of New York, on a three months' collecting trip. After another summer at Camp Pasquaney I accepted a permanent position as master of natural science at Middlesex School, which position I have held ever since. In July, 1904, I travelled throughout the west, and in the summer of 1905 I visited nine countries of Europe. My other summers were spent in Rhode Island, until, in 1908, I established a summer camp school for boys at Fitzwilliam, N. H., known as South Pond Cabins. In 1905 I raised a fund to build the Thoreau Museum of Natural History at the Middlesex School, a building including an exhibition hall and a laboratory. During the last seven or eight years I have specialized for an avocation in the study of lichens, and have published through various media some three hundred pages on biological research of one kind or another. In 1910 I was extended a botanical research scholarship by the New York Botanic Gardens, but was forced to give it up on account of overwork. I am now the second senior master at the school, and shall be absent in Europe in 1911-12, on my first sabbatical year granted by that institution. It is my intention while in Europe to study at Cambridge University.

| Business | Lawyer. |

| | (business) 32 Nassau St., New York City. |

In 1905, I entered the office of Philip S. Dean, attorney for the Lawyers' Title Insurance and Trust Company, New York City. Here I picked up some knowledge of New York real estate law and a working familiarity with the courts. I had been admitted to the bar in Massachusetts in August, 1904; I was admitted in New York in May, 1906. This same month I became a clerk in the office of Alexander, Watriss and Polk, (Walter Alexander, '97; Frederic N. Watriss, '92) 32 Nassau Street, New York City, and remained there, gradually acquiring a little practice of my own, until December of the same year. Then I went to Havana, Cuba, by arrangement with Conant and Wright (Ernest L. Conant, '84) for special work on behalf of certain claimants before the Spanish Treaty Claims Commission. I was in Cuba six months, practising before the commission's deputies and the Spanish speaking courts of the island. In June, 1907, I completed the special work for which I was engaged. I landed at Vera Cruz, Mexico, on June 14, went by the International Railway to Mexico City, with a day at Orizaba at a hemp plantation on the way, and spent about a week in the Federal District, in the course of which time I climbed with a guide to the top of Popocatepetl in three hours, had lunch inside the sulphur crater, and slid down the snow cap on a piece of Indian matting in about three minutes. At Durango, Mexico, on June 27, I bought a black mule and saddle and started out alone for the coast, spending the nights at grazers' huts, or beneath telegraph poles, occasional glimpses of the single wire and infrequent scratches on the rocks being my guides for the trail. I came out upon the westermost ridge of the Sierra Madres, in view of the Pacific, at daybreak on July 1, and reached Mazatlan, Mexico, that evening, after a sturdy two hundred and fifty mile ride. The few Americans at that port had a fourth of July celebration in the home, and at the invitation of the American consul, a German, speaking little Spanish and atrocious English. On July 7 we got a Kosmos liner northward. After a couple of months in strike-ridden San Francisco, the citrus-covered Pasadena country, and railroad-promoted and shaft-scarred Utah, I reached New York. Then I became managing clerk for Alexander, Watriss and Polk. In May, 1908, I began independent practice, which I have so far succeeded in continuing. I have been special examiner occasionally for both the New York state and municipal civil service commissions. In September, 1909, I was appointed lecturer on law at New York University, where I have been teaching for two years in the evening session of the law school. I am a fellow of the Royal Philatelic Society, London. Member: Harvard Club of New York City, City Club, Order of Founders and Patriots of America, Military Order of the Loyal Legion, Company I, Seventh Regiment, National Guard of New York.

I completed my college course in 1900. That summer I took a trip through France, England, and Ireland on a bicycle. Then for five years I was with Perry, Mason and Company, Boston. I worked in their introductory department, and department of suggestion and invention. In the fall of 1905 I resigned my position to complete my course in civil engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. While there I became an editor of the semi-weekly paper, the Tech, was active in the Civil Engineering Society, and wrote the 1907 Tech. show, "William, Willie and Bill". I received appointment as civil engineer assistant in the Philippine service, on examination, in 1907. In April, 1907, I travelled via San Francisco, and spent some time in the Sandwich Islands, Japan, and China. In the Philippines I served in the fifth engineering district as assistant district engineer, and later as district engineer. In 1909 I resigned and returned to the United States, via Europe, completing thus a voyage around the world. I visited Straits Settlements, Federated Malay States, Ceylon, Arabia, Egypt, Italy, and Spain, leaving Barcelona just in time to miss the riots ending in Ferrar's death. I continued with the War Department in the Narragansett district, United States corps of engineers, as assistant on the Rhode Island intercoastal canal surveys and estimates. On examination I was transferred to the office of public roads, and became a United States highway engineer. As district engineer in the Philippines, and subsequently, I have had charge of all kinds of construction in timber, masonry, and concrete; in hydraulic development, and river improvement; in drainage and irrigation projects; in highway construction; in reinforced concrete and steel bridge construction; in subaqueous foundation construction; in general engineering and surveys. Member: Technology Club of New York.

After graduation I entered the firm of Jaynes and Company, druggists, with whom I was actively connected until 1908, when we sold out our interests to the Riker Company, of New York. After leaving the drug business I became treasurer of a box and packing case company of Keene, N. H., where I remained for two years. I severed my connections there to accept a position as treasurer of the Standard Foundry Company, of Hartford, Conn., with which company I am still associated. Fortune has not smiled over sweetly upon me, neither has she frowned, and as I have my health, a happy family and a clear conscience, with enough worldly goods to keep the wolf well away from the door, I feel as though I had ample reason to be thankful.

| Born | Charleston, S. C., Aug. 8, 1878. |
| School | Charleston High School. |
| Degrees | A.B. (College of Charleston), 1899; A.B., 1901; A.M., 1904; Ph.D., 1906. |
| Married | Margaret Murdoch Walker, Cordesville, S. C., June 12, 1907. |
| Business | Teacher. |
| Address | (home) 1010 West Oregon St., Urbana, Ill. |
| | (busness) University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill. |

Since graduation I have devoted the greater part of every year primarily to the work of a student or a teacher. In 1901-1902 I was professor of English at Mount Union College, Alliance, O. In 1902-1903 I was acting assistant professor of English at the University of Missouri. In the fall of 1903 I returned to Cambridge to become a graduate student in English philology. From this time until the summer of 1906, when I took my Ph.D. in English, I gave most of my time to studying. During 1904-1905 I was an assistant in English A. I have published articles in the publications of the Modern Language Association, and in the Journal of English and Germanic Philology. Member: Modern Language Association of America, Illinois Folk-Lore Society, University Club of the University of Illinois, Harvard Club of Eastern Illinois.

After graduating in June, 1901, I entered the engineering department of the New Haven road and remained there until May, 1902, when I joined the engineering department of the Pennsylvania. With this company I assisted in the construction of the low grade freight line, in Lancaster County, Pa., and had charge of several heavy masonry works. Later I assisted in the reconstruction of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in Washington, D. C., where I remained until 1906. From Washington I came to Baltimore, Md. Here I assisted in the surveying of a belt line around the city, in the construction of a reinforced concrete elevator until October, 1908, when I left the Pennsylvania Railroad. Since then I have built several reinforced concrete arches in York, Pa., Orange County, N. Y., and again for the Pennsylvania Railroad, west of Richmond, Ind. In October, 1910, I left the Pennsylvania Railroad once more and now am engineer inspector for the Maryland State Road Commission, at Baltimore, Md. I have the supervision of all the improved paving and improved macadam construction which the commission is at present undertaking in Baltimore City. This work will probably last until 1912.

| Unmarried | |
| Business | Member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship. |
| Address | 4 Batavia St., Boston, Mass. |

Soon after leaving college in June of 1901, I entered upon the practice of Christian Science, which is a church or system of teachings whose purpose is to restore to the teachings of Christ Jesus the lost element of Christian healing, and on the basis that the theology of Jesus healed both sickness and sin by one and the same process. Meeting with considerable success in the healing work, I entered the primary class at the Massachusetts Metaphysical College in 1903. This college was chartered by the state in 1881, and is the only legally chartered college of metaphysics with power to confer diplomas and degrees in the state. I returned to the college in 1907 for the normal course. Meanwhile I was elected, in 1904, to the Christian Science Board of Lectureship of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, and am still a member of this board. In the capacity of a lecturer I have visited churches of this denomination throughout this continent, travelling almost constantly for a large portion of each year. In addition to articles published in newspapers and in our denominational periodicals, the following lectures have been published: "Christian Science: Its Nature and Purpose," a pamphlet of thirty-one pages published in both English and French by the Christian Science Publishing Society, Boston, 1906. This pamphlet has passed through several editions of ten thousand each. "Christian Science: Its Healing Ministry," published by the University Alliance, Incorporated, New York City, 1909. This is a twelve volume set of university lectures, delivered at the Congress of Arts and Sciences, at the St. Louis World's Fair. "Christian Science: Its Divine Authority," now in press, published by the Christian Science Publishing Society, Boston.

| Address | (home) 5607 Scovill Ave., Cleveland, O.(business) 716 Society for Savings Building, Cleveland, O. |

On leaving the law school at the end of my second year in 1902, I went to Pittsburg, where, though I was utterly unknown, I had the advantage of a parental roof. I entered the offices of the law firm, Way, Walker and Morris, one of whom, Alvin A. Morris, Esq., is a graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Law School. In September, 1903, I was admitted to the Allegheny County Bar, and practised law, as an associate of this firm for something over a year when I determined to return to my former home, Cleveland, O., there to make my permanent abode. I was admitted to the bar of Ohio in December, 1904, and immediately formed a partnership with Alfred A. Benesch, '00, Law School, '03, under the name, Benesch and Kornhauser, of which I am still a member. I have served as acting judge of the police court in this city. I have also served a rather extensive apprenticeship in politics, from which, thus far, I have derived much agreeable experience without having office thrust upon me. Regarding office holding a sacrifice, as is generally the case, I nevertheless consented to stand as a candidate for judge of the insolvency and juvenile court, at the primary election in May, 1910. The Republican bosses, however, reluctant to suffer me to assume such a risk saw to it that I did not; and I was accordingly, by their wisdom, kept out of the course of the hurricane that swept so wildly last November. I was a member of the Republican Central Committee from 1908 to 1910; delegate to the league of the Republican clubs since 1908; elected president of the Western Reserve Club, (leading local Republican club) in December 1910; president, Cleveland Lodge, I. O. B. B. 1908-1909, 1911-; member of the Board of Governors, the Educational League. I recall no other distinctions except the title conferred upon me in 1900 or 1901 by my companions at the Memorial Hall table with whom I daily discussed politics, "Defender of the Faith." They will realize that I am endeavoring to live up to the title when I refer to an article I wrote, published in the North American Review for November, 1910, entitled "President Taft and the Extra-Constitutional Function of the Presidency." I have a number of other articles in preparation for which publishers are doubtless anxiously waiting.

After graduation I sailed for Europe in July, 1901, in company with Benjamin S. Blake, '01 and Henry V. Poor, '01. After visiting North Germany, Holland, and Belgium, we parted at Innsbruck, where I remained for four years,—studying for the Catholic priesthood (diocese of Providence), at the University of Innsbruck. I studied philosophy one year and theology three years. I lived in the convictus or seminary for the accommodation of theological students. Some twenty or thirty other Americans were also studying there. Leo Logan, '01, did not come until immediately after my departure in 1905. I travelled in Italy three times during the Easter holidays, visiting Rome, Venice, and other places of interest. I spent the summers in the Tyrol or in France and England, save one when I was at home. Though rugged, the Innsbruck life was stimulating and satisfying. After long consideration I decided to enter the Society of Jesus in preference to the life of a diocesan priest, and applied for admission to the New York-Maryland Province in March, 1905. In July of the same year I was ordained priest at Innsbruck by the Bishop of Brixen, and returned in the autumn to the United States, entering the Jesuit Novitiate, at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on November 12, 1905. Since I entered as a priest, the usual sixteen to eighteen years of preparation and training in the order have been shortened in my case to nine or ten. My chronology since then has been as follows: November 13, 1905, to November 13, 1906, I spent at Poughkeepsie in the time of ascetic retreat called the Noviceship. November 13, 1906, to August 17, 1907, I spent in reviewing classical studies, preparatory to teaching. From August, 1907, to January, 1908, I was professor of freshman Greek and English literature in Canisius College, Buffalo. January, 1908, to August, 1909, I held the same office at Loyola College, Baltimore, following in both places the correlative system of teaching proper to Jesuit colleges. From August, 1908, to August, 1910, I pursued special studies in philosophy,—scholastic and modern,—in the House of Higher Studies for the New York-Maryland Province, at Woodstock, Md. In August, 1910, I began a three years' review of theology. Since, however, I needed a change after a good deal of application, which had included literary and translation work, I was transferred from Woodstock in December, 1910. After two months of ministerial work in southern Maryland and Philadelphia, I am now stationed as chaplain of the Work House and Poor House on Blackwell's Island, New York City. My future appointments are of course uncertain. After completing my studies I shall very likely be employed along educational lines, (languages or philosophy) though not to the exclusion of the ministry. I have also to spend another year of ascetic retreat at Poughkeepsie.

Owing to a serious injury while at Harvard I was obliged to drop all work for several months. Subsequently I worked in the nitrate fields of South America as a chemist. Later I became interested in a mining enterprise. I have received the degree of Engineer of Mines, and Master of Arts (in geology) from Columbia University and have completed residence work for degree of Doctor of Philosophy (geological work). My chief work has been as geologist in the coal fields of Pennsylvania, in the oil fields of California, and in the mining districts of Mexico and northern and western South America. From time to time, as opportunity has offered during the past six years, I have compiled considerable material for a historical sketch dealing with Spanish colonial settlement in the West Indies and shores of the Carribean, such as Cartagena (in Republic of Colombia). It has seemed that certain portions of that period have been over-emphasized and other phases correspondingly obscured. It is possible that eventually a modest volume may embody my views. I have no other interest outside the many which my professional work offers.

On September 1, 1901, John Silsbee Lawrence entered his father's and grandfather's firm of dry goods commission merchants and was admitted to the partnership October 1, 1906. During this time he has been especially interested in the manufacturing and sales departments, of the Ipswich Mills, of Ipswich, Mass., the Merrimack Manufacturing Company, of Lowell, Mass, together with the financial and transportation departments of the business. He was married on April 29, 1907, and on February 6, 1908, Eloise Lawrence was born, and on August 24, 1910, Amory Atherton Lawrence. During the spring of 1908 he built a home on a farm in Topsfield, Mass., where he is engaged in bringing old farm land into a higher degree of cultivation and stimulating generally farming interests in that section. He is taking a great interest in the New England Young Men's Christian Association, and is a member of the executive committee and committees on industrial education and of immigration. In the mill town of Ipswich he is taking a great interest in improving the conditions of living among the operatives, and is secretary of the Ipswich Hospital Corporation. He is also much interested in the Ipswich and Topsfield historical societies, in the organization and operation of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and is chairman of the fuel committee, which published a pamphlet on the buying and handling of steam coal in New England, and who are the originators of the present Boston Smoke Law. During his activities with the Chamber of Commerce he has been called upon to deliver a number of addresses on the economic handling of fuel and the problems of transportation in and around Boston. He is a director in the following institutions: Second National Bank of Boston, American Trust Company of Boston, Middlesex Company of Lowell, Mass., Scott and Williams Incorporated, Philadelphia, New England Casualty Company of Boston, and trustee in the Suffolk Savings Bank of Boston. He has for three years been fleet captain of the Eastern Yacht Club and chairman of the entertainment committee during the visits of the German and Spanish yachtsmen to the Eastern Yacht Club and has taken a great interest in yachting. More recently, since living in Topsfield, he has taken a great interest in the farm and in riding horses.

Immediately after graduation from Harvard College, I returned to my home in Pueblo, Colo., and engaged in daily newspaper work as local correspondent for the Rocky Mountain News, of Denver. November 1, 1909, I was employed by the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company to establish, edit, and manage Camp and Plant, an illustrated weekly magazine for the 15,000 employees and for others interested in the operations of this, the largest industrial corporation west of St. Louis. In June, 1904, I left the employ of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company in order to look after personal business, which, until October, 1906, occupied my time. During this period I assisted for a time in editing the Pueblo Star-Journal (evening daily), and in writing for various eastern newspapers and magazines. In October, 1906, I entered the Harvard Law School, from which I graduated in June, 1909, with the degree of Bachelor of Laws. While in the law school, I wrote a number of special articles for the Boston Transcript, and for various magazines, and a small book. I was an assistant in English (English A) in Harvard College from October, 1906, to February, 1907, and from September, 1907, to June, 1909. August 9, 1909, I commenced the practice of law in Denver. I have visited no foreign country other than Canada. Beside the small book, "The Advertisements of the Spectator" (Houghton, Mifflin Company, Boston, and Constable and Company, London, 1909), and beside various "special stories"—nearly all on political and industrial conditions in Colorado, which appeared in the Boston Transcript and other eastern newspapers—I wrote prior to my admission to the bar, from one to eight articles for each of the following periodicals: The Outlook, Harper's Weekly, the World's Work, The Travel Magazine, Country Life in America, The Scientific American, The Engineering and Mining Journal, and The Atlantic Monthly. Member: Rocky Mountain Harvard Club (for two years I was its secretary and treasurer), University Club of Denver, and of various other organizations.

After spending two years at the Harvard Law School, I entered the office of John Lowell, Esquire, Boston. I was admitted to the bar in February, 1905, and entered the office of Richardson, Herrick and Neave, in April of the same year. In October, 1905, I formed a law partnership with John Duff, '91, with offices at 50 Congress Street, Boston. In April, 1906, I went to Durango, Mexico, in connection with litigation over timber lands in the State of Durango, remaining there until August, 1906. In October, 1907, I removed to 84 State Street, Boston, and dissolved partnership. In February, 1909, I removed to 53 State Street, Boston, and in September, 1910, formed a partnership with F. J. Stimson, '76, L. M. Stockton, '91, and J. G. Forbes, '01, under the name of Stimson, Stockton, Livermore and Forbes, of which firm I am now a member. Before entering the law school I made a trip to Buenos Ayres, Argentina, on the barque "Onaway", and was gone about five months, returning via Santos and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and Bridgetown, Barbadoes. I expect shortly to move to 16 Charles River Square, Boston, where I have acquired a house. Member: Tennis and Racquet Club, Boston.

I received a leave of absence from the Connecticut State Board of Education for one year in order to return to Harvard and graduate in 1901. On graduating I returned to the State Normal School in New Haven, Conn., to continue my teaching in the science department. While in New Haven I was able to take at different times some twenty-four hours' work in the Yale Graduate School. In 1905 the Connecticut State Board transferred me from the New Haven State Normal to the New Britain State Normal and gave me charge of all the science work in the latter institution, which position I still retain. I have given short lecture courses in summer schools. Last summer I was invited to deliver a course of lectures in elementary agriculture and conducted the work in a model rural school at the Connecticut State Agricultural College. Year before last I again secured a leave of absence, this time for the purpose of studying at Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York City. I have not done much in a literary way. Some years ago I published in the Psychological Review an investigation on the subject of weight illusion which research I carried on in the Yale Psychological Laboratory. The Educational Review has published two articles for me, one on the teaching of animal lessons in schools and the other an investigation on the present attitude of normal schools toward the rural school problem. I have written three short articles for the Nature Study Review, and three pamphlets for the Connecticut State Board of Education. At present I am working on by far the most pretentious thing I have yet attempted, namely, a study of certain phases of the rural school problem. Aside from advancing in masonry to the commandery, I have not been much of a club man. While at Columbia I became a member of the "Black Cat" and "Clan", two rather influential clubs in Teachers' College. At present I am active in only one club, "The Fortnightly", a literary and social club of rather a high order.

Hugo R. Meyer's course in railroad traffic (Economics 8, I think) was one of the influences that led me to go into railroad work after leaving college; the course was one of the few at that time that were vital and practical. I got a $40 per month job with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and shifted from one position to another on the line during the next three years. In 1905 I became a reporter on the Wall Street Journal and at the same time started to conduct an evening course in railroad traffic in the School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance, of New York University. In 1906 I was appointed secretary of this school—a place which I held until 1910 when I resigned to become secretary of the Alexander Hamilton Institute. This institute was organized about two years ago, by a number of university teachers of business subjects—including several Harvard graduates—to carry on a reading course and consulting service for business executives in the fields of accounts, finance, and business management. Its work has been eminently successful and the enterprise promises to grow rapidly. I have written various articles and one book, "Corporation Finance", which is published for the institute.

James Madison Love

James Madison Love was born at Keokuk, Ia., on August 11, 1877. He was the son of Judge James Madison Love and Mary Milburn. His father was for many years a judge in the United States Federal Court. James Love prepared for college at Coulter's University School, Chicago, Ill. He entered Harvard College in the fall of 1897, and graduated with his class in 1901, with the degree of A.B.. He died from pneumonia on May 15, 1902, the year after his graduation.

In September, 1901, I entered the Columbia School of Mines, and received a degree of M.E. in June, 1904. I had completed all the courses required for the degree in March, 1904, however, when I engaged as draughtsman with the General Chemical Company, at 25 Broad Street, New York City. After a year in this New York office, I was sent to the company's Camden works at Camden, N. J., and thence, in 1906, transferred to a plant of the Nichols Chemical Company, Limited, then building at Sulphide, Ontario. I was finally made superintendent of the sulphide works and mine, then in 1908 I was transferred a third time to Barnet, British Columbia, where the company was building other new works. I am still located at Barnet, ten miles east of Vancouver, as western manager and superintendent for the Nichols Chemical Company, Limited.

First I worked in a country bank in St. Joseph, Mich., for a year and then came to Chicago where I was employed by the Western Cold Storage Company, as checker, book-keeper, and superintendent from the winter of 1902 until the spring of 1908. At that time I resigned from the Western Cold Storage Company, to go into business for myself as a produce broker. In the fall of the same year I organized the West Side Warehouse Company, of which I am president. Two months ago I purchased the stock of the Railway Terminal and Warehouse Company. These two companies now form the largest general storage warehouse business in Chicago. Hereafter I expect to devote all of my time to the warehouse business and shall give up the produce brokerage business. I have travelled some since graduation, but never outside the United States. For the past two years I have been on the scholarship committee of the Harvard Club of Chicago. Member: Harvard Club of Chicago, University Club, Edgewater Golf Club, and Chicago Motor Club.

In the fall of 1901, I entered the employ of Abram French and Company, (cut glass), Boston, but left there in February, 1902, for Dayton, O., where I remained in the employ of the Boston Industrial Company, constructing thirty-two miles of electric road from Dayton to Piqua, O. I finished there the following September and drifted to Louisville, Ky. Becoming financially embarrased there, I took a position on the Ohio river, clerking on a steamboat from Louisville to Evansville, Ind. I remained there until February, 1903, when, becoming deathly sick with typhoid fever, I had to come home. I recovered by close margin and entered the employ of Stone and Webster on electric road in Blue Hills of Milton. After two years with the above company I drifted about in the employ of different contractors until August, 1905, when I started in the contracting business in the firm name of P. Arthur McIntyre. I have continued the above business, building sewers, water extensions, state roads, until the present date. I have been operating entirely in New Hampshire for the last four years. While there I purchased a garage at Suncook, N. H., which I operate. Member: Harvard Club of New Hampshire.

In July, 1903, I sailed for the Philippines and remained there in the service of the Philippine government until December, 1906. For a year of this time I was engaged on miscellaneous engineering and survey work in the woods. For two years I was assistant engineer in charge of works for the improvement of the Port of Iloilo in the southern islands, and for six months I was engaged on preliminary investigations of work for the improvement of the port of Manila. The time from December, 1906, to March, 1907, was spent on a trip home by way of the Suez Canal, and I visited the usual places on the way. Since May, 1907, I have been employed by the Board of Water Supply of the City of New York, as an assistant engineer (designer) on the new Catskill Water Works for New York City, and I like New York well enough to wish to stay there. I have also made brief visits to Montana and to Porto Rico on irrigation work. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Municipal Engineers, and Harvard Engineering Society of New York, and associate member of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

After graduation I was elected principal of the Readville, Mass., Grammar School, which position I held several months. Deciding to give up the vocation of teaching, I entered the First National Bank, Boston, as check teller. Then I became bookkeeper for the Ubero Coffee Company, and in 1904, entered the general field of accountancy, in which line I have since been engaged. For the last six years I have done the auditing for the Southern Telephone and Telegraph Company, Tyler, Tex., and from time to time for other concerns. I have just been elected secretary and auditor of the Gulf States Telephone Company. I am president of the Carnegie Library Board of Tyler, Tex., secretary of the Cotton Belt Building and Loan Association, and clerk of the Texas Commercial Union. I take a large interest in all civic matters.

A couple of days after graduation I sailed for Europe, to take up my duties as American consular agent at Charleroi, Belgium, to which position I was appointed on April 13, 1901. I assumed charge of the agency in July. Charleroi is a rotten place. I spent five years there. In January, 1906, I was appointed consul here (Turin, Italy), and assumed charge in April. Turin is a charming city. I have spent five years here, and wish, but do not expect, to spend five more. In July, 1910, I was appointed deputy commissioner of the United States to the Turin International Exposition of this year. Since graduation I have returned to America four times, on leaves of absence, and have thrice visited No. 38, Weld, of happy memory. I have written some magazine articles, climbed some mountains, and played some tennis. I have had a pretty good time thus far. In the fall of 1901 I entered the medical school. For two years I was president of the Camera Club, and in those two years we won the intercollegiate exhibit from the University of Pennsylvania. In August, 1905, I opened an office at 329 Massachusetts Avenue, Boston, removing from there to Warren Chambers in May, 1907. After three years of office practice, I decided to do general work and moved to Brookline. From 1907 to 1911 I taught various subjects, particularly English and history in the Berkeley Preparatory School, of Boston; a school founded by my partner, Dr. George Hopkinson. During the summer of 1910 I went in to help the editor of Photo-Era Magazine, who had lost his associate editor; and in the fall I accepted the post, so that now any spare time I have from practice is given to the photographic journalistic business. With five others, I got out, in December, 1906, a collection of poems entitled: "Colossi I, a Lyric Anthology." Part II will appear some time. A monograph, "Beginners' Troubles," will appear in "The Photo-Miniature" series in a few weeks. I have also contributed various short articles to the medical journals. As practice grows, I shall drop all other activities.

After graduation I took an A.M. in the graduate school, rooming with Eddie Coolidge. Then, through the influence of Gibson Bell, I went to St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., where I have been ever since. The school has about 350 boys, of whom some 60 graduate each year. It has been my pleasure to see some worthy souls go to Harvard, but not so much pleasure to see others just as worthy go to less worthy places. I have been able to keep in touch with affairs in Cambridge fairly well, and to travel a little in the long vacations. I spent one summer abroad, and in others have been camping in Canada, Arizona, and Maine. St. Paul's is two miles out of Concord, and I believe there are many worse occupations than teaching the young idea to shoot, when you live in the country as we do, and have your afternoons free.

I left the class of 1901 to its fate in the summer of 1899, after two years of very pleasant and profitable association, and went to that smaller institution called Tufts College, a few miles away. There I was more successful, and received a B.S. in civil and electrical engineering in 1902. Then I took a post-graduate course in Union College, and was two years or so in the test department of the General Electric Company in Schenectady, N. Y. I spent the two years following in Newfoundland, looking for timber and minerals, shooting caribou and catching trout. After that I travelled around the dear old United States as a construction engineer for the Stanley Electric Company, and spent the next two years in the engineering department of the General Eletric Company in Schnectady. Just now I am an engineer in charge of one of the departments of the Canadian General Electric Company in Peterboro, Ontario. I am married and have six children, and think that in that line I am the champion of 1901, unless someone married a widow. By the way, two of the children are in the high school, getting ready for Radcliffe.

After graduation I studied theology for three years—one year at Rochester, and two years at the University of Chicago. During the last year at Chicago I held a fellowship. However, I saw no way of making myself acceptable to the church, if I stated my convictions fairly. Consequently I turned to teaching, and secured a position at the State Agricultural College of North Dakota, in the department of English and philosophy, these two subjects being those in which I had specialized at Harvard. A part of the first summer vacation I put in on a 3,500 acre wheat farm, working alongside "hobos" of all nations. I obtained leave of absence in 1906-1907 and went to Europe, making my way on a cattle boat and having the toughest experience of my life, but one I wouldn't exchange now for half a dozen trips first-class. The school year of twenty-four weeks I spent at Oxford, working chiefly in English. I found time, however, to row, and made St. Catherine's "toggers" and summer eight, bringing back a "pot" and a section of the shell in which I rowed. The Christmas vacation I spent in London, the Easter vacation in a 1200 mile cycle trip through England, Scotland, Ireland, and Wales, and the first part of the summer on the continent, leaving for home by way of Naples. On my return I was made head of my department. Since then my marriage and two babies have been the chief events.

I instructed in economics in Harvard College, 1901-1904; I attended Harvard Law School, 1901-1904, and graduated with the degree of LL.B., in 1904. I was editor of the Harvard Law Review while pursuing my course at the Harvard Law School. In 1904 I settled in New York City in the law office of Simpson, Thatcher and Bartlett. I was admitted to the bar in November, 1904; in 1905 I was appointed legal secretary to Mr. Justice Blanchard of the Supreme Court of New York and served until June, 1908. Meanwhile I continued in practice, and after resigning the position as legal secretary became associated with the law firm of Rollins and Rollins. I am author of the "Rise and Progress of the Standard Oil Company" (Harper and Bros., 1903), "Trusts of Today" (McClure, Phillips and Company, 1904), and also of various economic and legal contributions to Yale Review, Quarterly Journal of Economics, Harvard Law Review, Atlantic Monthly, North American Review, and other publications. Among these may be mentioned the following articles: "The Ethics of Trust Competition", Atlantic Monthly, March, 1905; "The Defects of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law", Yale Law Journal, December, 1909; "Trust Regulation Today", Atlantic Monthly, January, 1910; "Business Enterprise and the Law", North American Review, November, 1910; and "German and English Experience with Trusts", Atlantic Monthly, February, 1911. As one of the invited speakers at the annual convention of the National Civic Federation, in January, 1911, I spoke upon the topic "Anti-Trust Regulation by the States." I have given each year, from 1906 to 1910, in Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, a course of about fourteen lectures a year on the law of engineering contracts. I was appointed receiver of the Pierrepont Hotel Company, in 1907, and in 1908 of Hotel Gotham Company and Fulton Street Railroad Company. In the same year I was made commissioner of estimate and appraisement in three proceedings for the condemnation of centrally located property in Manhattan for the use of the Brooklyn Loop Subway. I have been active in Republican politics in New York County since 1904. I have been a member of the Republican County Committee since 1905, and member of the Law Committee of the Republican County Committee since 1908. I am a member of the executive committee of the Twenty-third Street Branch of the Y. M. C. A., New York City. Member: Union League Club, Harvard Club of New York, Association of the Bar, New York County Lawyers' Association, and Madison Square Republican Club.

I do not like to say anything about myself, but I found it necessary to leave college (Lawrence Scientific School) at the end of my second year. July 25, 1899, I went to the mines in Utah, as an engineer. I got fired twice during the first nine months because the mines shut down. Then I could not get a job so I started a gymnasium and taught boxing and wrestling in Salt Lake City from March, 1900, until October. While there I met many mining people and got back into the engineering line again until I came east in October, 1901. From New York I went to Nova Scotia. Since then I have held the following positions: superintendent of the Lincoln Mine, North Star Mine, Jackpot Mine, consulting engineer of the Micmac Mine, and then consulting engineer for the Canadian Mines Company, all of Nova Scotia. While in Nova Scotia I have built and equipped the finest hunting and fishing camp in Canada, called Camp Rassignol, twelve miles from Caledonia, Queens County, on the Halifax and Southwestern Railroad. I have been in nearly every mining camp in the United States and Canada of any size. My present position as consulting engineer for the McKiernan-Terry Drill Company starts today, January 1, 1911.

The year after graduation I spent as engineer for the Durable Wire Rope Company, of Boston, making a specialty of the design and installation of rope transmissions. I was, during the summer of 1902, with Chickering and Sons, piano manufacturers, Boston, as assistant superintendent, in charge of the machine shop and mechanical equipment. In January, 1903, I entered the employ of Portland Company, Portland, Me., (engineers and machinists), and was chief draughtsman and engineer there until May, 1906, when I accepted a position at Harvard as instructor in mechanical engineering; during the summers of 1906 and 1907 I had charge of the shop work courses. On leaving Harvard (my appointment had been for a year only) I returned to my position with the Portland Company, where I remained until the spring of 1909. The summer of 1909 I spent on a European trip, including Holland, Germany, France, and England. In January, 1910, I came to Cincinnati and entered the employ of the Baldwin Company, in the position which I now hold. While I was with the Portland Company I was responsible for the details of design of the machinery of the good ship "Roosevelt" which carried Peary on his voyage in quest of the Pole. I contributed to the Harvard Engineering Journal an article on rope drives (1903) and I have contributed a few articles to Engineering News, on various subjects.

My business activities since graduation and up to last December have been confined entirely to the Library Bureau, of which I have been a director and vice-president. I have recently accepted a partnership in the old established New York architectural firm of Jardine, Kent and Hill, formerly Jardine, Kent and Jardine. William W. Kent, one of my partners was president of the Lampoon in 1882. My position is that of business manager of the firm. I was in Europe during the summer of 1908 and in the fall of the same year in Mexico. My first two years after graduation I lived in New York, then moved to Newton, Mass., where I lived until the spring of 1909, when I came back to New York, where I expect to remain for some time to come. My two sons (now six years old) are planning to enter college with the class of 1926. "....all such information about yourself as you would like to read about your classmates".—a fair text, dear secretary, but impossible for me to preach from without doing greater violence to the truth than is allowed to one not a nature-fakir or a book-agent. I would like to read of the "pomp of pow'r", and the "paths of glory"; not the "short and simple annals of the poor". But, as Doc. Peets would say, "Its them same annals which I must norrate." In the fall of 1901 I went to Warren, O., and studied science to keep ahead of the classes I was hired to teach. I was so busy doubling on my track that I didn't have time to join the whist club or the Sunday-school picnics, so at the end of the year the committee refused to raise my salary. I went then to Kenton, O., as principal of the high school. There I found myself mixed up in a superintendent-school-board revolution. I had left my gun in the east and went back after it. During the summer vacation, however, my lust for carnage abated, so I went to Medway, Mass., as principal of the high school there. I stood the enervating influences of that ancient hamlet for two years, then went to Fall River for a year. That was a good job, but a friend gave me a cat and thereby so increased my living expenses that I was obliged to get a better paying school. I went to Chicago as principal of the high-school department of the Francis W. Parker School. Two years there and I decided, although Professor Hanus may be right about the "ultimate aim" of education, that, as a business, it was too durned ultimate for me. I wanted to keep the cat. There I was,—I could not dig, and to beg I was ashamed; I had jacked my job so I couldn't work the graft of the foxy servant. Nothing to do but start out again. And I started. I entered the law school and am there now with one more year ahead. Such are the "offices of profit, honor, or trust" that I have filled, and the "foreign countries" I have visited. I have not written a book but I have an "article". I wrote a story once and sent it to the Outing. They published it and the next month went into the hands of a receiver. I didn't care about losing the price,—it wasn't much anyway, but I was sorry for the magazine. It had never done me any harm. Since then I have been more careful. I am persuaded to contribute this report, dear secretary, in order that the record may be by so much the more complete. It will contain accounts of all other kinds of doings, but if it has one of another man who got into school business, stayed eight years, and was then alive to get out, I will buy him a new hat when we get together in June.

George Franklin Neal

George Franklin Neal was born August 26, 1875, at Brockton, Mass. He prepared for college at the Brockton High School, entering Harvard College in the fall of 1897, having spent three intervening years working in various banks at Brockton. During his junior year he suffered a severe illness which prevented his receiving a degree. While in college he was especially interested in scientific study. He was a member of the Mining Club, the Engineering Society and of the Pi Eta Society. From 1901 to 1907 he held a position in the Wildey Savings Bank, Boston, Mass. In 1907 he opened an office and engaged in the real estate business in Boston, Mass. In 1908 he was made manager of the G. Ferullo Company, Boston, Mass. Throughout his life his leisure hours were spent in study. Although his income was limited, he did many charitable acts known only to his most intimate friends. He died November 26, 1909.

After finishing the course in the medical school, I served as surgical house-officer in the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston. I was married December 6, 1906, and immediately sailed for Europe, where I spent six months travelling partly for pleasure and partly visiting foreign medical centres and studying orthopedic surgery. On returning to this country I began practising as an orthopedic specialist in my home city, Lynn. I began working in the orthopedic department of the Massachusetts General Hospital and now have a position there on the orthopedic staff. I built a house on Nahant Street, Lynn, in 1908, and now divide my time between my office there and an office on Beacon Street, Boston. Member: Massachusetts Medical Society, Orthopedic Club, Oxford Club of Lynn, and Vesper Country Club (near Lowell).

Edward North, 2d

Edward North, 2d, was born at Utica, N. Y., September 25, 1878, and died at Ouray, Colo., February 8, 1902, of pneumonia after an illness of three days. He was the eldest son of S. N. D. North, lately director of the United States census, and Lillian Comstock North, and the grandson of the late Dr. Edward North of Hamilton College. In 1890 his parents moved to Brookline, Mass., and Edward graduated from the Brookline High School in 1896, winning the Lincoln gold medal for excellence in English. He graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1900, as a mining engineer. Immediately upon graduation he went abroad for the United States Bureau of Labor, in an investigation upon coal mine labor. On his return he took a post graduate course at Harvard University in metallography. Upon its completion he went to Colorado for practical experience in mining, locating with the Camp Bird mines at Ouray, where he contracted the illness from which he died on February 8, 1902.

While in college I made up my mind as to two things I would not be after graduating: a newspaper man and a broker. My first job was in the office of a member of the Boston Stock Exchange. Later on naturally I drifted into newspaper work, on the Boston Record and Boston Advertiser, finally attaining the exalted position of editorial writer and assistant city editor of the former. A nervous breakdown having "snuck up" on me, I ducked to California, where after a year on a walnut and orange ranch, I set out for Tahiti, (the Society Islands) in the South Seas. I am the man who made Milwau.... I mean Moorea famous by an article I wrote about it which was published in Outing Magazine. From this Eden I hopped to the opposite in the desert regions of Nevada. Here I made a noise like a pick and shovel et al-, for a little over a year. That the "rêve d'or" did not come true is shown by the fact that I next went to Santa Barbara, Calif., to become night editor of the Morning Press (owned by a Yale man). After a year and a half of that I came home to Newburyport, Mass. Worked during the summer in an advertising firm in Boston, and am at present publicity manager for J. Edmund Thompson of Worcester, who gives the Thompson Course of physiological exercises by correspondence. The only learned societies I am afflicted with are the Oldtown Country Club and the Harvard Club of Newburyport.

After leaving college I started banking with the International Trust Company, of Boston, and in February, 1902, I left for Rapid City, S. Dak., to take a position with the National Smelting Company, then erecting a large smelter. This company sold out and I returned to Boston and took a position with the Puritan Trust Company, of 33 Court Street. In May, 1905, I left the banking business, but, having joined the Bank Officers Association of Boston, still kept in touch with the same. At that time I became a salesman for the Library Bureau, and it was soon after this they opened up a large salesroom on Federal Street. In 1906 I was given charge of the Worcester County business and opened offices in the State Mutual Building, of Worcester. In the summer of 1907 I entered the electrotyping and engraving business of the old established firm of C. J. Peters and Son Company, of 145 High Street, as a salesman, and am still serving in that capacity. Member: Harvard Union, Lunch Club (sixteen 1901 fellows), and Bank Officers Association of Boston.

When I left college I went to Cape Breton and went to work for the Dominion Iron and Steel Company, as draughtsman. In a year I was assistant mechanical superintendent, and for some time acting mechanical superintendent. A little while afterwards I left to be one of the engineers for the Robbins Conveying Belt Company, in New York. After I had been there a little while I had a most attractive offer to go to South Africa, which I did, going out to be chief engineer for the Norton Company. We had three or four big pieces of work on hand when I first went out there, but on account of adverse labor conditions, the times got worse and worse, and after a time I went up into central Africa on an exploring expedition. I returned to this country and went to North Carolina to build a wood distilling plant for E. B. Weed. After finishing that plant and taking a vacation, motoring through Europe, I went to Cobleskill, N. Y., and built what was at that time the largest stone crushing and screening plant in the world. After finishing that plant I went back to Cape Breton as chief engineer for the Canadian Consolidated Coal Company. While there I made a number of experiments in distilling wood, prompted to do so by my experience in North Carolina. I hit upon a new method of distilling pine wood for turpentine, patented the process, resigned my position, and organized a company to operate. This company built a plant at Mount Pleasant, Wayne County, Ga., which has been in successful operation ever since. A little while later I built a second plant in Collingwood, Ontario, and after finishing that plant, I organized a new subsidiary company to build a plant in Jacksonville, Fla., the building of which is occupying my time at the present time. I have been to Europe and back five times since leaving college. On my way home from Africa, I took a hunting trip in Rhodesia and one in Zululand, also visited Madagascar, India, and Egypt. I have travelled in Newfoundland and have been as far north in Labrador as Naine. I have been interested in automobiling and drove a Cleveland car in the New York-Boston contest for the Chester I. Campbell trophy two years ago, finishing with a perfect score. After leaving college I went to the coal fields of Pennsylvania and became general manager of a coal operation located in the northern part of that state where I remained until I was called to Pittsburg to become mining engineer for the Pittsburg and Westmoreland Coal Company. Later I served in the capacity of consulting engineer for the Great Lakes Coal Company. I was located in Pittsburg for several years and returned to New York to practise general engineering work. I was mining engineer to the board of appraisers of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, the Sloss-Sheffield Iron and Coal Company and the Republic Iron and Steel Company. I was also assistant to the consulting engineer in connection with the location of the Virginia Railway. As consulting engineer I reported on many of the iron deposits occurring from northern New York to southern Alabama and numerous coal and coke operations in the states of Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, and Alabama. I conducted this work until I became general manager of the Birmingham and Gulf Railway and Navigation Company which position I held until the spring of 1909 when I returned to New York to resume my engineering practice. I have written the following technical articles: "The Big Stone Gap Coal Fields of Virginia", "The Pittsburg and Westmoreland Coal Company", "The Great Lakes Coal Company, Pittsburg", "The Cumberland Gap Coal Field, Middleboro, Kentucky", "The Pittsburg Seam in Ohio", "Operating Companies of the Birmingham District", "Economic Features of the Birmingham District", "The Systematic Purchase of Coal for the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, of the City of New York". After graduation I hung around the law school for one-half a year, until I heard and answered a call to go to Buffalo, N. Y., and learn how to make cans. Finally, when I learned how to make enough cans, I decided to marry, and never regretted that I learned the can business. When my company was absorbed by the trust, I went to work for the American Can Company, and remained with them one year, leaving them to connect with my present business, care of Walter B. Perkins Company. I have been abroad once. I consider myself happily married, and my present family consists of my wife, two children, and a dog Yes! we all live together. I still retain my love for athletics, and am still capable of playing a first-class game of pool, baseball, and have been known to take a chance on one-half cent bridge. I herewith take pleasure in posting a standing challenge to all my classmates at pool. I might add that while my morals have improved, I sometimes smoke a cigar, and occasionally take a glass of light beer. On July 1, 1901, I entered the employ of the American Radiator Company, of Chicago. This is a corporation engaged in the manufacture and sale of radiators and boilers in various factories and branches in the United States. My work, for a little less than four years, was in the treasurer's department, various details concerned with the accounting end of the business. In April, 1905, I was appointed European auditor and sent to Europe by the American Radiator Company with the duty of auditing and standardizing the accounting work of the companies affiliated with the American Radiator Company in England, France, and Germany. My headquarters were London for the first year and afterwards Paris. The work of this position involved frequent trips to London, Paris, and Berlin, where the general offices of the English, French, and German companies are situated, and to Hull, Dole, and Schoenebeck to their factories. In April, 1909, I was appointed managing director of the Società Nazionale dei Radiatori, an Italian company organized at that time, and affiliated with the American Radiator Company, to carry on the business in Italy.

This company has its general offices at 7, Via Tommaso Grossi, Milan, and has constructed a factory at Brescia, which begins operations this year. As to foreign countries visited, my work has naturally obliged or enabled me to make trips which have included England, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Italy, Austria Hungary, Turkey, Algeria, and Tunisia.

After leaving college in 1902 I was married and went abroad for six months. On my return in 1903, I went to Belmont, Calif., where I was assistant head master of the Belmont School for Boys. In 1905 I accepted the position of head coach of the Harvard football team for two years and lived, during 1905 and 1906, in Cambridge, Brookline, and Cohasset, Mass. In the spring of 1907 I returned to California where I resumed my position as assistant head master to my father. In 1910 I became head master of Belmont School but, because of the limited opportunities for the satisfactory education of my two daughters, I decided to give up my school work, and late in the year accepted a position with William A. Read and Company, bankers. I am now living at 25 Harvard Street, Brookline. I have three children, a son seven and one-half years old, and two daughters, aged six and four and one-half respectively. Member: University Club of San Francisco, Harvard Club of San Francisco, and a member of the governing boards of the Pacific Athletic Association (of the A. A. U.) and of the American Boy Scouts.

| Address | (home) 242 Washington St., Portland, Ore. (business) 505 Pearl St., New York City. |

After leaving college I worked two years and a half as a miner and millman trying to learn something about mining not taught even at Harvard. During that time I worked in most of the important mining camps of the West. In 1906 I took up mining journalism. I went on a seven months' trip for the Engineering and Mining Journal, through Wisconsin, Utah, and Nevada, the main purpose of the trip being to try to get some facts about the hot-air mining camps of Nevada. In 1907 I was assistant to the editor of the Mining and Scientific Press of San Francisco for a few months and then returned to the editorial force of the Engineering and Mining Journal again where I worked up to March, 1909, making a four months' trip to Mexico to write up the mining camps of the eastern part of that country. I then went to the Republic of Colombia on a mining trip which lasted three months. Upon coming back to this country I started a mining periodical called Mines and Methods, published in Salt Lake City. On this monthly I was chief cook and bottle washer for a year when I withdrew. The object of the paper was to show up the frauds that are being perpetrated upon the country in the name of mining. One of the most colossal of these, in my opinion, the Utah Copper Company was the chief object of attack as the representative of a new class of greatly over-estimated copper properties commonly called the "porphyrids". Since leaving Mines and Methods, I have been acting as special correspondent for the Engineering and Mining Journal until quite recently when I entered Columbia to do some studying while I did side work for the Engineering and Mining Journal.

After leaving college I taught school for two years, during the year 1901-1902 at Cushing Academy, Ashburnham, Mass., and during 1902-1903 at the Morristown School, Morristown, N. J. I had charge of the English in each of these schools. By the end of the two years I had made up my mind that I was not cut out for a pedagogue and in the fall of 1903 I went to the Harvard Law School. At the end of my second year in the law school I took the Massachusetts Bar examinations, was admitted to the bar in 1905, and have been practising law in Boston since. I have been for three years instructor in bankruptcy and Massachusetts practice in the Young Men's Christian Association Evening Law School in Boston. I'm glad I quit the school-teaching nevertheless.

I left college, after graduation, without the usual regrets, for I intended to return to study law. The regrets came a little later, when I had to ask certain obliging friends to box up and ship my chattels. I have since seen Cambridge only once. I spent four years in a manufacturing business in Milwaukee. Then I moved to St. Paul, my old home, where I am now working for a wholesale grocery house. Offices of profit and honor have not bothered me much, with the possible exception of a directorship of the University Settlement in Milwaukee. My "writings" have been only for home consumption. I prefer to read, and do read, what others have written. The Minnesota Boat Club furnishes as much diversion as my married life requires, although I also encourage the St. Paul Institute of Arts and Sciences, and of course the local Harvard Club, by belonging to them. In my bachelor days I was a member of the University Club of Milwaukee. I fail to find any learned societies in the above list. If I don't show up at the Decennial, it will probably be because the meeting of the Associated Harvard Clubs, which occurs in this town the same month, has knocked me out.

Immediately after graduation I entered the employ of the General Electric Company, at Lynn, Mass. I worked in the factory at first, and later entered the engineering office of the meter and instrument department. On January 1, 1908,

I left the General Electric Company, to go with the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, electrical division. This is a corporation interested in electric, gas and railway work in New Jersey. Recently the scheme of incorporation has been changed so the correct name of the electrical division is Public Service Electric Company. I am in the operating department of the company, chiefly interested in meters, lamps, and illuminating. Member: American Institute of Electrical Engineers, National Electric Light Association, Illuminating Engineering Society. With the National Electric Light Association I was a member of their "Meter Committee", in 1909, and chairman of the meter committee in 1910 and 1911. I was also appointed a member of the committee to investigate competitive illuminants, in 1911. I was also associate editor for the revision of the question box in 1910 and 1911. I have written reports of committees, and an article on "Practical Illuminating Engineering", presented before the New England Lighting Association at their annual convention in 1909. Member: Montclair Athletic Club, Roseville Athletic Club, Harvard Club of New Jersey, Harvard Engineering Club of New York.

| Business | Scientist and manufacturer. |
| Address | (home) 263 Hammond St., Chestnut Hill, Mass. |
| | (business) Geological Museum, Cambridge, Mass. |

My first work after leaving college was the learning of the financial end of the cotton business, in the office of the Baltic Mills Company, Providence. In 1904, after my marriage, I moved to Norwich, Conn., in order to be near the mill. While living there I spent six months in the mill, learning the technical part of the cotton business. I was a director in the Uncas National Bank for one year. I had always wished to go into geology, and in 1906 the opportunity offered itself while I was spending part of my vacation with Professor J. B. Woodworth, who was then working on the surface geology of New York state, near Saratoga. He offered me the position of curator of the Geological Museum, which I accepted. I moved to Chestnut Hill in 1907, and since that time I have spent half of my time in building up the geological collections of the museum, and the other half in attending to my duties as secretary of the Baltic Mills Company. In 1905 my wife and I went to Jamaica, West Indies; in 1904 we travelled in Europe. In 1908 we spent part of the summer in the Canadian Rockies, and part on Vancouver Island, B. C. Member: University Club of Providence, Harvard Club of New York, Harvard Union, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Boston Society of Natural History, National Conservation Association, Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests, American Academy of Political and Social Science. In December, 1909, I published in Science, a short account of some new fossils which I found at Rockland in the glacial clays,—"The Glacial Clays of the Maine Coast". In 1910 I published, with Dr. Laurence La Forge, of the United States Geological Survey, a paper on the "Glacial Origin of the Roxbury Conglomerate", known commonly as the Roxbury pudding stone. We have now proved this to be of glacial origin, for the first time. This is the first fossil of the glacial period discovered in the United States.

After leaving college in the sophomore year, I served for two years as principal of the high school at South Windsor, Conn. From there I returned to Harvard and studied for a year and a half, until money ran short. I then spent a year and a half as private tutor in the vicinity of Boston. In 1903 I left Boston for San Francisco, where I obtained a position as reporter on the Evening Post, and entered Hastings College of the Law. The earthquake and fire of 1906 found me still at work on the paper as commercial and assistant city editor, and just closing my law school course. I had in the meantime interested myself somewhat in California politics, organizing and carrying to a successful issue a campaign for increased license in San Francisco, and supporting a number of candidates in their city and state fights. After graduation from the law school I associated myself with the firm of Myrick and Deering, where I have been ever since. I am a constant contributor to newspapers, and financial and insurance journals, but none of the articles is worthy of special mention.

Immediately after graduation I spent two years on a trip around the world. After that I returned to Boston and went into a stock broker's office, where I remained about four years, one winter being spent in New York. My health was not very good so I passed the winter of 1907-1908 in California. On my return I took a position in a New York bond house, but was obliged to give it up in the spring of 1909, owing to poor health. The next year or so I spent principally in the country near Boston. The winter and spring of 1910 and 1911 I am passing in Algeria and France.

Immediately after graduation I went on a geological survey in northwestern Ontario for Professor H. L. Smyth. This survey lasted until fall. In the second term of 1902, after a severe illness, I took up work as assistant in metallurgy at Harvard, under Professor C. H. White. From July, 1902, to October, 1904, I continued in metallurgical work in the plants of the American Smelting and Refining Company, Pueblo, Colo., Aguascalientes, Mexico, and Leadville, Colo. Since then I have not been actively engaged in business, owing to ill-health.

The four years following graduation I spent in the study of medicine in the Harvard Medical School. Following this I served as a medical interne at the Massachusetts General Hospital until October, 1906. I then took a trip westward around the world. I spent a good deal of time in China and in the Philippines, where I worked in the laboratory of the Bureau of Science. I studied medicine in Vienna for nine months, and, after visiting Germany, France, and England, returned home in July, 1908. Since then I have been engaged in the practice and teaching of medicine. I held the position of alumni assistant in clinical medicine at the medical school until last spring, when I resigned the position in order to take up hospital work. Soon after that I was appointed assistant physician to out-patients at the Massachusetts General Hospital, and physician of the Harvard clinic at the Harvard Medical School. The following short articles have been published in medical journals: "Random Medical Notes of Travel", "Notes on Chronic Ulcers in the Philippines", "Three Cases of Sporadic Elephantiasis of the Lymphatic Type", and "Etiology of Elephantiasis". Member: Harvard Club of Boston, Travellers' Club, Tennis and Racquet Club, University Club.

After graduation from college, I attended the Harvard Law School for three years, graduating in 1904. During the summer of 1903 I worked in the law office of Warren and Garfield. Since September, 1904, I have been connected with the office of Ropes, Gray and Gorham, 60 State Street, Boston. During the last two years I have been a member of the firm. I have been for several years a member of the Republican Ward Committee of the eleventh ward of Boston, in which I live, and belong to the Massachusetts Club, a republican organization, and to the Republican Club of Massachusetts. On several occasions I have been a delegate to republican state and district conventions. I am a director of the Boston Children's Aid Society, and a member of the board of managers, and vice-president of the North Bennet Street Industrial School. I have travelled more or less on pleasure and business, through the west to the Pacific coast, in Europe, and in the West Indies, but I think there is nothing of particularly general interest in my travels. I have never written any books or articles. Member: Tennis and Racquet Club, Union Boat Club, City Club, Boston; Pokanoket Club, Dover, Mass., of which I am secretary; Harvard Club of Boston, and Harvard Club of New York.

In September, 1901, I entered Union Theological Seminary, New York City. Here I remained for three years. I graduated in two years, but took a third year of study as a post-graduate student. During my first year in the seminary I was in charge of a small union congregation at Pocantico Hills, N. Y. During my second year in the seminary I preached for one year on Sunday mornings at the Hall of Fame, New York University (University Heights). During my third year in New York City I lived at Union Settlement on the east side of New York. While here I was elected vice-president of the East Side Citizens' Union, and took part in the Low campaign as a "cart-tail" speaker, and as a watcher at the polls. I was also a member of the Ninth District Committee of the New York Associated Charities, and acted as a lecturer on "Social Topics" before a laboring men's club. I was also pastor at this time of the Chuch of the Son of Man,—an undenominational organization worshipping in the assembly hall of Union Settlement. In 1903, after a rather bitter fight by some of the more conservative brethren, I was ordained as a Presbyterian minister by the Presbytery of Brooklyn. In 1904 I was called to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church of Rahway, N. J. After continuing for nearly five years with this church, I was called to the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, Albany, N. Y., beginning my pastorate here on June 3, 1909.

After graduation I entered the employ of the Newport Trust Company, of which company I was elected treasurer in June, 1908. In politics I am a Republican, and have served on the Republican City Committee since 1903, most of the time as treasurer of the committee. I was elected to the school committee in 1904, serving six years, and declining a reëlection. In December, 1910, I ran for alderman from my ward, and was defeated. I served on the committee which drafted the new charter for the city of Newport. I was elected to the Representative Council for a three year term, at the first election under the new charter, in December, 1906. I was reëlected in 1909 for a second term of three years, and am now on the budget committee of the council. I was one of the founders of the Young Men's Republican Club of Newport, in 1904, and served as its secretary from 1904 to 1910. Since then I have been its president. I am also a member of the executive committee of the Young Men's Republican Club of Rhode Island. In January, 1909, I received appointment as aide-de-camp, with rank of colonel, on the personal staff of Governor Aram J. Pothier, of Rhode Island. I was reappointed in 1910 and 1911. I belong to St. Paul's Lodge No. 14, A. F. and A. M., Washington Commandery No. 4 of Newport, and to Rhode Island Consistory 320, of Providence. I am also a member of board of governors of the Miantonomi Club of Newport. Member: Newport Yacht Club, Channing Club, Sons of the Revolution, board of corporators of Newport Hospital, council of Newport Association for Relief and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

For two years after graduation I taught Latin and history at St. George's School, Newport, R. I. I entered Harvard Law School in the fall of 1903, receiving the degree of LL.B. in 1906. I was with Hurlburt, Jones and Cabot, 53 State Street, Boston, for one year, and with Dickson and Knowles for two years, three years of office work broken by an interesting trip to Alaska, and some mountain climbing in the Canadian Rockies. I had the pleasure of sharing some of these experiences with a Yale man who had been helped by a year in the Harvard Law School. I opened an office for the practice of law in January, 1910. As secretary of the National Conference on City Planning, I am now making a study of the legal problems involved in city planning. I have written a few articles on that subject.

Claude Snider Snively

Claude Snider Snively, youngest son of Jacob S. Snively and Margaret S. Snively, was born on Locust Grove Farm, near Greencastle, Pa., February 11, 1877. He attended the public school until his thirteenth year, when he entered the preparatory school at Carlisle, Pa., William K. Dare, principal. He entered Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., September 13, 1893, and graduated in June, 1897. He received the degree of A.B., 1897, and the degree of A.M., on the 9th of June, 1901. The year following his graduation he taught school in Cecil County High School, at Elkton, Md. In the year 1900 he entered the Harvard Law School, Cambridge, Mass.; on June 24, 1903, he graduated, at which time the degree of LL.B. was conferred on him; and on June 25, 1901, the degree of A.B. was given him by Harvard University. In October, 1903, he went to Duluth, Minn., and was a short time in the law office of Mr. Green, and later entered the law firm of Washburn, Bailey and Mitchell, 500 Lonsdale Building. He passed an examination at St. Paul by the state board of examiners of the state of Minnesota, on October 25, 1904, and was immediately admitted to practice in the courts of Minnesota. He died from a fall on February 16, 1905, at Duluth, Minn.

After graduation I entered the office of Bacon and Hill, architects, as draftsman. I remained there until May, 1905, except for a few months in 1903 spent travelling in England and France. In May, 1905, I formed a partnership with Ernst M. Parsons, Harvard, 1903, to practise architecture under the firm name of Somes and Parsons. Member: University Club, Boston Society of Architects, Boston Architectural Club.

The three years following graduation were spent in the Philadelphia Divinity School of the Protestant Episcopal Church. In June, 1904, I was ordained deacon, and remained in that office for the canonical year, serving as assistant minister at the Church of St. Luke and the Epiphany, Philadelphia. That same month I was married, and I have lived happily ever after. Then I served another year, in full orders, in the same position. Since August, 1906, I have been vicar of Epiphany Chapel. This is the only office of profit, honor or trust I have held, but there has been more than a little of all three. The bishop of the diocese has honored me by appointing me one of his examining chaplains, and I have for several years been examiner in Hebrew at the Philadelphia Divinity School. Member: Union League, Monday Evening Club (an organization of the junior clergy, twenty-five in number). I have prudently refrained from writing books or articles, but have written and delivered a goodly number of sermons. The work I have to do is far more interesting and enjoyable than I ever imagined it would be. During the summer of 1907 Mrs. Steinmetz and I spent our vacation in Europe, travelling with a pleasure and profit which do not decrease as the interval lengthens. We spent most of the time in Germany, Belgium, and Holland. Then we crossed to London and went down through Devonshire. Our next trip will probably not occur until the children are older.

After graduation from the Harvard Law School I returned to Milwaukee, and took the Wisconsin Bar examinations. I was admitted to the bar in the summer of 1904. In the fall of 1904 I went abroad for one year, studying for one semester each at the Universities of Paris and Berlin. I began to practise law in the fall of 1905, independently, and at my present business address. From 1908 to 1910 I was a member of the Milwaukee Common Council, as alderman from the first ward of the city. At that time I was also (by appointment of the mayor) a member of the board of trustees of the Johnson Emergency Hospital of Milwaukee (municipal). On November 8, 1910, I was elected to the Assembly (lower house of the State Legislature of Wisconsin) for two years, from the First Assembly District of Milwaukee County. In politics my affiliations are with the Republican party. Member: Milwaukee Athletic Club, University Club of Milwaukee.

In September, 1901 I entered the Rochester, N.Y., Theological Seminary, graduating in May, 1904. Besides myself, the following members of the class of 1901, Harvard, were members of my class at Rochester: Chamberlin, Frost, Howe, McAlpine, and Minard. I was ordained a Baptist minister, June 26, 1905, at Breckenridge, Minn. I have held pastorates at Breckenridge, Minn., Granite Falls, Minn., Atlanta, Ill., and Sewickley, Pa. My work with the boys at industry affords an interesting opportunity for working at a variety of life's problems. My summers for many years have been spent in the regions of the Lake of Bays, and Algonquin Park, Ontario, Canada. I like the woods. I am directing the Long Trail Camp for Boys. I have written a few papers for ministers' conferences, usually on sociological problems. Greetings to the members of 1901.

After graduation I joined the Norwich (Conn.) team, and played in the league for the summer baseball season. In the fall I accepted a position as instructor at Bordentown Military Academy, Bordentown, N. J. During the following vacation I played in the Maine League, at Rockland. The next winter I taught at Powder Point School, Duxbury, Mass. I played on the Connecticut League the following summer, and returned to the Powder Point School in the fall. I played in the Northern League, at Montpelier, Vt., the following vacation. In September, 1904, I accepted a position with the National Biscuit Company, of New York. I travelled in New Hampshire until May, 1906, when I was sent to Concord, N. H., as sales agent, to open a branch office. In the fall of 1908 I was sent to Fall River, Mass., as agent for the company. The next spring I was recalled to Concord to build up business which had fallen off. In September, 1910, I was sent to Gloucester, Mass., as sales manager. In the summer of 1906 I travelled in Prince Edward Island and the Provinces. Member: Beaver Meadow Golf Club, Concord, N. H., where I have won five cups. I won the third division cup at the state tournament held at Manchester, N. H., September 5, 6, and 7, 1910. I was the winner, also, of a cup offered by our company for general efficiency in sales and agency work during 1910.

On September 6, 1901, I left Boston, with the second party of Harvard teachers, for the Philippine Islands. I was assigned to Goa, where I taught until June, 1905. While teaching I made a study of several business ventures, and decided to take up the hemp business, so I bought three plantations, and am now engaged in hemp raising. In 1906 I visited China and Japan on my way to the United States, and returned to the Philippines in the autumn of the same year. At present I am under temporary appointment with the Bureau of Agriculture, Philippine Islands, as livestock inspector, in charge of the three provinces of Ambos Camarines, Albay, and Sorsogon, with temporary headquarters at Nueva Caceres, Ambos Camarines.

Louis Albert Stillings

Louis Albert Stillings was born in Boston, Mass., on March 10, 1878. He was the son of Oscar L. and Evelyn M. Stillings. He prepared for college at the Boston Latin School, and entered Harvard College in the fall of 1897, graduating with the degree of A.B. in 1901. In his sophomore year he played centre on his class football team, and in his junior year was a member of the 'Varsity second eleven. He rowed on one of the Weld Boat Club's freshman crews. After leaving college he engaged in the publishing business in Boston, Mass. Later he became a special agent for the American Tobacco Company, which position he held at the time of his death. He married Bertha Thomas on July 1, 1901, and had one daughter, Evelyn, born October 7, 1902. He died September 21, 1907.

From 1900 to 1902 I was city clerk of the city of Norwich, Conn. For nine years I have been a member of the Town Board of Education, and was acting school visitor from 1906 to 1907. I have been nominated for office on the Democratic ticket six different times and never defeated. Although the city and town are of a Republican majority, I hold the record for the highest majority ever given a city clerk on either ticket. In May, 1910, I was appointed by the mayor and Court of Common Council (Republican) a member of the board of gas and electric commissioners of the city of Norwich for a term of three years. This commission is comprised of three members, and operates the municipal gas and electric plant of the city of Norwich. I have been secretary of the Arcanum Club for the last three years. This is the leading social club of this city, with a membership of 215. For seven years I was teller of the Merchants National Bank of Norwich. Since 1908 I have been assistant cashier of the bank.

After graduation I was for about a year an assistant at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, doing chemical research work, under Dr. W. R. Whitney. A paper by Dr. Whitney and myself on the work done at that time was published in the Journal of the American Chemical Society, March, 1907. From 1902 to 1904 I was assistant chemist at the chemical laboratory of the United States Naval Torpedo Station, Newport, R. I. From this position I was appointed by examination a sub-inspector of powder, and detailed to the Laflin and Rand Powder Company, Haskell, N. J. Later I was for about a year an assistant chemist at the Massachusetts State Board of Health, and then for two years assistant ballistic engineer at the equipmental station of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Powder Company, Wilmington, Del. I have been in Washington for about a year, where in addition to my position as an examiner in the patent office, I am also a student at the George Washington University Law School, from which I expect to receive my LL.B. in 1913.

| Business | Mining engineer. |
| Address | (permanent) P. O. Box 27, Boston, Mass. |
| | (business) Ames, Colo. |

From September, 1901, to May, 1903, I acquired business experience and became manager of the Hospital Sheeting Company. From May to December, 1903, I reviewed the chemistry, geology, and metallurgy which I had at Harvard, and studied mining. In December, 1903, I went to Mexico and obtained a position with the Almoloya Mining Company. In two years I worked up to the position of assistant manager. After four months I resigned, to acquire more experience in other branches of mining. From April to July, 1906, I was engaged in lead smelting, with the Torreon Smelting Company, at Torreon, Coah., Mexico. Then I acquired some experience in chlorination of gold ores and the hypo sulphite lixiviation of silver ores, with the San Luis Mining Company, at Gabriel, Durango, Mexico. For the next four months I was acquiring experience in cyaniding gold and silver ores, with the Mexico Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, at Guanaceyi, Durango, Mexico. From January to May, 1907, I was with the Cananea Consolidated Copper Company, at Canana Sonora, Mexico. From May, 1907, to December, 1908, I sampled mines, tested ores, and made reports on properties in California, Arizona, and Nevada, with other engineers, with Los Angeles, Calif., as headquarters. From April to October, 1909, I was connected with Mr. E. B. Treat's tutoring school, as a tutor in physics, chemistry, botany, geology, and mathematics. I was also with the same school from April to June, 1910. From December, 1908, to April, 1909, and from October, 1909, to April, 1910, I studied electricity, in Boston, with a view to its application to mining and milling. In August, 1910, I joined the Telluride Power Company, at Telluride, Colo. On December 1, 1910, I was given charge of their plants at Ames and Ilium, Colo. While in Mexico I was special correspondent for the Mining World, of Chicago, the Mining and Scientific Press, of San Francisco, and the Los Angeles Mining Review, of Los Angeles. I also contributed short stories to numerous magazines, under the name of Arthur Lawrence. To the Bulletin of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, of which society I am a member, I have contributed two articles: "Chlorination of Gold Ores, Laboratory Tests", 1907; "Lixiviation of Low Grade Copper Ores", February, 1908. I have competed in swimming races, of two to five miles, almost every year since leaving college. On Lake Bomoseen, near Rutland, Vt., in July, 1910, I made the state record for nine miles in swimming, five hours and fifty-six minutes. I have also played baseball on various teams. In the fall of 1910 I played shortstop, for three months, for the Telluride city team.

| Business | Financial writer. |
| Address | (home) 83 Mt. Vernon St., Melrose, Mass.(business) 53 State St., Boston, Mass. |

I joined the class of 1901 in the junior year. For five years after graduation I spent the principal part of my time studying finance and financial statistics, working meanwhile at such occupations as I could find, to support myself and family. Early in 1907 I secured a position as one of the editors of the Statist, a financial paper then published in Boston. My work for this paper was to write one column each day on some topic of general interest to the financial community, and another column discussing the outlook for the stock and bond markets. In February, 1908, however, I became associated with Wrenn Brothers and Company, members of the New York, Boston, and Chicago stock exchanges, and I have since spent the principal part of my time writing for them analyses of the values of various securities, as well as financial circulars. I have written also an article in the Outlook, entitled, "The New York Stock Exchange and How to Improve it"; an article for the Atlantic Monthly upon "John Dutton's Finances", discussing the high cost of living; and another article for the same magazine upon "The American Debt Habit", discussing the great increase in general indebtedness. Besides these, I have written various articles of a technical sort upon financial subjects, for Moody's Magazine, the Bankers' Magazine, the Wall Street Journal, and other financial publications.

| Children | Barbara Swift, Feb. 28, 1910. |
| Business | Physician (nerve specialist). |
| Address | 110 Bay State Road, Boston, Mass. |

In 1907 I received an M.D. from the Harvard Medical School. Including previous hospital service, I completed one year in out-patient work, and one year as house-officer at Long Island Hospital, Boston. During 1908-1909, I was assistant to Professor Oppenheim, Berlin, Germany's most famous nerve specialist. During 1909-1910, I did laboratory work in the anatomy and pathology of the central nervous system; (1) in the laboratory of Professor Mendel under Dr. L. Jacobsohn and (2) at the Neurobiological Institute under Dr. Bielschowsky, Berlin. My wife, who was assistant medical examiner at Wellesley College, was also specializing in children's diseases. During this residence of almost three years in Germany I studied under fifteen or more nerve specialists, anatomy, pathology, and diagnosis in the field of mental and nervous diseases. While in Berlin I was president for a year of the Anglo-American Medical Association. I have travelled in Germany, Holland, Austria, Hungary, Switzerland, France, and England, and visited the hospitals, homes, or laboratories, of over seventy of Europe's best-known nerve specialists. I collected abroad over 8,000 microscopic sections of the central nervous system, many of which were presented by the noted men whom I visited. Since my return I have been appointed upon the staff of the Boston City Hospital in nervous diseases, and am teaching in neuropathology in the Tufts Medical School. In a literary way I am reporting my experiences abroad and am publishing several "arbeits" already almost finished under foreign workers. Member: Boston Athletic Association, Veteran Association of the First Corps Cadets, M. V. M., Sons of the American Revolution, American Medical Association, Boston Society of Psychiatry and Neurology, Fellow of the Massachusetts Medical Society. I have published, "The demonstration of a dog with both his temporal lobes extirpated" (read before the Society for Psychiatry and Neurology in Berlin, May 9, 1910). Neurologisches Centralblatt, July, 1910, No. 3, and "Raymond—His Life and Example" in the Journal for Abnormal Psychology, January—February, 1911. I have now in preparation a series of articles upon opportunities for foreign study in nervous diseases.

Olin Dyer Talbot

Olin Dyer Talbot was born in Longwood, Mass., on the 18th day of January, 1880, the second son of George N. and Florence D. Talbot. He prepared for college at the Brookline High School, from which he graduated in 1897. In school he was prominent in athletics, especially so in football, and was an enthusiastic member of the musical clubs, leader of the Mandolin Club. Olin entered Harvard with the class of 1901 and immediately came into prominence on the football field, where he played guard on the freshman eleven. During the winter he became president of the 1901 Mandolin Club, and in the spring was a member of the freshman crew squad, rowed in the race against Worcester Academy, and went to New London as substitute on the freshman crew. On July 15, 1898, as he was preparing to start for home after a hunting and fishing trip in Canada, he was accidentally shot and killed. Olin Talbot was a congenial, big-hearted fellow, who liked all, stood by his old friends and was loved by all. Full of energy and great strength, he delighted in all kinds of out-door sports. But his greatest delight was in music. Besides his enjoyment of playing with mandolin clubs, his friends and companions, especially the freshman crew and eleven, will always remember his "Let's have a little close harmony" and his shouts of joy over a good chord.

After graduation I entered the adjusting department of Johnson and Higgins, marine, liability and fire insurance brokers, 51 Wall Street, New York City. There I remained for six years. When I resigned my position I was head of their collecting department, a branch of their marine adjusting department. I then travelled extensively abroad, spending some time in England, Scotland, Wales, France, Switzerland, and Germany. In the fall of 1908 I became assistant treasurer and director in the Bitter Root Valley Orchards, Incorporated, owning one thousand acres of fruit land in the Bitter Root Valley, Mont. After having seen that company safely under way, I resigned as an officer and director, in order to occupy myself more fully with the development of my own one hundred and sixty acre fruit ranch in that valley. I now have 10,000 two-year-old apple trees of various varieties (chiefly the famous McIntosh Red), also plum and pear trees. I am in the valley from March 15 each year to November 15. Member: Hamilton Chamber of Commerce, Harvard Club of New York, Underwriters' Club of New York City. I have served on many horticultural committees, and have written several articles on various topics, as the result of study in the Department of Agriculture at Washington. By a study of several manufacturing industries I am doing what I can to introduce canneries, cider factories, and evaporators into the valley.

I am as yet too young and inexperienced to do justice to myself as an autobiographer. The following facts are blushingly submitted, doubts being reserved as to their possible interest to any one, and also as to the mental status of any one who gets excited about them, if such a one there be. In 1902 I was deputy superintendent of city schools, Manila, P.

I.; in 1903, acting superintendent of city schools, Manila, P. I.; and commissioner of the Supreme Court of the Philippine Islands. In 1905 I was special and staff correspondent for the World's Work, and in 1906 acting department editor of "What the World is Doing," Collier's. In 1907 I was corresponding editor for the Youth's Companion. I am now literary editor of Collier's Weekly. I have travelled in the Philippines, China, Japan, and (most foreign of all) the greater part of the United States. I have had published articles on the Philippines, in the Boston Transcript, in 1903 and 1904, and juvenile stories, short and serial, in the Youth's Companion. I wrote a series, "The Railroads and the Square Deal," for the World's Work, (a choice bit of muck-raking, till the handle broke). I have written also short stories for Collier's Weekly, Everybody's, the American Magazine, and the Cosmopolitan, the Delineator, Putnam's etc. In 1909 Little, Brown and Company, Boston, published my book "The Little Gods."

I left college in 1900, and took a year's leave of absence, graduating in 1901. By anticipating work, I entered the medical school of Boston University with the sophomore class, and received the degree of M.D. in 1903. I was interne in the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital, Boston, for two years, and was then appointed assistant visiting surgeon to the same institution. I am now lecturing on diagnosis in Boston University Medical School, in addition to my other work. I am also in the private practice of medicine in Cambridge, with surgery as a specialty.

| Business Address | Teacher. 821 North Center St., Reno, Nev. |

I joined the class of 1901 in the junior year. In 1902 I accepted a position as instructor in Latin and history in the high school of Boise, Idaho, where I remained for three years. I resigned this position in June, 1905, to accept the chair of Latin and history in the State Normal School, Albion, Idaho. From 1906 to 1908 I held the chair of Latin in the same institution. During my service in the normal school, I helped organize the Idaho Scholastic League, which is still doing an important work in furthering athletic and literary interests in the secondary schools of the state. I served as president of the league until my resignation from the faculty of the normal school. During the years 1907 to 1909 I was lecturer in history in the Idaho State Summer School. I was also a candidate on the Democratic ticket of Corsia County for the Idaho State Senate, but met defeat, with the entire ticket. In 1909 I accepted an instructorship in Latin and Greek in the University of Nevada. I am at present associate professor in the university, and principal of the Nevada University High School. In 1910 I was for five months acting pastor of the First Baptist Church of Reno, doing this work in addition to my regular university duties. Member: American Philological Association of the Pacific Coast. During the past five years I have lectured and given public addresses upon various occasions, but, as yet, have not "broken into print."

The "connected narrative" of my life since leaving college I wrote out with some enthusiasm, for I felt like one who, for the first time, has been approached by the editors of "Who's Who?" My autobiography, however, proved so insufferably dull even to myself, that on a second reading I consigned it to the wastebasket. I may have later some pretty respectable and stirring reminiscences, but all that I shall inflict now are a few facts. Since taking my A.M. in 1902, I have taught in the Newton High School and in the Newton Technical High School, in Newtonville, Mass. The summer of 1902 I spent in France and England. In 1908 I edited Cooper's "Spy" for the Macmillan Company, and in 1910 selections from "Bracebridge Hall" for Houghton, Mifflin's Riverside Literature Series. For three years, I have been treasurer of the New England Association of Teachers of English. Avocations: reading, tramping, and "hens". I find also that I am still limber enough each spring to play baseball and dig up my garden.

Since leaving college, I have worked steadily at the law. My chief form of exercise has been squash, at the Harvard Club, in winter, and golf in summer. I did, however, spend one summer vacation in Europe, practically all the time being used in seeing England and Scotland pretty thoroughly, meeting many people of course, and having a number of amusing experiences. One particularly interesting place visited off the "beaten-path" was St. Cuthbert's Holy Isle in the North Sea, reached by a three-mile drive through the water and over the level sands at low tide. Looking back, no particular incident or event seems to loom above the every day events of the law, save my marriage, and my daughter's birth! She is now about three years old, and a great institution; in fact, the "dividends" to her mother and myself are constantly increasing.

I left Harvard for Wesleyan in 1898, and graduated from Wesleyan in 1900. Then I entered Princeton Seminary and University, but transferred to Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University in 1901. I graduated from Union Theological Seminary in 1903, and from Columbia the same year. Then I took a little mission church in Montclair, and at the same time attended the graduate department of New York University. I received the degree of Ph.D. in 1906. My thesis, "The Young Malefactor", was afterwards expanded and published with an introduction by Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver. I visited prisons in England, France, Holland, Germany, Italy, and Spain. I have published an article in The Independent—"The Ministerial Gauntlet" and several stories in Forest and Stream. I am prison inspector for the Montclair Civic Association. In 1910 I was president of the Ministers' Association of Montclair. In September, 1909, I was called to Watchung Avenue Congregational Church in the same town. I have lectured on the criminal in many cities of eastern United States. I still have a love for old Harvard and good old Dean Briggs.

I spent the summer of 1901 at work for C. A. Adams, of Harvard Department of Electrical Engineering, and the school session 1901-1902 in the Harvard Graduate School. I received the degree of A.M. from Harvard in 1902. I worked for Professor Adams again during the summer of 1902, and became instructor in chemistry in the Manual Training School of Washington University, St. Louis, in the fall of 1902. I remained in that position five years, studying during one or two summers in the University of Chicago. In 1907 I was appointed by the Woman's Board of Home Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, principal of their school at Brevard, N. C., where I still flourish. I have done some writing on educational subjects for periodicals.

| Business | Civil engineer. |
| Address | Culebra, Canal Zone. |

From June, 1901, to June, 1906, I was with J. R. Worcester, Boston, Mass., as draughtsman, designing steel and reinforced concrete structures of various kinds. During the summer of 1903 and the spring of 1904 I was loaned to Professor I. N. Hollis, as principal inspector on the construction of the Harvard Stadium. I also designed certain portions under Professor L. J. Johnson. In the summer of 1904, during annual vacation, I taught at the Harvard Engineering Summer School, Squam Lake, N. H. In private practice, outside of working hours, I designed a reinforced concrete swimming pool for the town of Weston, Mass., and designed and built a frame house with concrete stucco exterior. In June, 1906, I resigned from J. R. Worcester, to become engineer for the Dominion Engineering and Construction Company, Limited, Montreal, Canada, having charge of all designs for numerous reinforced concrete factories, mill buildings, etc., to the value of about $1,250,000. I resigned in February, 1907, and accepted a position as assistant engineer on design of steel gates for the Panama Canal, Isthmian Canal Commission, Washington, D. C. In June, 1907, I was transferred to Culebra, C. Z., as designing engineering for concrete locks, including regulating valves, Isthmian Canal Commission, which position I still hold. I have visited Canada, the Island of Jamaica, and the republic of Panama. I have had the following articles published: "Discussion of Article on use of Concrete Block", "Construction in Earthquake Countries", "Discussion of article on Yield Point and Elastic Limit", article describing locks of Panama Canal, article condemning critics of adopted project for the Panama canal, article on vanadium steel. Member: Engineers' Club of Montreal, Culebra Pistol Club, Association of Harvard Engineers, Boston Society of Civil Engineers, American Society of Civil Engineers, American Society for Testing Materials, International Association for Testing Materials, National Association of Cement Users, American Association for the Advancement of Science, National Geographic Society, Lawrence Scientific School Association, Red Cross Society, Young Men's Christian Association, United States Revolver Association.

With his nose to the grindstone, your humble servant has plodded wearily along in the glass business, still working for the same employers, and holding in reserve enough holidays to journey respectively to Cambridge and New Haven for each gridiron contest. For special services rendered, I received the title of "Driver of the Water Wagon". Notwithstanding the prize received at the sexennial reunion, "First Prize for Best Package", which I still maintain was a false award, and in the former, not latter, capacity, I took a trip through the West Indies and Panama, to inspect the great water way. Again, in 1908, I spent my honeymoon on a trip through Jamaica. Tonight I have just begun to realize how near a "dead one" I have become, as a letter just received from Ben Clark tells me I have only a bare chance of getting into print and avoiding the title of "the late Underwood".

After a year in the Harvard Graduate School, I went abroad as Rogers Travelling Fellow, and spent two years in study at Oxford, Cambridge, London, and Paris, and in somewhat extensive travel through Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, and France. Returning to Cambridge, I became, in 1904, assistant in history, a position I held for three years, during the first of which I received my doctor's degree, and during the two latter pursued research and literary work. In 1907 I was appointed instructor in American history at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., and in 1910 was promoted to assistant professor of history. The summer of 1909 I spent abroad in further research. I have published articles in the English Historical Review, the American Historical Review, the (English) Church Quarterly Review, and the Nation. I have also published two books: "The Presbyterian Movement in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth", and "The Reconstruction of the English Church". Member: American Historical Association, Missouri Historical Society, executive committee of the Missouri Society of Teachers of History and Government. There is only one item of "information" not provided for: I wrote my own wedding march, and it was played!

For three years after graduation, I was employed by the S. B. Dibble Lumber Company, of North Adams, Mass. After that I accepted a position in the office of the Washington Mills plant of the American Woolen Company, at Lawrence, where I remained six years. In January, 1910, I was transferred from Lawrence to the office of the manufacturing secretary of the same company, at Boston. In May, 1910, I changed my residence from Lawrence to Lexington. Outside of business, my activities have been in church work, both in music and Sunday school, and in masonic bodies. I have sung in a church quartet, and have directed a chorus choir of thirty voices. For three years I was superintendent of the Lawrence Street Church Sunday School. Member: North Essex Congregational Club, Harvard Club of Lawrence, Greylock Lodge, A. F. and A. M., Composite Chapter, R. A. M. of North Adams, Lawrence Council, R. and S. M., Bethany Commandery, K. T., of Lawrence, Aleppo Temple of Shriners, Boston. I played in the band connected with Lawrence Council, when twenty-four men organized and maintained a full brass band.

I left college to enter the Harvard Medical School, from which I graduated in 1903. In a few months I was appointed special interne to the Worcester Hospital, and in another four months passed a successful examination for the house staff. At the end of two years' medical and surgical training in this institution, I was elected assistant superintendant and first assistant resident physician, in which capacity I served for another two years. I left Worcester to accept a better position, as first assistant resident physician at the Hartford Retreat, which position I still fill. Except for an unusually interesting and happy trip which my brother (a graduate of the Harvard Law School) and I took last winter in Puerto Rico, I have been a stay-at-home and plodder.

Immediately after Commencement I went to Cohasset, where I spent the summer on the water, then sailed for Europe in October, taking the southern route to Genoa. A rainbow thrown across the Pillars of Hercules as the steamer entered the Mediterranean gave true prophecy of the year which was to follow. Six months among the mountains of the Italian Tyrol, a month in Italy, four months in Switzerland, two weeks in the Schwarzwald, and two weeks in Germany, taught me new ideals of beauty that books had not even suggested. On my return, in October, 1902, I found waiting for me a job as assistant instructor of chemistry at the Massachusetts Intitute of Technology, which allowed me sufficient free time to do a little cross-country running with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology team, and to help Mr. Garcelon coach the Harvard hurdlers in 1903 and 1904. Just before graduation I was offered, and accepted, a place at the Newport Torpedo Station, but resigned to go abroad. Consequently, when a chance to go to Indian Head turned up, in June, 1905, I seized the opportunity, and soon found myself in Maryland, thirty miles down the Potomac from Washington. Indian Head, be it noted, is the naval proving ground and smokeless powder factory, and the headquarters of navy powder. Here, after five months, I took an examination for the position of assistant chief chemist, landing second in a field of seven. During the next year and a half the laboratorians, all college men, organized a tennis club, and a baseball team, that beat the team of the Annapolis senior class, which included five varsity men. In 1907, in competitive examination, I won the appointment as chief chemist for the navy in the Philippines, but resigned immediately after, owing to my father's poor health at the time, and to the fact that I was offered a place with the Solvay Process Company. In October, then, I gladly laid down the duties of treasurer of the Indian Head Mutual Building and Loan Association, an infant corporation which had thriven exceedingly, and cost me much midnight oil; and within the month had assumed the uniform of Troop D, National Guard of New York, and duties equally innocent of remuneration, while even more exacting in time and effort. As sergeant now, and chairman of the small arms committee, it is my hope to win first place in the state, a quest not altogether hopeless, as we are now third, and have won first prize, Headquarters Division. The military end of it is of course my hobby. My business life is no less interesting; but to the rest of the world rough riding sounds much more intelligible than figures on cost and efficiency. Of course there are problems here which try my ingenuity, and yield rich reward in scientific satisfaction. Two of these researches I hope to publish some day, one of them being a subject abandoned as hopeless by two well-known professors. Of considerably greater general interest is a five months' trip to the Mojavi Desert last summer, in which my companion and I examined a property valued at a million dollars, twice being obliged to show superior force of arms to ward off attack by a lawless crowd, and once having the opportunity to save the lives of six claim jumpers (another party) and recover the body of a seventh, who had died out on the lake. It was a strange area, eight miles by twelve, of mud from four to twenty inches deep, and at a temperature of 160°F. One of the party had lain four hours face down in the road, air 120°F. in the shade, when we nearly ran over him in the machine. In the fall of 1901 I entered the employ of F. H. Prince and Company, bankers and brokers, Boston. I remained with this firm until January 1, 1906, when I entered the advertising business. I became advertising solicitor for the Columbiad, and at the present time am advertising manager of the publication. I have also corresponded regularly for the local papers. I served two years (1902 and 1903) in the Beverly city government, as a member of the Common Council, and have been a delegate to several Republican state and county conventions. I have written a number of sketches, and a comedy, "An Eye to Business", which was produced by an amateur company in Boston, in November, 1905. I have four children, two of whom are already in school, started for Harvard. Member: Boston City Club, Harvard Club of Boston, Boston Club of 1901, Civic Improvement League, of Beverly (commonly known as The Boosters' Club), and several fraternal societies.

After pursuing graduate studies in chemistry which led to my doctor's degree, in 1904, I continued a year in Cambridge as instructor. Then I was instructor in physical chemistry at the University of Pennsylvania for two years. As a more lucrative occupation than teaching I went into technical chemistry with the General Electric Company, in 1907, but left that concern the next year for a position with Uncle Sam in Washington, where I have been ever since. My work as chemist involves the analysis of rocks and ores for the United States Geological Survey, and the study of mineral and ore deposits. Incidentally I prepare a good many abstracts of geological papers for the American Chemical Society, to which I belong. The original articles which have appeared under my name in the scientific journals, from time to time, are upon special chemical topics which are not interesting to those not engaged in similar work. I do not appear to have held many offices of profit, though I trust some of honor, nor joined clubs other than scientific societies, and the Harvard Club of Washington, nor visited foreign countries, nor written any books, except note books.

I have been in the insurance business since leaving college, except for a few months prior to June 1, 1903, when I was with the Listman Mill Company, La Crosse, Wis. I have always been associated with the credit insurance department of the Ocean Accident and Guarantee Corporation, Limited, of London, in my insurance experience. After six years in Boston, I came to Minneapolis, in July, 1909, to be general agent for the northwest in the credit insurance department, and to manage the accident and health departments, for Hood and Penney, general agents for the same company.

For the first two years after graduation I studied electrical engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where I was elected president of the Electrical Engineers' Society for the senior year, and was selected by the faculty to read a thesis Commencement Day. My first job was in a steel mill of the National Tube Company, at Wheeling, W. Va., where I looked after making the "mix" for the converters. After a year of this I went with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, first on the apprenticeship course, and then in the construction, and the sales departments at East Pittsburg. During this period of two years I wrote for the Electric Journal an article on the "Effect of Variations in the Supply Circuit on the Operation of Induction Motors", also an article on the "Calculation of Feeder Circuits for Street Railways". I then took a position with the Pittsburg Railways Company, as assistant electrician, and I now hold the title of electrical engineer for this company. I have been an associate member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers for a number of years.

After graduating from college I spent four years at the Harvard Medical School, and received the degree of M.D. in 1905. In the summer of 1902 I travelled more or less extensively in England and on the Continent. While serving as house-officer at the Massachusetts General Hospital, I took a trip to Jamaica (March, 1907). The following summer was spent in England, the Channel Islands, and Munich, at which place I took up the study of German and medicine, going to Vienna to continue the medical studies that winter. Later I went to the Riviera and Italy, returning home by way of Germany, France, Holland, and England. A little over a year ago I opened an office for the practice of medicine at 86 Bay State Road, Boston. I have been appointed district physician, and am assisting in a course at Tufts.

Immediately after graduation I sailed for Europe. After a week in Paris, I went to Spain, where I spent three months, visiting many parts of that country. I took a trip from Gibraltar to Tangiers. Later I sailed to Plymouth, England, and spent some weeks in that country. I then returned to Boston, and for a short time worked for Eldredge Lewis and Company, a commission house for the sale of cotton goods, then for D. C. Heath and Company, publishers of school-books. I later worked for Parsons Brothers, of New York, exporters of paper. In 1906 I went to South America as their representative. I travelled by way of Panama, and visited Jamaica, Ecuador, Peru, Chile, and Argentina. I lived in Buenos Aires for over a year, and returned to the United States in 1908, visiting Uruguay, Brazil, Madeira, Portugal, and England, en route. In 1909, I entered the employ of the George W. Wheelwright Paper Company, and I am now assistant to the agent at the Hardwick Mill. The mill is situated in the town of Hardwick, Worcester County, Mass., but the village and post office are called Wheelwright. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Union Club of Boston.

Since the last report with which I burdened the class secretary, I have continued to practise law, being now, as then, associated with Borden, Palfrey, Bradlee, and Twombly, with an occasional divorce or "deceased" case of my own. The legal profession in so thickly a lawyer-populated community as the Hub is a slow and arduous row to hoe, but by means of steady application, I have thus far successfully eluded my creditors, and kept above the sod at the same time, and accordingly feel that the now beforementioned will not only be slow, but also sure. I have held no offices of profit or honor, unless the offices of justice of the peace and notary public may be so termed, nor am I the writer of learned books, nor the member of learned societies. Rather am I a plain and quiet everyday manner of man, the possible exception being my colossal height, to wit, six feet six.

After graduation I entered the employ of the Babcock and Wilcox Company, as draughtsman, leaving them in the spring of 1903 to become purser of a steamboat with the New Bedford, Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket Steamboat Company. During the winter of 1903-1904 I was in the employ of the W. and A. Fletcher Company, of Hoboken, N. J., erecting engines in the steamers "Old Colony" and "J. T. Morse". Later in 1904 I had similar work on the steamer "Providence", for the Fore River Shipbuilding Company. In the spring of 1905 I went to Ponce, Porto Rico, for Stone and Webster, where I took the position of chief engineer in the Ponce Railway and Light Company, and in 1907 I became manager of the same company. In July, 1909, I entered the employ of the Minneapolis General Electric Company (another Stone and Webster property), as superintendent of manufacture, which position I now hold.

After graduating from Harvard, I studied at the Cambridge Episcopal Theological School. At the end of July, 1902, I went to Moscow, Idaho, as a missionary of the Episcopal Church, having been ordained deacon, in St. John's Chapel, Cambridge, on June 13. I resided in Moscow for two years and a half, building up the small congregation, and buying and improving the church property. There I saw much of the western life in agricultural districts, and had many experiences and adventures in the Palouse and the Snake River country. These adventures were usually in connection with the attempt to supply church services to towns and districts where there were none. In January, 1905, I took charge of the churches at Grant's Pass and Medford, Ore., living in Grant's Pass. At the same time I took up a homestead near Leland, Josephine County, and a timber claim near Canyonville, Douglas County. I spent my holidays on the homestead, enjoying the wild woods life, and the building of log cabins and other improvements on the claim. I did not prove up on the homestead, but did secure title to the timber claim. In addition to my regular work, I held services in the schoolhouses in various villages and districts. In 1906-1907, I was for nine months associate rector of Trinity Church, Portland, Ore. Then I moved back to southern Oregon, making Medford my place of residence. The Episcopal churches at Ashland and Grant's Pass were then under my care, and I held services in many schoolhouses. I returned to Boston in November, 1908, and soon settled in Watertown, Mass., as rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, also taking charge of Emmanuel Mission, Braintree, Mass.

At the time of the class report in 1901 I was spending my senior year in the west, and was then in New Mexico. In the fall after graduation I returned to New Mexico, where I intended to take up ranching, but the death of my father, early in 1902, necessitated my returning to Boston, and to my original plan of studying medicine. After completing the regular course at the Harvard Medical School, in June, 1906, I spent a year as house-officer on the orthopedic service at the Carney Hospital, and six months as surgical house-officer at the Children's Hospital. The next year I did special work in the X-ray department of the Children's Hospital, and as assistant orthopedic surgeon at the Hospital for the Relief of Crippled and Deformed Children, Baltimore. Returning to Boston in December, 1908, I began practice at my home in Allston, and later the special practice of orthopedics in Boston. In February, 1909, I was appointed assistant, and in November, 1910, assistant orthopedic surgeon, at the Carney Hospital. Since February, 1910, I have been orthopedic assistant at the Children's Hospital. The following articles I have collaborated on: "Arthrodesis in Infantile Paralysis", "Fracture of the Tarsal Scaphoid", "Fracture of the Astragalus", "The Use of Oil in the Knee-joint", "The Use of Murphy's Flap Method in Ankylosed Joints", "Lipomatosis of the Legs", "Osteomyelites of the Scapula", "Transplantation of the Fibula in Osteomyelitis of the Tibia". Member: American Medical Association, Massachusetts Medical Society, Boston Orthopedic Club, Carney Hospital Alumni, Children's Hospital Alumni Club, Massachusetts Sons of the Revolution, Allston Golf Club, Boston City Club, several Masonic bodies (senior warden of Aberdour Lodge and worthy patron of Evangeline Chapter).

Shortly prior to graduation I became afflicted with tuberculosis. After going to various health resorts in this country, I was finally cured in Dr. Otto Walther's sanitarium in the Black Forest of Germany, early in the year 1904. Most of that year I spent travelling in the different countries of Europe,—returning to my home in Portland, Ore., late in the autumn. During the next three years I was in eastern Oregon, developing certain unimproved lands belonging to my father, and also a smaller tract of my own, and putting them under cultivation and irrigation. In the spring of 1908, the aforesaid lands being in such condition then that they could be left in charge of a manager, I became inspector of mortgage securities for certain Scotch companies in the business of investing money in farm loans in Oregon, Washington, and Idaho. I remained in this position two years, my work taking me all over these states. In July, 1910, I resigned this position, and entered the office of Williams, Wood and Linthicum, Portland, Ore., as a law student. My father is a member of this firm. Member: Harvard Club of Portland, Waverly Golf Club of Portland, American Historical Society.

My first position after graduation was with the Atlas Portland Cement Company, New York City. From there I went with the New York Mail and Express, in whose interest I travelled extensively in Canada and the southern states. Upon leaving the Mail and Express, I incorporated the Woodbury-Ayers Company, advertising agents. I sold out my interest after the first year, and took charge of the investment department of the firm of Swartwout and Appenzellar, bankers, New York City. Later I became manager of the street trading department of the banking firm of White and Company, leaving them to hold a similar position with the firm of A. H. Johnson and Company. Upon the dissolution of partnership, I took up the bond business on my own account, under the name of Woodbury and Company. During the summers Mrs. Woodbury and I have made several trips to Europe, spending some time coaching through England and Scotland, as well as on the continent. Other vacations have been spent in the Adirondacks, or in visiting places in the southern part of the United States. Member: Harvard Club of New York.

During the summer of 1901, after competitive examination, I took the position of assistant geologist with the United States Geological Survey. In the course of my duties, I visited many of the important mining districts east of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, and completed detailed geologic studies of several areas which were published by the United States Geological Department as scientific reports on economic geology. This work necessitated more or less familiarity with the mining laws of the United States, and led me to complete the work for the degree of LL.B. at George Washington University. After nearly a year's experience in the legal examination of mining claims against the government, at the General Land Office, I accepted the position of attorney in the office of the solicitor for the Department of State, where I am now engaged. Member: Geological Society of Washington, American Society of International Law. In the journal of the latter society I have published articles and discussions on legal topics.

In the summer of 1902 I went into the office of John H Wrenn and Company, brokers, Chicago. I had typhoid fever in the winter of 1902-1903, then went to California, and later in the spring to Honolulu, visiting the Hawaiian Islands. In the summer of 1903 I went to Europe, and studied music, first at Dresden, and later at Prague. My health broke down and I returned to Chicago in 1906. Later I resumed business in the office of J. H. Wrenn and Company. In the summer of 1907 I was forced to give up this work, owing to poor health. I came to California in January, 1908, and have been living in Los Angeles ever since, where I have enjoyed a long period of good health. Things move fast here. The sensational growth of this city is well known. It has now about 325,000 inhabitants, and will have 1,000,000 in ten years. It prints the largest newspaper in the whole world. We are strongly opposed to the "closed shop". We boast of the finest climate on earth, and we have it, but probably you know all this. I hardly expect to join in the Decennial festivities at Cambridge this summer.

The year after graduation I spent with the Boston Book Company, but finally concluding that I wished to teach, I gave up my business position. In the fall of 1902 I entered the Harvard Graduate School, to take up the study of economics. I received my doctor's degree in 1906, in the meanwhile having served during three years as assistant instructor and teaching fellow in the department of economics. During the year 1906-1907 I taught at Cornell University, and then accepted a call to the University of Chicago, where I am now located, having since been promoted to the rank of assistant professor. At the Commencement of 1906 I was chosen marshal of the candidates for the Ph.D. degree. I spent the summer of 1907 travelling in Europe with two other Harvard men. In 1908 I was awarded the David A. Wells Prize at Harvard, for a monograph entitled "Wool-Growing and the Tariff", which has since been published in book form for the University as one of the series of Harvard Economic Studies. I am an editor of the Journal of Political Economy. Member: American Economic Association, University Club of Chicago, Harvard Club of Chicago, Quadrangle Club.

After leaving college, I went to the Philippine Islands as a teacher. I taught school for two years and then was in the importing trade for four years, occupying positions of bookkeeper, cashier, and manager for the American Commercial Company, and for M. J. Connell. I went to the Philippines by way of the Hawaiian Islands and the Pacific, and returned, in 1907, via Hongkong, Singapore, Colombo, Suez, Naples, Gibraltar, Antwerp, and Bremen. I stayed some time in Germany and England. Then I located in New York, with William E. Peck and Company, exporters, and made a specialty of South American trade. I left them in 1909, after two years' service, and since that time I have been on the road as salesman for William H. Wye and Company, sweater manufacturers. I cover New England, New York, and Ohio.

Arthur Dickinson Wyman

Arthur Dickinson Wyman was born November 1, 1878, at Cambridgeport, Mass., the son of Charles Francis Wyman and Helen Knight Bullard. He prepared for college at the Cambridge Latin School. He entered Harvard College in the fall of 1897 and graduated in 1901 with the degree of A.B. During his junior year he held a Bigelow Scholarship and in his senior year a Harvard College Scholarship. He took an active part in the religious life of the University, being the chairman of the Foreign Mission Committee for both the Young Men's Christian Association and the Cambridge Social Union. He was a member of the Whist Club, secretary and treasurer of the Cambridge Latin School Club and a teacher at the Social Union. After receiving his degree he continued his studies in the Graduate School, receiving the degree of A.M. He for three years assisted in the engineering department of the summer field work at Squam Lake, and in the winter was assistant instructor in chemistry. Of rugged physique, he enjoyed every form of sport both for the pleasure of it and the stimulus it gave to new efforts. On his death, September 24, 1904, at Cambridge, the Division of Chemistry of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences passed a resolution which concluded as follows: "All who knew him deeply deplore the loss of a young man of such bright promise."

After graduation I travelled for five years as salesman for Frank L. Young and Kimball, of Boston. For two years, beginning in 1906, I was manager of their Philadelphia branch. In 1908 I resigned to take a position as intercollegiate editor and New York advertising manager of the Baseball Magazine. I was elected director and advertising manager in the fall of 1909, and resigned in the summer of 1910. I travelled in Europe during the summer and fall of 1910. I organized the Curtis-Young Company, Incorporated, in November, 1910, to handle Amplex automobiles in the state of Rhode Island. At present I am president and director in that corporation. I am still intercollegiate editor of the Baseball Magazine.
